GRAND JURY VOTES TWO INDICTMENTS

Sidener Begins New Inquiry, Relating to Original Assessment Figures on Some Property.

A 50-50 split of the taxes saved to the taxpayer by fraudulent reduction of the recorded assessment was the basis on which William E. Caulfield Jr. did business, according to information given to the Circuit Attorney by Edmond A. O'Donnell.

O'Donnell is the third taxpayer to take an immunity bath by appearing before the grand jury, and Caulfield, a clerk in the City Assessor's office, is the second man in that office to be indicted in the assessment-reduction scandal. Caulfield was arrested, following the voting of indictments yesterday afternoon, charging him with bribery and with alteration of a record, the latter crime being a form of forgery in the third degree. He gave $5000 bond.

Circuit Attorney Sidener today began a new line of inquiry, relating to the original assessment figures on some property, with a view to determining whether, in all cases, property has been originally assessed at the amount which the District Assessors considered it to be worth. Any reduction, made for a consideration, which would affect the original assessment and would not appear in the records, would differ materially from the cruder methods of reduction by erasure, such as occurred in the cases in which Caulfield was indicted.

Son of State Senator.

Caulfield is the son of State Senator Caulfield, who, with others of young Caulfield's family connections, has been a recipient of assessment-reduction favors. Since the recent uncovering of the frauds, the tax balances due in the Caulfield cases have been paid.

O'Donnell, who lives at 6677 Washington avenue, was a wartime "buddy" of Caulfield, both having served in the same command. O'Donnell is vice president of the O'Donnell Mercantile Co., at 19 Valentine street, and looks after the taxes on the estate of his father, the late E. R. O'Donnell.

In 1922, O'Donnell has informed the Circuit Attorney, he went to the Assessor's office to complain that the assessment on the O'Donnell estate was too high. There he saw his recent "buddy," young Caulfield. He has told the Circuit Attorney that Caulfield said he could "fix it up" for him, but that the matter was handled on a business basis, and not one of friendship.

Alleged Arrangement.

The business arrangement reached was described by O'Donnell as a 50-50 one. As the O'Donnell assessments were reduced $40,000 in 1922, and $34,000 last year, the cut in taxes, at the tax rates prevailing in the two years, would have amounted to $1795.60, and a half-and-half split would have yielded $897.80, to the persons on the official ends of the transaction.

Circuit Attorney Sidener would not give exact figures as to O'Donnell's disclosures. He declared, however, that "O'Donnell certainly has the goods on young Caulfield."

"Does that mean that a check was given, instead of cash?" a Post-Dispatch reporter asked Sidener. The prosecutor would not make a definite reply to this question, but repeated that "the goods" would be available as evidence in the Caulfield case.

Caulfield was at his work in the Assessor's office when the indictments were voted, and a policeman found him there. He was taken to the Municipal Courts Building, and Sigmund Bass later appeared as his lawyer, and Ferd Warner as his bondsman. The bond arrangements were completed at Circuit Judge Falkenhainer's residence.

Declines to Comment.

The accused young man refused to say anything as to the charge against him. When the reduction frauds were first discovered a month ago, and Caulfield was asked about the irregularities affecting his family connections, he said he knew nothing about the matter, and pointed out that his work was in the draughting division of the office, and had no direct connection with the assessment

SENATOR SPENCER DEFENDANT IN A DELINQUENT TAX SUIT

Action Taken in County for Non-Payment of $4.72 on Kirkwood Property.

Senator Spencer is a defendant in one of a number of suits for real estate taxes on Kirkwood property, alleged to be delinquent and unpaid, which have been filed in Circuit Court at Clayton. The suit against the Senator charges that $4.72 taxes for 1921 on two lots in the "Avondale" district are unpaid.

Oscar E. Buder, lawyer and former member of the Election Board, is defendant in another suit, for $8.45 for taxes from 1918 to 1921, inclusive, on a lot in the same district.

The suits were filed at the relation of City Collector J. G. Hawken of Kirkwood.

CABLE, CHICAGO TO LONDON

First Message to Be Transmitted by Direct Service Monday.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—A direct cable service between Chicago and London will be opened Monday by the Western Union, when a message from Mayor William E. Dever to the Lord Mayor of London will be filed, according to Herbert Brown, superintendent here.

Chicago will become the first inland cable terminal in the country, he said, a rotary regenerating repeater making possible the automatic transmission of ocean cable signals to land cables, instead of manual relaying as formerly done. The circuit will have a capacity of 100 messages an hour and transmitting time from London to Chicago will be five minutes, it was said.

KELLOGG STARTING FULL OF PEP

Is at Work at 9 and Takes Only an Hour for Lunch.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—Ambassador Kellogg's office hours are a shock to the diplomatic world and a source of mingled pride and grief to members of the American Embassy staff.

Mr. Kellogg is at his desk at 9 o'clock every morning. That is the source of pride. But he expects everyone else to be at their desks at the same time. That is the source of grief. Also the Ambassador looks with disfavor on the traditional luncheon hour of 12:45 until 3. He feels an hour by the clock is enough.

SINCLAIR TELLS OF $2,000,000 CREDIT OF HYVA CONCERN

Testifies Before Senate's Inquiry as to Transfer of Stock From Teapot Dome Operating Company.

100,000 SHARES FOR $3,000,000

Relates Sale of Block of Stock to H. P. Whitney for Securities That Brought $3,250,000.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Stock sales, transfers and exchanges which brought the Hyva Corporation a present bank credit balance of $2,000,000 were detailed to the Senate Public Lands Committee today by Harry F. Sinclair, oil promoter and lessee of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve.

Sinclair did not repeat the protest made on his last appearance against being called upon to answer questions concerning the "private business affairs" of himself and his assistants.

He told of the transfer to the Hyva Corporation of 1,000,000 shares of the stock of the Mammoth Oil Co., organized to operate the Teapot Dome lease, and said that Hyva purchased outright from Mammoth 191,200 additional shares for $2,500,000. Hyva sold 10,000 shares for $3,000,000, he said, and 50,000 shares, with a block of Sinclair consolidated, to H. P. Whitney for securities that later were disposed of for $3,250,000.

"What sum remains to the credit of Hyva from these deals?" asked Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana.

"About $2,000,000," said the witness.

The price of the stock distributed to the 15 members of the Mammoth Oil Syndicate group averaged $17 a share, Sinclair said. He also analyzed the composition and holdings of the Selah Corporation, another of his subsidiaries. Then he was excused from the stand with the assurance from the members of the committee that his return probably would not be required.

Surveyor Testifies.

W. H. McFarren, a surveyor of sections 16 and 36 in the naval reserve Number One, California, testified.

Charges have been made by witnesses that these sections were illegally patented since they were known to be "mineral bearing" when the title was passed. The sections now are held by the Standard Oil Co. of California.

McFarren read records of the General Land Office which showed that although once withdrawn from entry, the sections later were reopened upon survey which failed to show required evidence of valuable oil or mineral deposits.

Sections Ineligible to Entry.

In 1914, McFarren said, the General Land Office ordered proceedings brought against California, as patentee, on the basis of a report that sections of the California reserve were ineligible to entry because they were "known mineral lands." Seven years later, he said, the chief of the division at San Francisco reported the discovery of this order among the "closed files" of that office. The witness said he was "convinced it was an oversight."

"The field office makes a report on pending cases every six months," he said. "A report in this case should have been made."

"The same oversight was made," Senator Walsh said, "by the chief of the field division at Washington, this chief in San Francisco and the Land Agent at Visolia."

"That would appear to be the case," agreed the witness. "But the responsibility would rest heavier upon the Visolia office."

LADY ROSS SEEKS DIVORCE, NAMING NEW YORK WOMAN

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—Lady Ross, wife of Sir Charles Ross, has filed suit for divorce in the Scottish courts, naming Emily Key Hoffman of New York, co-respondent, said an Edinburgh dispatch to the Daily Express today. Before her marriage to Sir Charles in 1901, Lady Ross was Miss Patricia Burnley Ellison, daughter of Andrew Ellison of Louisville, Ky.

Sir Charles, who is 51 years old, has had a distinguished career in the British army. He is the owner of 356,000 acres in Scotland.

GOVERNOR OF YUCATAN AND STAFF REPORTED EXECUTED BY MEXICAN REVOLUTIONISTS

Selite Carrillo, an Adherent of Obregon, Taken Prisoner and Put to Death in His Capital.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Selite Carrillo, Governor of the State of Yucatan, and his entire staff have been executed by Mexican revolutionists identified with the De la Huerta movement, according to advices received in Washington this afternoon.

The dispatches stated that Gov. Carrillo and his staff were "murdered" after having been taken prisoner by revolutionists and before representations for their release or safety could be made by the Government.

The executions are reported to have taken place at Merida, capital of the province. Word was received here through Enrique Manero, whose brother, Antonio, is one of the officers of the provisional De la Huerta government at Vera Cruz.

Carillo was regarded as one of the most radical of Mexican officials. In orders issued by the rebel authorities he usually has been referred to as a Bolshevik. In Yucatan are the sisal fields, among the workers of which endeavors to form soviets have been made.

American Federation of Labor Assures Obregon of Its Support.

Rebel Defeat With 500 Casualties Reported.

MEXICO City, Jan. 3 (via Galveston), Jan. 4.—The War Department has received advices telling of a defeat inflicted upon Romula Figueroa, rebel, by Gen. Marcelo Caraveo in Zaculpan, a village in the State of Mexico, 55 miles southwest of the capital. The official report of the battle is as yet unreceived. It is reported, however, that the rebels suffered 500 casualties in killed, wounded and prisoners.

U. S. Sells 5000 Rifles and Eight Airplanes to Obregon.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The United States Government has sold 5000 Enfield rifles, model 1917; 5,000,000 rounds, 30-caliber rifle ammunition; and eight airplanes to the Obregon Government of Mexico.

Secretary Weeks, in a brief statement, said the terms of the sale called for one-half of the purchase price in cash and one-half within 30 days.

It was explained that the articles named did not include all of those requested or the original list submitted by the Mexican Government, but that they would "meet the present requirements."

NEW GERMAN BANK OF ISSUE DISCUSSED IN LONDON

President of Reichbank Talking Over Plan With English Economists.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Germany's new currency Commissioner and president of the Reichsbank, is spending his time in London in talking with British bankers and economists, concerning his project for creating a new gold note issuing bank in Berlin. He has paid courtesy visits to Mobtagu C. Norman, head of the Bank of England, and other banking officials, but has purposely refrained from seeing any political or governmental representatives.

Dr. Schacht plans that his bank shall be founded with German, British, American and other foreign gold, and that it be entirely independent of the German Government and entirely under the control of those who invest in it. It would be kept independent from reparation dealings and the present Germany currency, Dr. Schacht declared.

TRADE JOURNAL MAN FOUND DEAD, HEAD IN BATHTUB

Marcus E. Sperry, Editor of "Lumber," Discovered in His Apartment at 5951 Washington Boulevard.

Marcus E. Sperry, 39 years old, editor of "Lumber," a trade journal, was found dead in the bathroom of his apartment, 5951 Washington boulevard, at 9 a. m. today.

The body lay across the rim of the bathtub, with head submerged in the water and the lower part outside the tub. It was clad in pajamas. Phisicians called to the scene are of the opinion that Sperry either fainted or was stricken with a heart attack and toppled into the water.

His wife, Mrs. Maybelle Sperry, told policemen that he arose about 8 a. m. and went into the bathroom to take a bath and shave. She became uneasy after an hour and went to investigate. Finding the door locked from the inside, and getting no response to her calls, she summoned the janitor and a neighbor. They broke in the door.

Theory of Fainting.

Dr. Sam T. Bassett, 5427 Delmar boulevard, one of the physicians called, expressed the opinion that Sperry had fallen in a faint, and that he either succumbed to the force of the blow when his head struck against the tub, or was drowned.

Mr. and Mrs. Sperry came here last March when the offices of "Lumber" were moved from Chicago. He had been connected with the publication since his discharge from the army after the war. He saw service as a First Lieutenant.

Sperry also was secretary of the Commercial Journal Co., 318 North Eighth street, which publishes "Lumber."

7 MEN SWEPT INTO SEA WITH 4 THEY HAD SAVED

NINE BRAVE STORM TO RESCUE OTHERS

Crews Taken From Two Vessels, but on Homeward Journey Sloop Is Smashed by Sea.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Nine Great South Bay fishermen braved the stormy waters and treacherous shoals off Fire Island inlet yesterday to save shipwrecked men. Seven of the fishermen are believed to have been drowned when their own craft was wrecked. Four they had rescued are also believed to have perished. One body was washed upon the beach last night.

The fishermen, led by Capt. Arthur Mayne, put out from Babylon in the auxiliary sloop Sid, a 40-foot fishing boat, after Mrs. William Eccleston of Bay Shore begged them to look for her husband, missing since Wednesday. Capt. Mayne was among those reported lost; Capt. Eccleston was saved.

Eccleston recently bought the 35-foot speed boat, Electra, and left Wednesday to take her from Rockaway to Bay Shore. He was accompanied by John Virgine of Bay Shore and James Williams of Merrick.

Speed Boat Grounds.

The three put to sea and the small craft, exposed to the full sweep of the ocean, headed toward the inlet on her way to Great South Bay. She passed the buoys which mark the entrance to Fire Island inlet, whose water are full of strong currents and shifting shoals. But in attempting to navigate the treacherous channel the Electra grounded on Fire Island Bar.

When Eccleston failed to come home Wednesday night, his wife went to Babylon and appealed to the authorities for aid. They passed the appeal along the waterfront and Captain Mayne organized a rescue party, which set out in the sloop Sid at noon and headed across Great South Bay for the inlet.

The boat, traveling under her engine, breasted high seas until late afternoon when a man forward sighted the Electra, still fast on the reef and rapidly going to pieces.

The Sid approached cautiously to avoid going on the bar and when she came close those on board saw the three of the Electra lying on the speed boat's deck, half unconscious, and constantly drenched by seas that broke over the vessel.

By skillful seamanship the Sid got alongside the Electra, passed lines and got the three men aboard the sloop.

Fishing Boat in Distress.

Then the Sid started to the rescue of a fishing smack in distress a mile away. By dexterous work, four men were taken off the fishing vessel.

The Sid then headed back for Babylon. Eccleston was suffering from the exposure most and two of Captain Mayne's crew took him into the Sid's cabin to do what they could for him. The others huddled in the cockpit, a railed but open space.

The Sid, buffeted by high seas, pitched in the waters of the inlet but forged steadily ahead toward the bay. Suddenly a big wave smashed her rudder and she could not be steered. The boat slid into the trough of the sea and wallowed helplessly.

Before a steering oar could be rigged to take the place of the broken rudder another wave lifted the sloop almost clear of the water and twisted off her propeller, leaving her engine useless. The men huddled in the cockpit clung to each other, but another great wave swept 11 of them into the water. Old fishermen said that none could live in such a sea.

The Sid was sighted by coast guards at the Fire Island Station, and Capt. Edward Baker ordered his men to launch boats through the surf. They made several attempts but each time the boats were upset and their crews driven back.

Meantime Mrs. Eccleston, anxiously awaiting word of the Sid or the Electra, asked Capt. Charles Murdock of Bay Shore to join the search, and while the coast guard boats were overturned in the surf, Murdock in his 30-foot boat nosed into the inlet and alongside the Sid. Murdock did not risk transferring the men on board his boat. He threw them a line and the Sid was made fast and towed in to Bay Shore.

VENIZELOS RETURNS TO GREECE TO AID IN RESTORATION OF PEACE

ELEUTHERIOS VENIZELOS.

Famous Statesman Ends His Three Years' Exile at Call of Revolutionaries Who Expelled Youthful King George—Met by Col. Plastiras, Leader of Party.

INDICATES HE MAY NOT STAY LONG

Refuses to Indicate What Plans He May Have for Reorganization of Government—Receives Vivas of Crowd.

By the Associated Press.

ATHENS, Jan. 4.—Venizelos, Greek war-time Premier, who is expected to establish peace in this country, returned to Greece early this morning after an absence of three years. He came by the steamship Andros from Marseilles, having traveled to that port by rail from Paris, where he had made his headquarters since the Lausanne conference.

The widely advertised project of landing the former Premier at a secret spot was abandoned but he slipped into the country quietly and unobtrusively as he had wished. The only demonstration occurred when the party on the Tenedos got their first glimpse of the ex-Premier approaching in the tender from the Andros. Shouts of "Long live Venizelos!" came from those crowding the rails of the Tenedos, and the statesman touched his gray soft hat in acknowledgment.

Venizelos and Plastiras.

Venizelos slipped gingerly from the tender into the outstretched arms of Col. Plastiras, who was waiting on the gangway, attired in the uniform of his rank. They kissed each other on both cheeks. Venizelos was the first to speak.

"You shouldn't be out at this time of night," he admonished the late chief of the revolution which dethroned Venizelos' arch-enemy, King Constantine. Venizelos' thought was for Col. Plastiras' recent illness.

Later Venizelos received the newspaper men, but no one could draw from him an expression of a political nature.

But from Venizelos' general remarks to Plastiras and others it was inferred that he did not take a very optimistic view of the internal political situation. He did not intend to remain here long, he said.

Declines to Form Cabinet.

Venizelos appeared to have aged considerably. Behind his beard the features appeared pale and thinner, but he retained the same bright eyes and pleasant smile. He was accompanied to the home of Georges Roussos, former Greek Minister to the United States, by Col. Plastiras and secret service men.

Venizelos, after resting from his journey, visited the regent, Admiral Coundouriotis, who requested him to form a government. Venizelos declined to assume the task on the ground that he desired to obtain fuller information in regard to the political situation. He devoted the remainder of the day to conferring with party leaders, including the royalists.

The cool indifference with which the Greeks in general received Venizelos' return was one of the surprising phases of the event upon which comment was heard from all sides. There were no pictures of the former Premier displayed anywhere, and only small undemonstrative groups evinced sufficient curiosity to congregate before his residence, situated on one of the busiest streets in Athens.

The whole was in marked contrast to the outbursts of enthusiasm which accompanied the return of the late King Constantine.

KING OF GREECE REACHES BUCHAREST NEEDING A HAIRCUT

Monarch Stayed Away From Athens Barbers When Politics Grew Exciting.

By the Associated Press.

BUCHAREST, Jan. 4.—One of the first things King George of Greece did upon his arrival here was to get his hair cut. It is said he was so distrustful of the Greek barbers that he avoided employing one during the last few weeks preceding his departure from the country.

King George and his Queen are settling down here in such a way as to give the impression that they expect to remain permanently. The scene upon their arrival at the station in Bucharest was most touching. Queen Elizabeth as a Princess of Rumania was a great favorite with the public.

Queen Marie's role as the "Mother of the Balkans" is considered to have received a severe blow through the events in Greece, and it is thought likely that the proposed match between Princess Ileana of Rumania and King Boris of Bulgaria will fall through.

Those well informed on Greek affairs express the belief that Greece now will be brought more and more under Italian influence, not through any affection for Italy in Greece but because, they say, the smaller country will find it impossible to resist the political ambitions of Italy. King George is said to have expressed himself along these lines at a recent private dinner.

NEW PLAN ON REPARATIONS SUBMITTED BY GERMAN

Industrialist Obtains Audience With Poincare, Foch and Barthou—Scheme Provides for Transfer of German Shares to French.

FRIENDLY RECEPTION IN PARIS PRESS

Germany Could Repurchase Stocks — France Would Indicate Industries It Wants and Ask for No Other Payments.

By FERDINAND TUOHY.
Paris Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright. 1924. by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Jan. 4.—Faced with the prospect of a Labor administration in London and with Anglo-American expert findings of a disconcerting nature, the French Government opens its new year policy with a "hands-across-the-Rhine" movement launched by President Millerand, which has taken definite shape.

There is even evidence that the Government's good will is being projected diplomatically and industrially into East Prussia. Two weeks ago the German potash king, Arnold Rechsberg, arrived in Paris with proposals of an economic accord. Premier Poincare gave him three hours, and Marshal Foch and Chairman Barthou of the Reparation Commission also heard the German pilgrim at length.

Yesterday the anti-English Senator Coty, in his paper Figaro, produced the plan which Rechsberg offered. A noteworthy sequel of the revelation was that such Nationalist organs as L'Intransigeant and La Liberte, not to mention the Figaro itself, requested the Premier to pay the closest attention to Rechsberg's proposals.

Rechberg's Plan.

The proposals follow:

1. The French Government shall indicate whatever industrial enterprises in Germany it considers worth while.

2. These companies must increase their capital by 30 per cent.

3. The German Government would indemnify their industrials for this increase.

4. The German Government would take the new shares of stock and hand them over to the French Government.

5. The French Government could sell or lease these shares to French industrialists.

6. The German Government would pass a law requiring the selected enterprises to offer 23 per cent of any fresh increase of capital during the next 30 years to the French Government, which would give French industrialists the option of taking them over.

7. The transferred stock could not be repurchased by Germany for 30 years.

8. The French Government would guarantee that its holdings should not be sold outside France for 30 years.

No Further Reparations.

9. The nature and number of enterprises to be taken over by France would be fixed by negotiation.

10. The total price of these shares would be duly credited to Germany's reparation account.

11. Assuming renunciation by the United States and England of their loans to France, the total sum payable by Germany is fixed at 25,000,000,000 gold marks (about $6,200,000,000), with a new plan to be drawn up for payment of the amount not covered in the shares.

12. France must ask for nothing more.

It is argued that acceptance of these proposals would interest France deeply in Germany's economic revival, although naturally stabilization of the currency remains an initial necessity.

Although Rechberg apparently is disowned by the Marx administration, the French extend a welcome to him. It is also hinted that American money would be drawn into Europe by this scheme, for the French industrials could not purchase the German shares from their Government unless they raised funds by an international loan.

No mention is made of continuance of the Ruhr occupation, except in Liberal papers, which say that the presence of the French in German industrials would afford sufficient guarantees.

Whatever official backing Rechberg may have, he has received a more sympathetic welcome than any other German since Walter Rathenau, chiefly because a Franco-German economic entente is now urged on France as a means of protection against a Socialist or Liberal England interfering on the continent and also against the expected uncomfortable findings of the experts summoned to study the situation by the Reparations Commission.

Seven Infantry Regiments Withdrawn From the Rhineland.

PARIS, Jan. 3.—A dispatch to the Havas agency from Duesseldorf says the regrouping of French troops in the Ruhr and the Rhineland, which began Dec. 28, is continuing. Thus far the dispatch adds, seven infantry regiments have been withdrawn from the occupied regions.

A dispatch from Duesseldorf says it is officially announced there that the general staff of the army of occupation will leave Duesseldorf during the first fortnight in January for Mayence. Gen. Degoutte, however, will maintain his headquarters at Duesseldorf. The various civil services now in Duesseldorf will be grouped together and remain there.

LUXOR, Egypt, Jan. 4.—The sarcophagus of Tutankhamen has been brought to light after remaining hidden for more than 3000 years in his tomb in the Valley of the Kings.

The long-sought-for treasure of antiquity, carved from pinkish granite, probably Assuan stone, lies within the fourth casket of blazing gold—a casket even more brilliant than the other shrines enclosing the sarcophagus, its doors covered with cartouches of the dead Pharaoh, surrounding a figure of the monarch.

The sarcophagus is elaborately carved and there is reason to believe it will prove to be of even greater artistic value than the pink sarcophagus of Hermahib, or the famous alabaster coffin of Seti I, in the Soane museum in London.

One of the most interesting discoveries before the disclosure of the sarcophagus was the relevation yesterday of the figure of the God Amun on the doors of the third shrine. This is considered distinct evidence of the powerful influence of the Amun priesthood on Tutankhamen. The richness of the gold encasing the third shrine recalls again the wondrous splendor of imperial Egypt at the time when Tutankhamen ruled in the Nile Valley. There is almost enough gold in this tomb to stock a small mint. And even though priceless treasures have been handled already, fully 70 per cent of the marvelous riches of the tomb remain to be examined. They are stored in other rooms, almost every square yard of which is worth a king's ransom.

Sarcophagus Disclosed.

Following up yesterday's discovery of the fourth casket the search was proceeded with, and in the presence of Prof. Percy E. Newberry, the noted Egyptologist, and the other members of his staff, Howard Carter, in charge of the exploration, unbolted the doors of the fourth shrine, disclosing the sarcophagus and finally establishing the fact that the last resting place of Tutankhamen had really been discovered.

News of the opening of the second and third shrines in the tomb yesterday led to an exodus of visitors across the Nile this morning en route to the Valley of Kings in the expectation that, as was the case last season, they might have the privilege of seeing trays laden with the treasure of the eighteenth dynasty brought once more into the light of day.

Howard Carter's investigation of the nest of shrines early today was still in the reconnaissance stage. It was known that he wished to satisfy himself if possible as to whether the body of the Pharaoh was actually in the last case within the golden shrines before he proceeded to the less exciting but indispensable labor of dismantling completely the outer shrine.

To make sure of this, he pushed his work ahead through the doors of the four outside cases and uncovered the stone receptacle of the King's mummy.

Yesterday was marked by excitement and thrills in the Valley of the Kings, when Carter, having at last removed the curious pall rack that obstructed the entrance to the doors of the second shrine, decided that the time had arrived for penetrating further the secrets of the royal sepulcher.

Carter and Calender of his staff had spent two hours the day before in easing the wooden bolts of the gilded doors of the second shrine, bearing delicate figures in light relief of the Pharoah at worship, and shortly before noon yesterday the doors were carefully swung back.

The powerful arc lights which had been slung into position to illuminate the massive doors of the second casket then shone upon a third golden shrine, richly covered with hieroglyphics, the doors of which bore the figure of a god with the head of an animal—either ram or horse—and with the goddess Hathor standing behind.

The gilded doors of the third shrine were then unbolted and the fourth case was discovered within. It is understood the operations were purely in the nature of a reconnaisance and that nothing was removed from the nest of shrines.

Carter's official photographer made records of the different stages of the proceedings.

KELS GOES TO DEATH, SMILING

Slayer of Wandering Worker Hanged in California.

By the Associated Press.

FOLSOM, Cal., Jan. 4.—Alex A. Kels, confessed slayer of an aged wandering worker near Lodi, Sept. 12, last, paid the penalty on the gallows at the State prison here this morning.

He went to his death smiling.

Kels, involved financialy to the extent of $70,000, conducted a meat market at Lodi. He told the court when he apeared for sentence that he had more than $75,000 in life insurance and that he had killed the man he had hired to work on his farm and burned the body in hopes that it would be identified as his own. He disappeared Sept. 12, 1923. The body later was buried as that of Kels. On Oct. 2 Kels was arrested at Eureka, with the muzzle of a gun in his mouth, just as he was about to pull the trigger. A few weeks ago a boy whom Mrs. Kels named Alex A. Kels Jr., was born.

Family Dog Attacks Two Women.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 4.—Mrs. Mary Comeaux, 70 years old, and her daughter, Lyda, were in a serious condition in Charity Hospital today from injuries inflicted yesterday by a bulldog, and physicians said the mother might die. The dog, owned by the family, was admitted to the house, and immediately attacked the daughter. The mother attempted to pull the animal away, when it turned upon her. A neighbor rushed into the house and shot the dog.

DR. HEATON CALLS FOR VINDICATION IN HERESY CASE

Fort Worth Episcopal Minister Dissatisfied With Bishop's Decision Not to Permit a Trial.

By the Associated Press.

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 4.—Decision of Bishop Coadjutor Harry T. Moore of the Dallas diocese of the Episcopal church, not to permit the case of the Rev. Lee W. Heaton, rector of Trinity Church, Fort Worth, charged with heresy, to come to trial, apparently has closed the case in this diocese, for the present, at least.

No charges of heresy are pending against the Rev. Mr. Heaton, Bishop Moore said today. Formal charges never were signed, Bishop Moore said, and the action of the Diocese Standing Committee in declining to call the Rev. Mr. Heaton to stand trial ends the case so far as the Dallas district is concerned.

"The Bishop Coadjutor has declined to permit this case to come to trial," said an announcement issued after a meeting here yesterday of the Standing Committee of the Diocese.

Bishop Moore in the statement said that, "in view of the fact that similar interpretations of the doctrine in question are held, taught and preached by those in this church, belonging to a higher order of the ministry than the party charged, I am therefore unwilling to consent to a trial of one of the Presbyters of this diocese upon such a charge; and the diocese of Dallas rests this matter until opportunity may be given to those in authority to proceed and to point out the course of wisdom and justice in such matters," remains as the final announcement from him.

Issue of Virgin Birth.

The case of the Rev. Mr. Heaton came to the attention of Bishop Moore in March, 1923, when charges were referred to him. The rector was alleged to have admitted that he did not feel that belief in the virgin birth of Christ was essential. The charges were referred by Bishop Moore to the Standing Committee of the Diocese for investigation. The committee, last November, held that Mr. Heaton was subject to trial and referred their decision to the Bishop for final approval.

As to Bishop Moore's decision not to permit Mr. Heaton's trial, the announcement of the Standing Committee said:

"The diocese has no comment to make on this decision other than to state their belief that the decision is the only one possible to reach at this time. The question in controversy has overreached the boundaries and powers of any one diocese and the issue is one which must be met and must be settled, one way or the other, by the mind of the whole church."

Demands Vindication.

Suspension by Bishop H. T. Moore of the Dallas Episcopal Diocese of heresy charges against the Rev. Dr. Lee W. Heaton, militant modernist of Fort Worth, has not satisfied the young rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, according to a statement issued. "I earnestly appeal for a frank and complete vindication," said Mr. Heaton.

Statement Issued by New York Modernists.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—New York representatives of the Modern Churchmen's Union have issued a statement demanding that Bishop Moore of Dallas either present for trial the charges of heresy against the Rev. Lee W. Heaton of Fort Worth, or else withdraw the charges.

His refusal to present the case, although affirming that the charges are "well founded," was called "an unqualified confession of defeat."

"It could be wished that the Bishop had followed the American tradition of fair play," said the statement. "Regardless of the theological point of view, there is a universal desire for justice. The American people presume that the accused is innocent until a court of peers have found him guilty. Bishop Moore says in effect: 'The accused is guilty, but in the face of overwhelming verdict of public opinion, I dare not bring him to trial. I will leave a stigma upon his name.'

There is no middle ground. Mr. Heaton is either guilt yor not guilty. Let us have done with ambiguity and Latin evasion. As the matter now stands Mr. Heaton will be branded a heretic for life which would be a grave injustice."

SUMMONED ON AUTO LICENSE STOLEN IN CHICAGO IN AUGUST

Former Owner Laughs When Called Up for Parking Car Beside Fire Plug.

When John H. Newsom, 4380 Laclede avenue, opened his mail yesterday, he found a note from Police-Captain Gerk of the Traffic Bureau, stating that his automobile, bearing Missouri license 47284, was parked in front of a fireplug at Broadway and Lemp avenue, Wednesday. Would he please call at the Captain's office and explain?

Newsom laughed and complied. He had forgotten about that license number, he said, he had not seen it for so long. He saw it last on Aug. 23, when it and his Buick car were stolen in Chicago while he was on a tour. He reported it to the St. Louis police, and since has collected his insurance and bought another car.

But the mysterious car that stopped for awhile at Broadway and Lemp is as much a mystery as ever. It moved on after a patrolman jotted down the license number, and the police yesterday broadcast the number again in the hope of finding it. Whether the car in question is Newsom's stolen machine is not known, because of the possibility that the stolen license plate may have been affixed to another machine.

SUE TO GET GOULD PAINTINGS

Executors Seek to Compel Children to Prove Ownership to Art Works.

By the Associated Press.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 4.—Executors of the late George J. Gould today filed a suit in the court of chancery, seeking to require executors of the late Edith Kingdon Gould and her seven children to prove ownership of paintings in the Gould residence on Fifth avenue, New York. Executors of the first Mrs. Gould claim all the personal property in the New York home. Gould's second wife, Mrs. Guinevere Gould, claims Gould sold to her certain art works in 1922.

Some of the children of Gould by his first wife assert that they are entitled to personal portraits. A daughter, Mrs. Marjorie Gould Drexel, is seeking to recover the paintings "The Wedding Procession" and "The Arab." It is denied by the executors of Gould that the father gave away any of the portraits to the children.

SINKING SHIP CALLS FOR HELP

Name of Vessel in Pacific Not Given in Radio Message.

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 4.—A message reporting the sending vessel to be sinking but giving no clew to the identity of the vessel was picked up by the Seattle Harbor Radio Station today. The message was believed to have come from the Kyosei Maru, or the steamship Harold Dollar.

The Kyosei and the Dollar were said to be in the Pacific Ocean about 1000 miles off the coast of Washington and each to be in distress. The message caught by the Harbor Radio Station follows: "Laeking badly, rudder chain broken. Sinking condition. In immediate need help. Empress of Russia 200 miles away. Longtitude 174:10 east."

50 BUSINESS MEN FACE ARREST ON U. S. TAX CHARGES

They Are Said to Have Paid No Attention to Summonses From Internal Revenue Colletor.

More than 50 business men, who have refused to heed summons of the Collector of Internal Revenue to appear before him to answer questions as to income tax, are liable to arrest and arraignment before a United States Commissioner, as was done late yesterday in the case of Fred Hoffman, president-treasurer of the Fred Hoffman Coffee Co., 10 North Third street.

Hoffman's arrest, as exclusively related in late editions of the Post-Dispatch yesterday, was on an attachment issued by United States Commissioner Atkins, which charged he refused to answer a summons to appear before the Collector and answer interrogations as to his business, following his alleged failure to make an income tax return for the business of 1922.

Several Notices Sent.

Several notices were sent to Hoffman by the Collector and by the Commissioner, and the latter notified Hoffman of the intended attachment action. Hoffman replied, according to the Commissioner, that he would voluntarily appear, but he failed to do so. Taken before the Commissioner yesterday, Hoffman said he did not realize the trouble to which he had put the Government. The Commissioner then warned him of the penalty for continued refusal, and gave him until 2 p. m. Monday to make an income tax return. The Commissioner added that if the return were not satisfactory, Hoffman would be liable for a penalty for contempt.

At the Collector's office today it was said that in the case of more than 50 other business men, who, like Hoffman, are alleged to have ignored the Collector's summons, no action was contemplated until Hoffman's case is acted on Monday. Meantime, it was intimated that the face of the summonses in these instances was in full effect.

Law Provides Penalty.

The law provides that the Collector's summons for such an inquiry shall in itself constitute a legal process, and further provides for attachment proceedings by either a Commissioner or Federal Judge. A maximum penalty for refusal to answer questions of $1000 fine and a year in jail is provided; which may be assessed by the Commissioner.

The Fred Hoffman Coffee Co. consists of the following officers, according to the directory: Hoffman, president-treasurer; Chris J. Muckerman, vice president, and William Maffitt Bates, secretary.

Two Youths Held for Investigation.

Two youths, Dwight Fitchey, 21, and Russell Hanger, 19, of Indianapolis, were arrested in an automobile at 4 a. m. today at High and Morgan streets by officers of the Carr Street station. Fitchey had $447 in money and is reported as having told police he and Hanger were here to purchase whisky for transportation in the automobile to Indianapolis. They are being held for investigation.

DEATH IN AUTO CRASH TO BE INVESTIGATED

MISS FLORINE HOFMEISTER.

THE grand jury is to investigate the automobile accident in which Miss Florine Hofmeister, 15, of 7318 Vermont avenue, and Carl Schutzius, 18, of 7921 Water street, were fatally injured New Year's eve, according to announcement of the Circuit Attorney. A verdict of accident was returned by the Coroner's jury yesterday. Miss Hofmeister died Wednesday night while Schutzius' death occurred a few hours after the crash. They were on their way from a watch party to church in an automobile driven by Fred E. Hoffmann, 18, a mechanic, of 8112 South Broadway.

YOUTH TELLS OF BEING WOUNDED ON HUNTING TRIP

St. Louis U. Medical Student Says He Was Accidentally Shot Near Pacific, Mo., Wednesday.

A conductor on the Cherokee line reported yesterday that a man, who said he had shot himself, was a passenger on his car Wednesday night, but refused an offer to have medical attention and left the car at Bates street and Gravois avenue.

George Schoetker, 20, of 4633 Rosa avenue, who is in city hospital with a bullet wound in the abdomen, admitted today that he was the passenger. He said he did not consider the wound serious at the time.

Schoetker said he was hunting at Pacific, Mo., Wednesday, with an uncle, Dr. George T. Kitchen, a dentist, of 3612 Arsenal street, and that a 22-caliber pistol in Schoetker's trouser pocket was accidentally discharged, striking him in the right side of the abdomen. That evening he went to work as a clerk at an oil filling station at Gravois and Loughborough avenues. He had worked for several hours before pain from the bullet forced him to go home. Schoetker was accompanied to the hospialy yesterday by his parents. He is a medical student at St. Louis University.

13 KNOWN DEAD IN PEKIN, ILL., BLAST; 23 ARE MISSING

Rescuers Handicapped in Hunt for Bodies of Starch Plant Victims by Ice-Covered Ruins.

SURVIVORS RELATE TALES OF HEROISM

State Begins Investigation of Explosion and U. S. Officials Announce They Will Conduct Inquiry.

By the Associated Press.

PEKIN, Ill., Jan. 4.—More than a score of bodies are believed to be still buried in the ruins of the plant of the Corn Products Co. here, where an explosion early yesterday caused the deaths of between 30 and 40 employes and serious injuries to 27 more. Thirteen are known to be dead, and 23 are listed as missing. Rescuers working in the ice-covered debris of the wrecked buildings are in constant danger from tottering walls.

One building of the $20,000,000 plant has collapsed and two adjoining plants were swept by fire, which was still being fought last night, and partly wrecked by the explosion.

A further check is being made to identify the men missing from their homes. Supt. H. B. Lawton of the company said today it would be impossible definitely to fix the number of dead until all the bodies were recovered, as no check was made of the men leaving the plant after the blast.

Bodies of 12 Identified.

Names of those listed as dead, missing or injured as announced unofficially:

Dead or missing:

Ed Houston, Joe Haller, Charles Milburn, R. G. Bielowski, John Garrison, William Rumler, Bert Nelan (Chillicothe), George Horms, Gus Barnick, Lafe Smith, Jackson Colvin, Orval Van Alstine, George Zeitler, Cecil Cowser, Lester Hamilton, William Beach, Charles Clark, Louis Schmidt, Bert Weinheimer, John Hawson, Herbert Fairlee, Luke Eheen, Carl Lane, J. A. Johnson, John Hooker, Lee Harding, George Skinner, Otto Lohns, Otto Wieberg, George Leiber, Manuel Hixon, John Holton and James Holllef. Bodies of the last nine and those of Louis Schmidt, George Harms and William Rumler of Canton have been identified.

Part of the basement room under the starch mill was entered shortly after noon, when the workmen forced their way through the tons of debris blocking the entrance. They reported that tons of machinery, which had been on the upper floors, were fused into one huge mass of iron by the extreme heat, and that if there are any bodies underneath it there would be no means of identifying them now.

Seriously injured:

Art Freeman, Fred Schumm, Earl Griffin, Walter Hardt, Ray Canopy, Homer Butterick, J. Pickerel, E. Gouker, all of whom have major injuries as well as incipient pneumonia, according to physicians.

Less seriously injured:

William Callico, Sis Derry, George Bodish, R. Donaldson, W. Burger, Elijah Jones, Ed Breaker, L. Romans, Jacob Sturm, William Moore, Frank Glazbrook, George Garmers, Oscar Fox, Fred Farnaff, William Vogelsang and Frank Litchwels.

Snow Hampers Rescuers.

Snow, which started falling at noon, further hampered rescuers in their efforts to reach other bodies believed to be buried in the wreckage. Two derricks are being operated to clear away the debris over the packing room, where most of the men were working at the time of the explosion.

Two bodies, one unidentified and the other identified as Lee Harding, have been taken from the building, but it is predicted that many of the bodies will be unidentified owing to the intense heat to which they have been subjected.

Relief for Victims' Families.

Throughout the night, in the bitter cold, while the rescuers dug into the wreckage, groups of women waited and watched anxiously outside the steel fence surrounding the plant. They are being cared for by the Salvation Army, the Red Cross and local relief organizations, which are providing relief for rescue workers.

Several explanations are offered for the explosion. A spark from a drive wheel was one cause advanced. John G. Gamber, State Fire Marshal, attributed it to an explosion of dust similar to a recent explosion in a plant of the same company at Argo, Ill., and another at Des Moines.

Most of those now in the hospitals were employed in the building partly wrecked. Numerous tales of heroism are told regarding several of those seriously injured. Frank Litchweis, son of a Peoria Deputy Sheriff, now near death, with both legs broken and severely burned about the arms and body, is reported to have cheered his workma

Frank Litchweits, son of a Peoria Deputy Sheriff, now near death, with both legs broken and severely burned about the arms and body, is reported to have cheered his workmates with singing until the last was rescued from a third-story room in which they were trapped. Cut off from rescue himself, his clothing ablaze, Litchweiss leaped from a window.

Nearly all the dead are Americans and at least 25 of them had families, according to the Red Cross. The plant, which covers 20 acres, employed 750 men in three shifts.

Stumbled in the Wreckage.

Nearly covered with bandages, William Callico, one of the survivors, told how he had come out of the starch powder building at the plant alive.

"I was working on the second floor," he said, "when I felt the floor sink out from under me. It just dropped, first a little and then all in a heap. The building seemed to drop out of its walls and settle in one heap. Before I knew it I was walking and stumbling through wreckage. It seemed to me as if I were walking alongside of the explosion. I thought I passed all kinds of flying things and men and machinery and when I landed I was still on my feet. I don't know how, but I got out alive."

The critics of Hugh K. Wagner, president of the Million Population Club, and the Greater St. Louis Conference, added another volunteer to their ranks today when C. H. Heidbrink of the Vitrolite Sales Co., 320 Chamber of Commerce Building, followed the lead of 11 members of the Million Population Club who resigned this week, and incidentally complained of Wagner's handling of the conference.

Heidbrink, a member of the Executive Board of the Conference, last spring pledged $500 for its use, the largest individual contribution. Both he and Wagner agree that that $100 represented his personal contribution, the balance a loan to be used in underwriting the expense of circularizing St. Louis County in the interest of annexation. Heidbrink is wroth because he hasn't got his $400 back. Wagner says it is deposited with a printer to apply on the circular work whenever $3000 more is raised for that work, and that Heidbrink is not entitled to payment until the conference has the cash available.

Wagner says Heidbrink surprised everybody at the meeting by his enthusiasm and the size of his contribution, and surprised them again when he lost his enthusiasm and demanded his money back.

The Wagner controversy first came to light a few days ago when 11 members of the Million Population Club resigned because, they said, he was trying to perpetuate himself as president.

STOCK DIVIDEND SALE AMENDMENT BEATEN

House Tax Committee Votes It Down; Will Be Offered Again With "More Teeth in It."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The House Ways and Means Committee today rejected an amendment to the administration tax bill under which gains from sale of stock dividends would be subject to normal and surtax rates.

The amendment, offered by Representative Rainey, Democrat, Illinois, was voted down, 12 to 11.

The bill as submitted by the Treasury provides that for the first two years after the declaration of stock dividends incomes derived from their sale shall be taxed under the normal and surtax schedule, but after that time the maximum tax shall be 12½ per cent.

Text of Amendment.

The text of the stock dividends amendment voted down, which was drafted by a Treasury expert at Rainey's request, follows:

"The term 'capital assets' means property held by the taxpayer for profit or investment for more than two years (whether or not connected with his trade or business) but does not include property held for the personal use or consumption of the taxpayer or his family or stock received as a stock dividend by the taxpayer or by the donor if the taxpayer acquired the stock by gift, or stock in trade of the taxpayer or other property held by the taxpayer primarily for sale."

Three members of the committee—Hull, Democrat, Tennessee; Frear, Wisconsin, and Kearns, Ohio, Republicans—were absent, and were not recorded in the vote. Ten Democrats and Representative Young, North Dakota, Republican, supported the amendment, while the 12 opposing it were all Republicans. Rainey obtained permission to bring up the question again and he announced later that he would propose another vote on the amendment, probably changed somewhat "to put more teeth in it."

The committee instructed the expert assisting it in the redrafting of the bill to redraft a provision, contained also in existing law, which exempts from taxation contributions to the American Legion and its auxiliaries. The committee was of the opinion the exemption should be broadened to include organizations of veterans of all wars and their auxiliaries, including those of Confederate veterans.

Bonus Meeting May Be Delayed.

A movement to postpone the proposed conference of House Republicans on the bonus question planned for next Thursday night gained ground today. Representative Longworth, the Republican leader, said former service men who are seeking to have the conference called were being urged to suspend circulation of petitions for that purpose. He said he thought the Ways and Means Committee should have "abundant opportunity to consider tax reduction without being embarrassed by instructions from the Republican membership to report a bonus bill before acting on proposed changes in tax schedules."

One of the members of the committee, Representative Frear, Republican, Wisconsin, who obtained unanimous consent to address the House Monday on the changes he believes should be made in the revenue law, made public a letter he had written Secretary Mellon on the question of tax-exempt securities.

In his letter, Frear, who is one of the leaders in the insurgent bloc, announced his intention of introducing a bill which he said would "reach tax-free securities." He proposes an amendment to the income tax law which would stipulate that "the term taxable incomes from whatever source derived shall include net incomes received from state and municipal securities and shall be laid and collected the same as all other taxes."

Stipulation also is made that the amendment "shall not be held unconstitutional or void by the Supreme Court without the concurrence of at least all but one of the Judges and shall remain in full force and effect notwithstanding any decision by an inferior court."

2530 THEFTS OF AUTOS LAST YEAR; 2419 RECOVERIES

Of Total Found Here by Police Auto Squad, 194 Machines Had Been Stolen Elsewhere.

There were 2530 automobiles stolen last year in St. Louis, as shown by the report made yesterday to the Police Board by Detective-Sergeant Reinwald, in charge of the automobile squad. Fifty per cent of these had not been properly locked. Eighty-six per cent were recovered. In addition, there were recoveries of 194 machines that had been stolen elsewhere and 51 that had been stolen here prior to 1923, making the total recoveries 2419. It is estimated that of the stolen cars 75 per cent were Fords.

The board, commenting on the report, says perhaps no other form of crime has sprung to such prominence. For dealing with it the squad was increased from six to 16 men six months ago and clerks were assigned to keep the records not only of thefts here but all over the country.

An outstanding achievement of the year was the cleaning out of a "fence" at Boonville, Mo., and the recovery there of 150 stolen machines.

92,628 Cars Licensed by City.

There are at present 92,628 automobiles in use on the city streets, as shown by the city licenses issued. It is estimated that the number of machines using the streets is increased to 150,000 by those owned in the suburbs and surrounding country that are not required to have city licenses.

Recovery has been hindered by negligence of owners in not keeping a record of license and motor numbers, which has in many instances caused a delay of days in the beginning of search.

Indifference of owners toward identifying stolen cars and prosecuting thieves is attributed to insurance.

Figures for Other Years.

The report contains the following comparative figures: 1918, 2241 cars stolen, 1402 (63 per cent) recovered; 1919, 1244 stolen, 970 (78 per cent) recovered; 1920, 812 stolen, 677 (83 per cent) recovered; 1921, 1560 stolen, 1252 (80 per cent) recovered; 1922, 1708 stolen, 1433 (84 per cent) recovered.

The board commends the members of the squad and gives credit to the other members of the department for co-operation.

Sergt. Lang, in charge of the motorcycle squad, made a partial report showing that during the year 17,358 arrests were made for violations of the traffic laws, including 3377 for speeding, 1184 for defective lights, 1143 for having no headlights and 1533 for having no tail lights. Sergt. Lang took charge of the squad in December, 1921. That year there had been 2514 arrests. In 1922 there were 11,112.

BELLEVILLE FIRE CHIEF QUITS ON CHARGES, NEW ONE NAMED

Frank R. Dinges, a tire dealer, who served as Fire Chief of Belleville for nine years until a change of administration 12 years ago, today was appointed by Mayor Anton to succeed Fire Chief Joseph Anton, who resigned yesterday, because of charges against him of peace disturbance and threatening the wife of Charles Knefelkamp, a fireman.

The appointment of Dinges is expected to be ratified at Monday's meeting of the City Council. Anton, who is a nephew of the Mayor, will have a hearing before Justice Lautz. The charges grew out of a New Year's party at the Knefelkamp home, where Anton is said to have presented himself without an invitation.

27 Above in Imperial Valley.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—Temperatures throughout California continued below normal yesterday, with a forecast for gradually rising thermometer readings. Calexico, in the Imperial Valley, reported a temperature of 27 degrees above zero. Los Angeles had a minimum of 41 and San Francisco 37. Districts surrounding Los Angeles had temperatures of from 26 at Escondido to 30 at Santa Ana. Santa Barbara, on the coast, reported 32 degrees. It will be impossible for several weeks to obtain an accurate estimate of crop loss.

Reductions Affecting Caulfield Family, and Those in O'Donnell Case

THE assessment reductions affecting property holdings of William E. Caulfield Jr. and his family connections, and those in the O'Donnell case, outside the Caulfield family, which latter are the basis for his indictment, are:

1923.	Assessment Reduced.
Edith V. Caulfield, mother, residence property.	$ 4,000
James T. and Lillie Hayes, parents of Mrs. W. E. Caulfield Jr.	4,000
Lillie Hayes, mother-in-law	4,000
Senator W. E. Caulfield, father, one-fourth owner business building (assessed in name of S. B. Martz)	22,000
E. R. O'Donnell Estate, three reductions	24,000
Mrs. Eliz. J. O'Donnell.	10,900
1922.
William E. Caulfield Jr. (same property now held by mother)	4,000
O'Donnell interests	40,000
Total reductions	$112,000

records. It had not then appeared that he had any special knowledge of the O'Donnell reductions. E. A. O'Donnell, at that time, professed ignorance of the matter, saying, as several others did, that he had complained of his assessment, and supposed it had been reduced for that reason.

The previous indictment in the tax fraud cases was that of William P. Etling, Chief Deputy Assessor. He is charged with bribery, in the alleged acceptance of $60 to reduce the assessment of Charles Enger. Enger was the first taxpayer to appear before the grand jury.

Henry Zeiss of 5419 South Broadway was the second taxpayer whose willingness to testify became known. O'Donnell's decision to testify, and thus to obtain immunity, did not become known until he appeared before the grand jury yesterday afternoon. At that time, Zeiss was waiting to testify, and the grand jury heard him later. Zeiss, as told previously, has informed the Circuit Attorney that he paid someone in the Assessor's office, in the years 1918-21 inclusive, and last year, to cut his assessment.

The grand jury, after hearing Zeiss, laid its inquiry into the assessment cases over until next Tuesday.

District Assessor Summoned to Circuit Attorney's Office.

Circuit Attorney Sidener today summoned Fred W. Tirre, a district assessor, to his office for one of the "conversations" which Sidener has carried on, in the intervals between the grand jury's considerations of the assessment cases.

Tirre handles the district in which Louis G. Olian's property is located. Olian's 1923 assessment, as has been told, was cut $100,000 by an erasure. Olian had complained of his assessment of $193,250, and Tirre is said to have agreed to a certain reduction, but nothing like the reduction made, which was by rubbing out the first numeral "1," and which made the assessment $93,250. Olian's assessment also was largely reduced in 1922.

COLOMBIAN OFFICERS GUESTS OF COL. YATES AT BARRACKS

South Americans Have Been Inspecting Munitions Production at Alton.

Gen. Luis C. Morales, Col. Arturo Borrero and Capt. Julian Uribe of the Colombian army, are guests today of Col. Yates, Commandant at Jefferson Barracks.

They have been stationed at the plant of the Western Cartridge Co. at Alton since October, inspecting production of Mauser rifle and Lewis machine gun cartridges ordered by the Republic of Colombia.

Gen. Morales, who is Chief of Infantry, told a reporter that there hadn't been a first-class revolution in his corner of South America for 21 years. The standing army of Colombia, on paper, numbers 6000 men.

The three officers plan to remain in Alton until March. They will go East, and after visiting West Point will return to Colombia. They said no trouble was expected in their native land, but that the supply of ammunition for troops had run low and so a large order was placed with the Alton company.

They were in civilian dress and frankly miserable because of the cold and snow, commenting that they would take the street car to return from Jefferson Barracks as an automobile was too open to travel in "with such a blizzard raging."

Homicide Verdict in Auto Case.

A Coroner's verdict of homicide by parties unknown was rendered today in the death at City Hospital Wednesday of Elmer Hubbard, 23 years old of 319 West Side avenue, Webster Groves, from injuries suffered at midnight Sunday when struck by an automobile at Broadway and Chippewa street. The driver of the machine did not stop. Hubbard's skull was fractured.

FLAMES DAMAGE TWO PLANTS; COLD HAMPERS FIREMEN

19 Streams of Water Played on Buildings at Tenth and Mullanphy, but Freezing Causes Trouble.

Water was still being played this morning on the smoldering ruins of buildings at the northwest corner of Tenth and Mullanphy streets, where fire last evening caused damage estimated at $75,000, but the flames had been succeeded by ice in various shapes and quantities.

The buildings were occupied by the Banner Buggy Co. and the Logeman Chair Manufacturing Co. The major damage was to the buggy firm's plant, where the interior was swept by fire, little but the walls remaining. The buildings are owned by the Mellon estate. Loss is insured.

The alarm was turned in by Frank Krueger, private watchman at the Logeman plant. He discovered the fire at 8 p. m. after he had heard the automatic fire doors in the boiler room slam shut. The doors are adjusted to close when the heat becomes excessive. Four alarms were sounded and 19 streams of water were directed against the flames at one time.

Firemen were hampered by the intense cold which resulted in the water changing into ice, and by temporary failure of light, due to wires being cut. The fire was under control about midnight.

Firemen reported the blaze started in a sawdust bin. The cause is not known.

Other fires yesterday were: Architectural Club Building, 514 Culver way, $250 damage to building; rooming house at 1728 Waverly place, $1000; residence of Robert T. Schwabe at 4217 Lafayette avenue, caused by Christmas tree, $250; automobile of Mrs. Clara Sipe, 3967 West Pine boulevard, in garage at 4001 West Pine, caused by backfiring, $300 damage to car, $100 to garage, and Mrs. Sipe's purse, containing $25 and gloves, was destroyed.

LAWYER TRYING TO UNTANGLE HIS MARITAL COMPLICATIONS

Joseph C. Crouch Suing to Annul Marriage to Second Wife for Whom He Obtained Divorce.

Joseph C. Crouch, a lawyer in the Wainwright Building, is busy trying to untangle matrimonial complications which came his way during the past year.

Yesterday he filed an annulment suit at Clayton against his second wife, Mrs. Bertha R. Crouch, alleging she was not legally divorced before her marriage to him.

A check of court records at Clayton shows that on June 11 last Crouch, acting as attorney for himself, filed suit for divorce against Mrs. Elizabeth L. Crouch. The same day he sued on behalf of Mrs. Bertha R. Eno, who wanted to divorce William G. Eno. He won both cases, the first on June 18 and the second four days later. Then after another five days, he and Mrs. Eno were married and established a home at Overland Park.

Crouch's petitions show that he married his first wife on Aug. 17, 1916, and separated from her on May 9 last; married his second wife June 27, and separated Sept. 14.

To further complicate matters, Eno filed a petition on Nov. 21, asking that his wife's decree be set aside on the grounds that it was obtained by fraud, claiming that his signature of appearance of entry was forged. Crouch filed a similar suit the next day. On Dec. 1, Eno withdrew his action, and last Monday Circuit Judge McElhinney overruled Crouch's motion.

GIVES $50,000 FOR EUROPEAN PEACE ESSAYS

E. A. Filene of Boston Puts Up Prize for Competition Among French, Italians and English.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 4.—Establishment of a series of European peace essay competitions, similar to that of Edward W. Bok, the prizes totaling $50,000, will be officially announced soon.

The donor of the money is Edward A. Filene of Boston, Mass., who offers it for a competition among French, English and Italian writers for the best practical plan for the general maintenance of peace.

Leon Bourgeois, former president of the Council of the League of Nations, has agreed to preside over the French committee, provided Senator De Jouvenel, editor of the Matin, serves as acting head of the committee. Tomasso Tittoni, president of the Italian Senate, has accepted the chairmanship of the Italian committee. In England, George Gilbert Murray, the noted scholar, is doing the directive work.

Edward A. Filene is president of William Filene's Sons Co. of Boston, merchants. In a recent address in New York City, he said America's immediate contribution to the peace of the world ought to be the adoption of the late President Harding's proposal for a world court and national legislation authorizing the use of the economic blockade.

Bank Messengers in Auto Robbed by Five Men—Unable to Use Shotguns.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 4.—Five men held up two messengers of the Centropolis State Bank at Fifteenth and Belmont avenue here today and escaped with $32,500 in cash intended for payrolls.

A. S. Menefee, vice president of the bank, and Joe McCoy, a watchman, were returning from the Commerce Trust Co. with the money when the robbers drove up and crowded the messengers' car to the curb. Four masked men covered the messengers with revolvers and took the money while the unmasked driver of the robbers' car remained at his wheel.

Menefee and McCoy were armed with sawed-off shotguns, but they were unable to use them.

DRINKING CUP ORDER MODIFIED

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 4.—The recent order of the State Public Service Commission, requiring that drinking cups be provided by the railroads on all trains operating in Missouri, does not apply to strictly suburban train service, according to an order issued by the Commission today. The first order was not intended to include suburban trains, said the order, which was issued to relieve the St. Louis and San Francisco Railway Co. from the duty of providing drinking cups on its suburban trains between St. Louis and Pacific, Mo.

A Banquet That Was Almost a Tragedy

"Three years ago at a banquet I was stricken with acute indigestion. Two doctors worked over me for an hour before I came to. I had had severe colic attacks before, but nothing like that. No doctors or medicine gave me permanent help until a friend, who was at the banquet, advised me to take a course of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which I did with wonderful results." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. BOY BADLY HURT WHEN SLED IS HIT BY AN AUTOMOBILE

Woman's Machine Collides With Trolley Car—Man Hurt in Upset Down 25-foot Bank.

Joseph Byrne, 12 years old, of 5133 Garfield avenue, was seriously hurt and two other boys narrowly escaped injury at 10 o'clock last night when their sled was hit by an automobile driven by Elmer G. Segelhorst of 3123 Whittier street, at Cote Brilliante avenue and King's highway. The three boys were coasting east on Cote Brilliante avenue and were hit as the sled was crossing King's highway.

The Byrne boy was thrown to the street and suffered lacerations of the scalp, body bruises and a possible skull fracture. Segelhorst was not held.

Mrs. Clara Goldberg, 22, 1432 Franklin avenue, and Mrs. Pearl Etleugher, 68, of 10 Lewis place, were bruised and cut when the former's automobile hit a Bellefontaine car at Winnebago street and California avenue yesterday.

Joseph Reid, 42, Overland Park, was taken to City Hospital in a private ambulance yesterday suffering from serious internal injuries. He said he was hurt when his automobile skidded and fell over a 25-foot embankment on the St. Charles Rock road near his home.

MEXICAN CONSUL, WHO SWUNG OVER TO HUERTA, DISPLACED

Gen. Alfredo Serratos, in Brief Verbal Engagement, Causes Abdication of Moreno.

Obregon forces under Gen. Alfredo Serratos, until recently of Detroit, yesterday invaded the Mexican consulate in the Star Building, and after a brief verbal battle caused the abdication of F. Alvarez Moreno, Mexican Consul, who, on Dec. 13, swore allegiance to the Huertista revolution.

Gen. Serratos, former Mexican Minister of War, is now Consul in St. Louis. He invaded St. Louis a few days ago with that express purpose, and yesterday, after conferring with United States District Attorney Curry, appeared at the consulate with his ultimatum. Alvarez, together with his staff, readily abdicated with the announcement that a Huertista consulate would be established elsewhere in St. Louis.

The new Consul has the moral backing of Curry, who said yesterday he had inspected Serratos' credentials and was convinced he was the true representative of the recognized Mexican Government.

Chemist Reported Drowned.

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 4.—Bear Grass Creek is being dragged here today for the body of Burr M. Overton, 55 years old, Louisville chemist and father of Miss Jane Overton, a member of the Metropolitan Opera Company, who is believed to have been drowned when his automobile plunged from a 15-foot wall into the swollen stream late last night.

Are on Sale at $29.50

Coats of: Granada, Raritan, Stevana, Bolivia, Truvonnet and sport fabrics.

Furs Used: Manchurian wolf, opossum and squirrelette collars and cuffs.

We have experienced this past season the most remarkable Coat business in our history. This has left us with a greater number of small groups and a bigger variety than ever before at the end of the season. To effect complete disposal, extreme reductions are necessary—and we have made them! The above is but one of many offerings.

Dresses Reduced

Originally Priced $17.50, $20 and $22.50

Are on Sale at $12.75

You'll Find: Dresses of satins, Poiret twills, Canton crepes, tricotines, velveteens, velour checks and combinations in styles for the miss and the matron, in all sizes, 16 to 42. Only at the end of the selling season are such beautiful Dresses as these to be had at such a price.

Identical Overcoats and Suits Are Selling Right Here in St. Louis

Can You Blame the Maker for Taking His Label Out or for Making Us Agree Not to Reveal His Name?

Here's one of America's leading brands of clothing. Every man and young fellow who is particular about his appearance knows it well. It is selling right here in St. Louis and is a great favorite. The name alone is a guarantee of highest quality—of materials, of styles, of workmanship, of service! We deem it rare good fortune to be able to offer this clothing at such a price as this.

The Suits are in two and three button, single and double breasted models, and are desirable shades and patterns. The Overcoats offer choice of half-belted ulsters, full-belted semi-ulsters, full and half belted ulsterettes and full box coats. In such a variety, every man is certain to find a number he likes and many men are sure to buy one or more of both, so very impressive are the values.

Priced Only

3 for $6.75

Of plain colored English broadcloth, plain colored Russian corded madras and silk-striped madras.

A maker, well known to the trade, who was retiring after many years in business, made us a spot cash offer on these fine Shirts. We knew the prices at which such Shirts as these were selling, not only right here in St. Louis, but in hundreds of America's best stores, and we knew that here was a rare treat for our men patrons. Our advice is to "get a-plenty," for such an opportunity isn't to be had often. All sizes, 14 to 17—stripes up to 20.

ZANGWILL GETS KLAN THREAT

Says He Was Ordered to Keep Mouth Shut Under Pain of Death.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Israel Zangwill, English writer, said last night he had been threatened with death by the Ku Klux Klan and that he had challenged klan leaders to debate with him on the organization's right of existence. The death threat he received read "Keep your tongue in your mouth or we will assassinate you." Zangwill said.

FREE CONCERT TICKET DISTRIBUTION TODAY

First of This Year's Series by Symphony Orchestra at Missouri Theater Tomorrow.

The opening concert of the third annual series of free Symphony Orchestra concerts for school children, arranged by the Post-Dispatch, will be given tomorrow morning, beginning at 10:30, in the Missouri Theater, Grand boulevard and Lucas avenue.

Distribution of tickets for the concert begins at 3 p. m. today, at 34 drug stores, in various residence and school neighborhoods. Admission will be by ticket, though no seats will be reserved.

As he did in the concerts of the 1922 and 1923 seasons, Conductor Rudolph Ganz of the Symphony Orchestra will make talks, before the numbers, explaining and outlining the character of the selections. The programs, selected by him, contains numbers, so far as possible, which the children have had in their school work.

The drug stores used as distribution points for the tickets are:

The tickets will be distributed to white children more than 10 years old, who are pupils of parochial, private or public schools, both grammar and high. A special concert for negro children will be given on March 1. Tickets will not be issued to adults, save in the case of a crippled or afflicted child requiring an attendant.

Killed in Fall on Stairway.

Charles Hensiek, 64 years old, of 841A Brooklyn street, died at city hospital at 2 p. m. yesterday from cerebral hemorrhages due to a 30-foot fall down a stairway in the rear of his home a short time earlier. He had started to descend the stairs when he slipped on the top step, falling the rest of the distance.

SPENCER, WITH STORY OF COOLIDGE, REBUFFED

"The Scientific Political Training of President Coolidge" Barred From Record.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20-23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Calvin Coolidge is not the favorite author of the Senate nor is he the favorite text.

Senator Spencer (Republican, Missouri), rose in the Senate yesterday to ask unanimous consent to have printed in the Congressional Record an article entitled "The Scientific Political Training of President Coolidge."

"I object," interposed Senator Moses (Republican, New Hampshire), who besides being chairman of the committee on printing, was the first man on the Coolidge band wagon.

"Then I'll read it into the Record," retorted Spencer.

"If you're going to read, I'm going out," came back Moses.

"What's the subject?" asked Senator Harrison (Democrat, Mississippi), pricking up his ears.

"The Scientific Political Training of President Coolidge," said Spencer in a loud voice.

"We didn't quit get that over here," interposed Senator Ashurst, (Democrat, Arizona), holding one hand on his ear. "It sounded to us as if you said the scientific political trading of President Coolidge. Is that right?"

"No," said Spencer explosively.

"Is it a romance?" inquired Senator Caraway (Democrat, Arkansas), mildly.

"No," repeated Spencer, slightly irritated. "It is a presentation of solid, substantial facts, which I am sure the Senate will be glad to hear."

Ensued sundry remonstrances and Caraway's plaintive, "I hope I won't have to hear it."

"I object," continued the adamant Moses, returning to the point at issue. And Spencer sat down and gace up. And thus the manuscript went into the waste basket.

Moses explained afterward that his main objection was purely a matter of expense and had nothing to do with politics because he is for Coolidge.

STORY OF MULCRONE DOUBTED

Detectives Say It Doesn't Tally With Facts in Colosimo Killing.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—After he had questioned James D. Mulcrone, arrested in St. Louis, where he is said to have confessed to the killing here two years ago of James Colosimo, restaurant owner, Michael Hughes, Chief of Detectives, said last night he "did not know what to think about the man."

Detectives say Mulcrone related his story of the shooting which he said occurred after Colosimo had ejected him from the restaurant for being drunk. The story does not tally with developments brought out by investigators after the killing, according to detectives, who are holding Mulcrone for further investigation.

Diploma Inquiry in Kansas City.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

piritual Uplifter' Closes 'College.'
By the Associated Press.

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 4.—As the first step toward keeping a promise made to the grand jury to close the Hartford Institute of Therapeutics, the Rev. George F. Cogswell, head of the institution, hung a "closed" sign on the door yesterday afternoon. Dr. Cogswell appeared before the grand jury which is investigating medical frauds in the State. He said he practiced healing as did the prophets of old by the lying on of hands and by "spiritual uplifts." He had patients "from Omaha, Neb., to Lewiston, Me.," he said.

Greer, Who Shot Mabel Normand's Host, Appears Without Counsel.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 4.—Horace A. Greer, alias Joe Kelly, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, film actress, appeared alone without counsel before Justice J. Walter Hanby today for arraignment on the charge of assaulting Courtland S. Dines, Denver oil operator, on New Year's night, with a deadly weapon "with intent to kill."

Greer's bail was fixed at $10,000, and his preliminary examination set for Jan. 11, provided Dines is in condition then to appear as a witness.

In default of bail, Greer was removed to the county jail.

Dines is holding his own, and Miss Normand, with Dines when he was shot, is resting easily, following her operation yesterday for appendicitis, according to an announcement today from the hospital of the Good Samaritan, where both are under treatment.

How and why and when a :25 caliber pistol belonging to Miss Normand found its way into the hands of Greer, who used it to shoot Dines continued to occupy the attention of police today.

Interest in the revolver with which Dines was shot was revived late yesterday when Greer told police that Mrs. Edith Burns, the actress' companion, knew that he carried a pistol when he went to Dines' apartment, and warned him to be "careful."

Both Mrs. Burns and Miss Normand insisted Wednesday that they had no idea how Greer could have obtained the pistol.

When Mrs. Burns, after telephoning Dines' apartment shortly before the shooting, turned to Greer and said: "See, he won't let her come home," the chauffeur thought that this was a time when "they needed" the pistol, and thereupon ran into Miss Normand's bedroom and took it. So he told the police. When Mrs. Burns was questioned again last night she at first denied positively having made such a remark, but later admitted that she might have said something to that effect.

Normand Pictures Barred by Memphis Board of Censors.
By the Associated Press.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 4.—John M. Dean, chairman of the local Board of Motion Picture Censors, said last night that films in which Mabel Normand appears would be barred permanently from local screens, as a result of the connection of her name with the shooting, Tuesday night, of Courtland S. Dines.

Exhibition of films in which Edna Purviance appears will be suspended until the Dines case is "cleared up," Dean stated.

Kansas Attorney-General Would Bar Mabel Normand's Films.

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 4.—The Kansas Motion Picture Censor Board was requested today by Attorney-General Griffith to bar from the State all films in which Mabel Normand appears.

SUICIDE VERDICT RETURNED IN CASE OF JULIUS KALTER

Clerk Testifies Head of Garment Company Appeared to Worry About Business Matters.

A verdict of suicide was returned by the Coroner today at the inquest into the case of Julius Kalter, president-treasurer of the Kalter-Goldberg Garment Co., 808 Washington avenue, who was found dead, a revolver in his hand and a bullet wound in his temple, in his private office Wednesday, when employes returned to work after the New Year's holiday.

Kalter, who was 53 and unmarried, failed to return to his home at 4542 Forest Park boulevard, Monday evening, and employes told police they left him at his desk at the end of the business day. Elmer Coons, of 3941 Eads avenue, a receiving clerk, was the only witness. He was asked if Kalter had appeared morose or despondent, and he replied that business had been dull, and that Kalter seemed to worry about it.

EXPERTS SAY NEW X-RAY TUBE IS BOON TO CANCER VICTIMS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—The new X-ray tube for cancer treatment, invented by Dr. C. T. Ulrey, research engineer of the Westinghouse Lamp Co., will be a boon to cancer victims not only in effectiveness, but also in cutting down the high expense of treatment.

This was the conclusion reached by experts after the new tube had been used successfully at St. Luke's Hospital during the last three months. Improvements being made on the apparatus are expected to result in great advances in the treatment of the disease.

Simultaneous with the announcement yesterday of the development of the new tube, it was announced from the research department of the Westinghouse company that another process was being perfected which would extend the use of the X-ray to internal cancer, for which no electrical treatment has yet been devised.

Dr. Ulrey's tube radiates five or six times as many curative rays as the ordinary tubes. The improvements have at the same time increased the life of the machine, resulting in a reduction in the cost of treatment.

MOTHER WILL OPPOSE EFFORT TO FREE THAW

Trustee of Stanford White's Slayer's Estate Issues Statement for Family.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 4.—Any effort to obtain the release of Harry K. Thaw from a sanitarium in Philadelphia will be opposed by his mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, Howard Irish, trustee of Harry K. Thaw's estate, announced here in a statement issued on behalf of the Thaw family.

Irish said Bartholomew B. Coyne, New York attorney, who has announced he would seek Thaw's freedom, "does not repre-us in any way." The statement sent us in any way." The statement follows:

"Speaking for Mrs. Thaw, the family and myself as trustee, Mr. Coyne does not represent us in any way. If any action such as reported in the press for Harry K. Thaw's release is started, it will be opposed by Mrs. Thaw and the family."

Thaw's Attorney Denied Permission to Consult Him.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4.—Efforts of Bartholomew B. Coyne, a New York lawyer, to obtain the release of Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, from the Pennsylvania Hospital for Mental and Nervous Diseases, received a setback when Coyne was refused admission to the institution yesterday where he had planned to confer with his client. Announcement that any attempt to obtain Thaw's freedom would be strenuously opposed also was made by former Judge James G. Gordon, counsel for Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, mother of the patient and "committee for his person," and by Mrs. Thaw herself.

Declaring that Thaw legally had been adjudged insane and under the law was incompetent to make a contract with any one, former Judge Gordon made it plain that that he would fight any move to obtain his freedom.

There never would have been an Expansion Sale if our constantly growing list of customers had not made it absolutely necessary to expand. They have made it possible for us to grow. For them we are going to have a finer store—a larger store—a greater store. But first must come the noise, dust and disorder of alterations; of busy workmen hammering, sawing, digging; of departments temporarily upset and disarranged. Yet we are going to expect our friends during this period and all who come will be amply rewarded by the marvelous values that await them.

MARVELOUS SAVINGS

This is NOT a sale devoted merely to the disposal of Winter Merchandise. True, we are offering our remaining Winter Stocks at sensational reductions, but of even greater importance is the fact that every New Spring garment or hat, the moment it arrives, is placed on sale at far below regular worth. Our Spring purchases have been as big, or bigger, than in the past. Each express brings us hundreds of fresh, new fashionable garments and hats; and EVERYTHING, the moment it arrives, is marked at a lower price than similar things have ever been offered.

LINDELL BLVD. TO BE REMADE THIS YEAR

Item Once Eliminated by the Bond Supervisory Committee Reinstated.

Lindell boulevard will be remade from Grand boulevard to King's highway as a part of the 1924 street repair program of the $87,000,000 municipal bond issue. This was decided upon at a rehearing yesterday afternoon before the Citizens' Supervisory Bond Issue Committee, which had previously eliminated the Lindell boulevard item.

Director of Streets and Sewers Fisk told the committee that the present cost of maintenance of this boulevard, one of the heaviest motor traffic lanes in the city, was such as to warrant earliest repairs on the ground of economy alone. Originally $126,000 was allotted for the Lindell boulevard item alone, under the plan of the city constructing the base and adjacent property owners the surface. A new base will not have to be constructed the entire distance, however, Fisk reported.

Where the present foundation of Telford stone is in bad condition a new foundation of concrete will be laid. The Telford will not be disturbed where the condition is good. The resurfacing will be of asphalt.

In approving the inclusion of Lindell boulevard in the 1924 street repair program, the committee advised Fisk that the total appropriation of $270,000 must not be exceeded, and it will be necessary for him to find the necessary funds from the other street repair items—about 10 in all.

Arthur Stoehr, member of the committee, withdrew his objection to the purchase of Lemp Park for $90,000 to be used as a community center, after O. J. McCawley, president of the Real Estate Exchange, said a committee of three real estate men had appraised its value in excess of that figure, and Park Commissioner Pape declared improvements on the property alone could not be duplicated for $50,000.

FOURTH FORECLOSURE SUIT AGAINST U. R.

Lindell Railway Bonds Basis of Action by Bankers' Trust Co. of New York.

The fourth foreclosure proceeding against properties of the United Railways Co. was filed today in the United States District Court. It was filed by the Bankers' Trust Co. of New York, as trustee, represented by Jordan, Rassieur & Pierce, and alleged default in the $1,500,000 issue of Lindell Railway bonds.

The Lindell Railway, as operated separately before the consolidation in 1899, consisted of the Page, Park and Compton lines, the Vandeventer and Taylor lines, and that part of the present Delmar line west of Taylor avenue.

The proceeding was filed by leave of the Court. The petition set forth that the bonds matured in 1911, and were extended in that year at the instance of the United Railways Co., and in 1921 at the instance of the receivership. They matured Oct. 1 last, and are now in default.

The largest of the pending foreclosure proceedings is that of the St. Louis & Suburban bondholders, filed Nov. 6, in which the Court was asked to appoint a separate receiver for the former Suburban lines, now the Hodiamont, Sarah, Manchester and Union divisions of the United Railways, and to segregate them from the remainder of the system. The amount of the Suburban bond issue is $6,500,000, and the Mississippi Valley Trust Co., as trustee, is plaintiff in the pending suit.

Another foreclosure proceeding now pending is on the $1,640,000 issue of the Cass Avenue and Fairgrounds line, with the Northern Trust Co., trustee, as plaintiff.

The only foreclosure proceeding thus far filed, affecting the United Railways $30,000,000 of general 4 per cent bonds, is that of H. C. von Boston, individual holder of $4000 worth of the bonds.

Issues in default, in which no foreclosure proceeding has thus far been filed, are those of the Compton Heights line, $986,000, and the Transit Co., $9,790,000.

Airship Wreck Not Yet Found.
PARIS, Jan. 4.—The Ministry of Marine up to 11:30 o'clock last night had no confirmation of the report of the finding of the wreck of the dirigible Dixmude, reported from Marseilles, or of two victims of the disaster, as reported in a Bizerta dispatch. The ministry regards the reports as highly improbable.

GOVERNMENT LIKELY TO APPEAL DYE CASE

Federal District Judge Dismisses German Chemical Patents Sale Suit.

By the Associated Press.

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 4.—Federal District Judge Morris, in an opinion filed here yesterday, ordered dismissal of the suit in equity brought to force return of the 5700 seized enemy dye and chemical patents sold to the Chemical Foundation, Incorporated, by the Alien Property Custodian in 1919, 1920 and 1921, for approximately $271,000.

The Government has a right of appeal, however, and Department of Justice officials at Washington have stated that steps will be taken to carry the case to the higher court.

The suit was regarded by Department of Justice officials as one of the most important instituted in a number of years. Its trial last summer consumed eight weeks.

A "combination, scheme and conspiracy" of the dye and chemical industry to bring about the sale was charged by the Government, but Judge Morris held that efforts to prove this had "failed utterly" despite "the generality of the allegations and the unlimited opportunity afforded the plaintiff to support them by evidence."

In Darkest Hours of War.

Judge Morris also held that "in the darkest hours of the war," Congress had purposely conferred upon President Wilson, acting through his agents, power to dispose of certain classes of enemy property, including dye and chemical patents, in the public interest, and he laid down the broad general principle that if the executive officers upon whom Congress conferred the authority for disposal of enemy property acted within the scope of their powers their acts were not subject to "judicial nullification and review."

Asserting that it was no longer debatable that there were restrictions upon the war power of Congress to confiscate enemy-owned property, Judge Morris said, the extent to which that right shall be exercised during any particular war is a matter of policy to be determined solely by Congress.

"Courts may inquire," he said, "whether an act passed by Congress is within the scope of its constitutional power; beyond that they may not go."

Power of Executives.

The Court also held that if the executive officers upon whom Congress conferred the power of disposal of enemy property acted within the scope of their powers their acts were not subject to judicial nullification and review.

Acts done within the field of power marked out by Congress, he added, are controlled only by the judgment and discretion of those to whom the power has been granted.

Suit Was Brought on Order of President Harding.

The suit against the Chemical Foundation, Inc., was brought on orders of the late President Harding Sept. 8, 1922, after the Foundation had refused to comply with a formal demand for return of the seized enemy dye and chemical patents.

The Government charged that both President Wilson and Acting Secretary of State Polk, who signed the first executive order authorizing a private sale, had been deceived as to the facts.

The Government insisted that Francis P. Garvan as Alien Property Custodian had made the sale to himself as president of the Chemical Foundation in violation of well-defined principles of law that a trustee may not sell to himself property which he holds in trust.

The Chemical Foundation undertook to show that the purpose of the transaction was to organize in this country an industry and chemical science free from alien domination.

The defense contended also that the negotiations for the sale had been completed by former Attorney-General A. Mitchell Palmer while he was Alien Property Custodian.

MRS. FANNIE PRICE, SUED FOR ALIENATION, NOT AT HOME

Her Lawyer Says Husband of Woman Who Sues for $75,000 Was Merely Her Agent.

There was no response at the home of Mrs. Fannie Bonner Price, 4540 Chouteau avenue, when a Post-Dispatch reporter called there today for a statement in connection with the $75,000 alienation suit filed against Mrs. Price yesterday by Mrs. Edna A. Cooper of 2708 Arkansas avenue. Mrs. Cooper alleged that Mrs. Price under the guise of a business partnership, enticed her husband, Sheridan Cooper, away from her.

Mrs. Price has made no statement concerning the suit, and efforts to interview her yesterday were unavailing. Her attorney, Ephrim Caplan, believes she is out of the city.

Caplan said the relation between Mrs. Price and Cooper was purely that of principal and agent. He said the serious illness of Mrs. Price's invalid father demands all her time and that Cooper was merely the agent through which she transacted her business.

Mrs. Price formerly was president of the Women's Chamber of Commerce, and at one time was an unsuccessful candidate for the School Board.

COOLIDGE GAINS STRENGTH; HOPE OF DEMOCRATS FALLS

President Is "Getting the Breaks" and Johnson Is Not Now Expected to Cause Serious Trouble.

EXECUTIVE'S POLICY SENDS UP HIS STOCK

He Is a Stronger Candidate Than Harding Would Have Been and Democrats Must Fight.

By CHARLES G. ROSS.
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The outstanding political fact at the opening of the presidential election year of 1924 is the gain in strength which President Coolidge has made since he took office last August. The same man who faced the danger of having to surrender second place on the Republican ticket in favor of a candidate of presumably greater pulling power, is now, by long odds the leading candidate for first place. Only some untoward circumstance of the most momentous character can prevent the President from getting the nomination. There are no present signs that Hiram Johnson will cause him serious trouble.

As a corollary to the rise of the Coolidge stock there has come a corresponding slump in the confident enthusiasm with which the Democrats, six months ago, looked forward to the 1924 balloting. Reasoning from the expectation that Harding would be renominated, the Democrats saw the 1924 result as a glorified reproduction of the trimming that the Republicans of the Harding persuasion received in 1922. And there was ample ground for their hopes. The unrest in the farming sections, widespread dissatisfaction with the President's ship subsidy policy, almost universal complaint against the continuing burden of high taxes, popular disapproval of the seating of Newberry in the Senate, as evidenced by the defeat of a large proportion of the Senators who supported him—these and other manifestations of the waning popularity of the Harding regime were appraised by the Democrats as the harbingers of victory. They expected that the record of the present Congress would make assurance doubly sure.

Stronger Than Harding.

But the Democrats reckoned without the whim of fate that lifted Calvin Coolidge from comparative obscurity into the presidency. It is no reflection on the late President to say that Coolidge, through his own acts as well as through circumstances beyond his control, has become a stronger candidate for 1924 than Harding would have been. Politicians of both parties know that this is so. The Democrats cannot hope to win simply by giving the Republicans rope with which to hang themselves. Given a rope, Mr. Coolidge is more likely to hog-tie an opponent than to hurt himself. To win, the Democrats must put up a real fight—and it must be a fight based on some positive policy and not a policy of mere negation.

The secret of the President's greater strength as a candidate than Mr. Harding's probable strength, had he lived, lies not alone in the fact that Mr. Coolidge, while inheriting the assets of his predecessor, was forgiven most of the liabilities. Some share of his prestige must be ascribed to his forthright acts and utterances in several matters of public policy.

Mr. Harding was at his best in the role of conciliator. None realized this more fully than he himself. He conceived that the country needed, more than anything else, a pourer of oil on troubled political and economic waters and he believed, without vanity, that he was admirably fitted for this task. But the work of the harmonizer, however, useful at times, does not build up the enthusiastic loyalty that men like Roosevelt and Wilson receive as the reward of uncompromising blows at an antagonist. Too often for the good of his own reputation, the harmonizer incurs the ill will, or at most the tepid good will, of those whom he seeks to bring together.

Coolidge Has Considerable Punch.

Mr. Harding accomplished some good results in his particular field, most notably the accord among the nations at the Washington armistice conference, but he did not go much beyond the confines of that field, into the sphere of hard-hitting activity. His nature was essentially one of compromise. He wanted, if he could, to satisfy everybody. He did not as a rule go the whole way.

Now, Mr. Coolidge has shown that on occasion he can go the whole way, and thereby has disposed, in the applause that has

Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The outstanding political fact at the opening of the presidential election year of 1924 is the gain in strength which President Coolidge has made since he took office last August. The same man who faced the danger of having to surrender second place on the Republican ticket in favor of a candidate of presumably greater pulling power, is now, by long odds the leading candidate for first place. Only some untoward circumstance of the most momentous character can prevent the President from getting the nomination. There are no present signs that Hiram Johnson will cause him serious trouble.

As a corollary to the rise of the Coolidge stock there has come a corresponding slump in the confident enthusiasm with which the Democrats, six months ago, looked forward to the 1924 balloting. Reasoning from the expectation that Harding would be renominated, the Democrats saw the 1924 result as a glorified reproduction of the trimming that the Republicans of the Harding persuasion received in 1922. And there was ample ground for their hopes. The unrest in the farming sections, widespread dissatisfaction with the President's ship subsidy policy, almost universal complaint against the continuing burden of high taxes, popular disapproval of the seating of Newberry in the Senate, as evidenced by the defeat of a large proportion of the Senators who supported him—these and other manifestations of the waning popularity of the Harding regime were appraised by the Democrats as the harbingers of victory. They expected that the record of the present Congress would make assurance doubly sure.

Stronger Than Harding.

But the Democrats reckoned without the whim of fate that lifted Calvin Coolidge from comparative obscurity into the presidency. It is no reflection on the late President to say that Coolidge, through his own acts as well as through circumstances beyond his control, has become a stronger candidate for 1924 than Harding would have been. Politicians of both parties know that this is so. The Democrats cannot hope to win simply by giving the Republicans rope with which to hang themselves. Given a rope, Mr. Coolidge is more likely to hog-tie an opponent than to hurt himself. To win, the Democrats must put up a real fight—and it must be a fight based on some positive policy and not a policy of mere negation.

The secret of the President's greater strength as a candidate than Mr. Harding's probable strength, had he lived, lies not alone in the fact that Mr. Coolidge, while inheriting the assets of his predecessor, was forgiven most of the liabilities. Some share of his prestige must be ascribed to his forthright acts and utterances in several matters of public policy.

Mr. Harding was at his best in the role of conciliator. None realized this more fully than he himself. He conceived that the country needed, more than anything else, a pourer of oil on troubled political and economic waters and he believed, without vanity that he was admirably fitted for this task. But the work of the harmonizer, however, useful at times, does not build up the enthusiastic loyalty that men like Roosevelt and Wilson receive as the reward of uncompromising blows at an antagonist. Too often for the good of his own reputation, the harmonizer incurs the ill will, or at most the tepid good will, of those whom he seeks to bring together.

Coolidge Has Considerable Punch.

Mr. Harding accomplished some good results in his particular field, most notably the accord among the nations at the Washington armistice conference, but he did not go much beyond the confines of that field, into the sphere of hard-hitting activity. His nature was essentially one of compromise. He wanted, if he could, to satisfy everybody. He did not as a rule go the whole way.

Now, Mr. Coolidge has shown that on occasion he can go the whole way, and thereby has disproved, in the applause that has come to him, the governing philosophy of those among Congressmen who believe they must turn on every important issue in order to hold their jobs. Mr. Coolidge has not yet demonstrated that he has the fighting qualities of a Roosevelt or a Wilson, but he has proved himself the possessor of a considerable punch—a punch that follows through.

He has shown that the public likes to be fed something more than a milk-toast diet by its public men—that it can stand, now and then, a piece of raw beefsteak.

The case of the political prisoners furnishes as good an example as anything else of the fundamental difference between the two Presidents. When Mr. Harding, under public pressure, decided to do something for these victims of the war-time hysteria, he went half way. He liberated some of the prisoners, under conditions, hoping thereby to appease liberal sentiment without incurring the hostility of the American Legion. He failed in both respects. Liberals assailed him for not going far enough and the legion condemned him for acting at all. Mr. Coolidge, by contrast, went the limit—he freed all the remaining prisoners, without conditions. The liberals applauded, legion officers issued a protest—in which not all the rank and file concurred—and the issue was settled, once and for all.

Again Mr. Harding never issued a hot-footed declaration against the bonus. He opposed the bonus bill, he said, because it did not carry its own means of financing. Mr. Coolidge in his message plainly stated his opposition without qualification.

Again when Mr. Harding saw that an injustice had been done by the summary discharge of 28 division chiefs of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, he attempted to make amends by restoring their civil service status, but not their old jobs. President Coolidge is now giving back the jobs.

Mr. Coolidge is "getting the breaks." A threatened third party movement "flivvers" when Henry Ford indorses him. The seeds of the Johnson campaign fall on stony ground. The Mellon plan strikes a popular chord.

The President would seem to be, indeed, a favored son of destiny. But he isn't trusting to destiny alone to get him another term; he's helping it along materially with his own positive stand on a number of questions.

He's keeping his powder dry.

MISSOURIAN WHO WILL OPERATE U. S SHIPS

LEIGH C. PALMER.

FLEET CORPORATION WILL OPERATE GOVERNMENT SHIPS

Shipping Board to Become Largely An Advisory Agency—Palmer To Head Corporation.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Decision was reached at a shipping conference last night at the White House to place operation and control of Government-owned merchant tonnage in the hands of the Emergency Fleet Corporation with Leigh C. Palmer, former chief of the Navy Department's Bureau of Navigation, as president.

The decision is in line with recommendations recently submitted to President Coolidge by Chairman Jones of the Senate Commerce Committee and was approved by those attending the conference.

Under the plan the shipping board will become more of a regulatory and advisory agency. The vacancy on the board caused by the resignation of Chairman Farley, following an adverse report on his nomination by the Senate Commerce Committee, probably will be filled by appointment of a man from the Middle West.

The decision to divorce fleet operation from the shipping board and place it under the Emergency Fleet Corporation is the first step taken by the President in his endeavor to formulate a definite merchant marine policy. Chairman Jones in his recommendations to the President asserted that much fault had been found with the management of the Government-owned ships by the shipping board and urged that the powers, duties and properties involved be lodged with one man or some organization headed by one man.

HIRAM JOHNSON ATTACKS SALE OF ARMS TO MEXICO

Senator, Opening His Ohio Campaign, Compares Administration Policy to That of Metternich.

ASSAILS G. O. P. NATIONAL COMMITTEE

Favors Tax Reduction, but Asks Who Is Back of Tremendous Propaganda for Mellon Plan.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 4.—An attack on the Republican National Committee for its action in increasing Southern representation in the National Convention, and on the administration for supplying arms and ammunition to the Obregon forces in Mexico marked the address of Senator Hiram Johnson of California, in opening his Ohio campaign for the presidential nomination.

Senator Johnson, who spoke here last night, made a frontal attack on the foreign policy of the administration, approved a soldiers' bonus, cautioned the people to look carefully into the Mellon tax plan, although he advocated a reduction in taxes, and urged help for farmers by a large reduction in freight rates and through co-operative societies. He finished with an arraignment of those who would have this country join the World Court.

"Certain People Deplore Election."

"I have recently observed that certain people, including the distinguished Detroit manufacturer, have deplored that we should have an election this year," said Senator Johnson, "and many politicians denounce me because I have interfered with the serenity of the occasion and have not permitted their plans for a nomination by default to be consummated. I shall not concede that collectors of revenue, United States Marshals, Postmasters and other office holders may themselves alone nominate candidates for the presidency.

"The leaders on the other side have demonstrated by their recent actions their contempt for the men and women who in reality constitute the Republican party. Our opponents do not believe in direct primaries and direct legislation. I insist that the Republicans in Ohio shall have an equal right in determining the nominee for President with the Republicans in South Carolina. Obviously our opponents do not so believe.

"Just as pollution at the source of the stream will pollute the whole stream, wrong and injustice in the selection of delegates to a National Convention will permeate and taint the very convention itself."

Senator Johnson reviewed the action of the 1920 Republican Convention in reducing Southern representation and said it was "a step in the right direction," as it was a basis for further reduction. He then told of the recent action of the National Committee "under the order of our opponents" in again giving them the original representation and termed it "scandalous and unfair representation."

"Outrageously Unfair" Plan.

"I speak of this outrageously unfair selection of delegates because there is real service we can render," said the Senator. "Nine Southern States—Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Texas and Virginia—polled 489,000 votes for President Harding. These nine States have 134 delegates. Ohio polled 1,182,000 votes for President Harding and Ohio has 51 delegates to the convention.

"There is not the remotest possibility of a single Republican elector being chosen in any one of these nine Southern States, and yet the Republican National Committee recently increased the representation, contemptuously repudiated the mandate of the National Convention of 1920 and broke faith with the rank and file of the Republican party. These Southern delegates are selected by commands issued in the City of Washington to a very few Federal office holders in the different States. The action of the National Committee is a reversion to the abhorrent conditions from which we thought we had emerged. It is this system upon which we war."

Denounces Sale of Arms.

Senator Johnson stated that "the United States is furnishing arms and ammunitions to Obregon in Mexico to fight revolutionists there."

"It is done, as stated by the Secretary of State, to maintain stability and order and constitutional procedure in the neighboring republic," Senator Johnson said.

"But whatever the merits of the revolution, I have no hesitation in saying our action is immoral if not illegal. What an anomalous and paradoxical position is ours today; we, who were born in revolution. The United States Government finally says to the people inhabiting this continent, 'If you dare fight for what you deem to be right, if you raise your hand against oppression and wrong, the most powerful nation of the world will come to the aid of those who you think are your oppressors and will maintain existing power!'"

The Senator compared this attitude with that of Metternich of sands?"

"It may be that we do not know our foreign policy because we have none, but even the fact that we have none, the American people have the right to know," said the Senator. He said that the recent message of the President said "we attend to our own affairs" but in deeds we attend not only to the affairs of our neighboring nation but of the nations of Europe."

He said the message held out a welcoming hand to Russia, but, through the Secretary of State, the administration turns its back upon Russia.

"A foreign policy," said the Senator, "that says the League of Nations is a closed incident and then attempts to take us into a part of that League constitutes a record of foreign policy which needs the obscuring screen of a tax reduction scheme."

Tax Plan Propaganda.

The Senator then went into the taxation problem.

"There can be no political issue on reduction of taxes," he said.

He then said that there was a surplus of $350,000,000 on hand and that we should reduce just as much as possible.

"We have never in this country had anything like the propaganda we now have in behalf of the so-called Mellon plan," he continued. "It was the propaganda most carefully prepared and stimulated. Under the Mellon plan the men who pay on $250,000 will save $49,000 a year; he who pays on $300,000 will save $63,000; those who have incomes of $500,000 will save $117,000; the fortunate one who has an income of a million will save $252,000 and the few who pay on $5,000,000, will save $1,330,000.

"Who is it that is indulging in this propaganda? Do you imagine it is the man who by a reduction will save $10 or $30 or $50 or $100, or do you think it is the individuals who will save in the thousands?

Senator Johnson said that with few exceptions the bonus had been promised by the leaders of the Republican party.

Referring to the World Court, the Senator said:

"We cannot enter this creature of the league without ultimately being entangled in the league itself. It is not a World Court we are asked to enter. It is the League of Nations Court.

"There is just one reason for our entry into the league court and that is our entry will finally take us into the league."

HOW MELLON FIGURES 25 PER CENT SURTAX WILL GET BEST RETURN FROM RICH

Percentage Based on Treasury Logic of Return on Investment After Deducting Tax; Means to Fight It Out on Line Taken.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20-23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The Treasury Department has given the Post-Dispatch an outline of the official diagnosis on which Secretary Mellon arrived at 25 per cent as the figure for surtaxes upon which the Government would realize the most satisfactory returns on big business.

This figure, halving the present rate of 50, is the principal target of the attacks on the Mellon bill by the Democrats as well as the insurgent Republicans, who see in it a scheme to relieve the rich and make it impossible to pay a soldiers' bonus.

Incidentally the Treasury made it clear that Secretary Mellon would not compromise on 35 per cent or any similar figure for surtaxes, thus spoiling the plans of some Republicans who saw in the intermediate percentage a way around the strenuous opposition to the big cut.

Secretary Mellon holds that the Mellon bill is either sound or it is not. If it is sound, then the suggested compromise is unsound. He sees no excuse for compromise and indicates that the administration means to fight it out for the bill as it stands. The Secretary already has let it be known that if there is any re-enactment of the excess profits taxes—another favorite idea of the Democrats and the Republican Progressives—he would do what he could to have the bill withdrawn entirely.

Basis of Treasury Figures.

Following is the logic on which the Treasury bases its adherence to the 25 per cent:

"The question, of course, is one which is presented to every business man when he is called upon to make an investment. He considers first what the net return of the investment should be before income taxes. He then deducts from this investment return his income tax and he determines how much it would actually net to him. If the last return is too small as compared with the risks of the investment, he puts no money in the proposition.

"As an example, a man with $200,000 income would only have 5 per cent to him out of an investment which would return about 12 per cent, and only 6 per cent net to him out of an investment which would return 14¼ per cent. Now, investments with these high returns ordinarily are speculative, and a prudent man will not go into a speculative investment which returns him only 5 or 6 per cent.

"On the other hand, with a 31 per cent peak of taxation—being 6 per cent normal tax and 25 per cent surtax—one can get a 6 per cent net to the taxpayer on an 8 2-3 return and a 5 per cent net to the taxpayer on 7¼ per cent return. If you have a total tax of only 20 per cent, the taxpayer can get 6 per cent net to him out of a 7½ per cent investment and a 5 per cent net to him out of 6¼ per cent investment.

No Definite Line Found.

"There is no definite line between a tax which will permit an investment and a tax which will deter an investment, because in each case the investor determines for himself whether the risk in the investment is greater than justified by the return which the investor will receive after his taxes.

"It is perfectly clear that no prudent man would consider an 11 per cent return before taxes as the equal in safety to a 4½ per cent municipal bond, and yet, if his income is large, under present rates he would have for his own use the same money from each.

"When this country really gets back to a peace-time basis of taxation, it is probable that, including normal and surtax, a total tax of 10 per cent will yield to the Government the most revenue with the least disturbance to business. This is the tithe of the ancient Hebrew Scripture which has always been considered a fairly heavy tax."

Selection of 25 Per Cent.

It was further explained on behalf of Secretary Mellon that the 25 per cent figure was selected as being sufficiently high to cause no question, and yet certain to bring in more revenue than the rate of the present law. In other words, knowing the opposition to lowering the surtax in the last Congress, Mellon placed the figure a little higher than he would have done had he only been arguing an academic question.

Much time has been spent by Treasury experts in seeking to find the exact saturation point of the surtax—the rate which would yield the Government the largest revenue. Actuary McCoy estimated it was somewhere under 25 per cent. Dr. Adams, the tax expert formerly connected with the Treasury Department, figured 15 per cent. Mellon has doubtlessly figured a lower rate than 25 per cent would net a bigger return in taxes, but believes the saturation point is a matter of opinion. It has never been accurately or absolutely determined. So the 25 per cent rate was determined on as one reasonable to recommend.

The experts at the Treasury are certain that the tax return diminishes when the rate starts upward from 25 per cent because of the inability to figure on the uncertainty of individual investments. The surtax possibilities never have been charted and the Treasury possesses no tables showing where the return begins to fall off as the rate moves upward.

Question Occurring in Trade.

It was pointed out that the question the Treasury has been studying occurs in all trade. If the merchant puts his price on goods too high he gets a greater profit but his sales fall off. If his price is too low his profit is not sufficient though his sales increase. He must determine the figure that will give him enough sales to realize the greatest profit. The Treasury has had no opportunity to experiment with surtax rates to find where the saturation point is, but Mellon is convinced it is somewhere under 25 per cent rather than above it.

SPENCER SEES PRESIDENT AGAIN

Senator Calls Before 9 A. M. to Discuss Judgeship.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Senator Spencer of Missouri called upon President Coolidge before 9 o'clock this morning relative to the vacant Federal judgeship for the Eastern District of Missouri. This made the second visit within three days.

The President is expected to make nominations early next week to the Senate.

When asked if he had been requested to make any other recommendation than that of Judge Garesche, Senator Spencer said, "I was not asked to name another man and I am still for Judge Garesche." He said no indication was given him as to when the nomination would be sent to the Senate.

LABOR PLAN, FIRST PRINTED HERE, IS SEEN BY LONDON

Article by Macdonald, the New Premier, Reproduced in British Press Over Post-Dispatch and New York World Credit.

PRECEDENT SET IN REPLY TO ASQUITH

"Fleet Sheet and Political Clubs Upset by Novel Method of Publicity" on New Pronouncement.

From the London Bureau of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1924, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch

LONDON, Jan. 4.—Ramsay Macdonald's article in the Post-Dispatch and the New York World of Wednesday was reproduced by the whole British press yesterday. The Times, Daily Mail and other principal newspapers made it their principal news feature, carrying the article over the Post-Dispatch and New York World copyright line.

The appearance in America of this important constitutional pronouncement by an incoming Premier before it was known in England has aroused much comment.

The Outlook says: "Mr. Macdonald set a new and curious precedent when he replied to Mr. Asquith, not in a speech or letter to the Times or a message to a constituent, but in an article written for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and New York World.

"The day when this was published in St. Louis and New York, London witnessed the curious spectacle of editors and politicians seeking to ascertain from the United States exactly what was the important constitutional pronouncement involving prerogatives of the throne made by our incoming Prime Minister and when Mr. Macdonald's article finally came out in London it appeared under the American newspapers' copyright line.

"This novel method of publicity, however upsetting to Fleet street and the political clubs, does not detract from the importance of what Mr. Macdonald wrote. He demonstrated the fallacy of Mr. Asquith's argument. Mr Asquith, however, at his own expense, has cleared the air by putting the weight of his authority behind the untenable suggestion that the King could refuse a dissolution of Parliament to Labor.

"No wthat Mr. Macdonald has spoken out we know where we stand. The country will have to endure another election in the spring or early summer. We imagine no one in England is more pleased than His Majesty that Mr. Macdonald has dealt with Mr. Asquith promptly and clearly."

The Evening Star, a Liberal organ, suggests that now the two leaders might "declare it a drawn battle and leave the dissolution issue to settle itself when it arises."

The Manchester Guardian comments: "If Mr. Macdonald forms a Government it is clear he will do so with the full intention of carrying it on. The question of a dissolution is only likely to arise where there is occasion for a dissolution and then there would be no doubt as to the action of the Crown."

Macdonald Said to Be Ready to Announce Cabinet.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—Most of the political gossips have abandoned the suggestion of an agreement betwen the Liberals and Conservatives to frustrate the Labor party.

Ramsay Macdonald, the Labor leader, is returning to London from Lossiemouth, Scotland, where he went for a week's vacation, and reports have it that he comes back with his plans so perfected that if he is called upon to take over the permiership he will be able to announce his Cabinet within 24 hours

HUGHES GIVES OUT MORE COMMUNISTS PROPAGANDA

Publishes Letter to Paper in America to Sustain His Refusal to Deal With Russia.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Further evidence of communist propaganda in the United States, in the form of a translation of a communication addressed "to American communists," was published today as part of Secretary Hughes' defense of the administration's policy of refusing to deal with Soviet Russia under present conditions.

The communication, which appeared in the Moscow Pravda, Dec. 14, 1923, purported to have been "written at the request of the American comrades." It is signed by G. Zinovieff.

Zinovieff is identified in the State Department's announcement as "president of the Petrograd Soviet; president of the Communist International; member of the All-Russian Central Executive Committee and member of the Federation Central Executive Committee."

The article translated hails the advent of a daily communist daily newspaper in America as a "great event not only for the American labor movement, but also for the whole communist international."

"Let the American comrades * * * labor to conquest before all the hearts of the American proletariat, to snatch the American working class and its labor unions out of the tenacious dead embrace of Gompers and other agents of capital. But let the foremost American workers with unwavering energy labor at the same time to win over to the side of the workers the small farmers."

ST. LOUIS GAINS FAVOR IN CONTEST FOR NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

James E. Smith Reports Promises of Support From Several Committeewomen—May Take $125,000 to Land Meeting.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20-23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—"St. Louis has better than an even chance for the Democratic National Convention," James E. Smith, in charge of making arrangements for St. Louis' bid for the 1924 convention, said late yesterday, following conferences with Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, committeewoman from Missouri and chairman of the women's bureau, and other party leaders.

Smith was enthusiastic over St. Louis' prospects. He indicated he had received favorable promises on support from committeewomen, who will be a deciding factor in the selection, and from committeemen known to be favorable to the McAdoo candidacy, although McAdoo men are reluctant to express a choice between St. Louis and Chicago. None, however, has been known to express a choice for New York. Among other party leaders Smith met was Thomas G. Love, National Committeeman from Texas, who has publicly stated that he is for St. Louis first and then Chicago.

Point Against Chicago.

Smith told friends he was delighted at the failure of the Chicago delegation to pledge no profiteering by the hotel men. Democratic politicians here have expressed themselves as being unfavorable to Chicago for one of the reasons the Republicans advanced, that the Chicago hotel keepers were and are still unwilling to announce definite reasonable charges.

Well-informed advisers here told Smith that it probably would take $125,000 to get the convention. They emphasized, however, that this was not to be considered as giving the convention to the highest bidder. They pointed out that Chicago and San Francisco had paid that price, and cited the Democratic statement that the California convention cost the party $140,000.

Smith, before leaving last night, made hotel arrangements for the St. Louis delegation which will arrive Jan. 12 to present St. Louis' invitation formally to the committee, meeting Jan. 15. The delegation will have headquarters at the New Willard Hotel.

Campaign Next Week to Raise $49,000 Balance of Convention Fund.

Confidence that the balance of the $100,000 minimum fund sought in the effort to bring the Democratic national convention to St. Louis will be pledged during the concentrated three-day campaign next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, was expressed by speakers before nearly 100 members of the Finance Committee at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon.

Instructions were given that all members of the committee who will participate in the drive, and most members are expected to do so, report at the Chamber of Commerce at 9 a. m., Monday. Reports of the first day's campaign will be made at a luncheon Monday at noon. Similar luncheons will follow a morning of solicitation on Tuesday and Wednesday.

$51,000 Already Subscribed.

It was reported yesterday that $51,000 of the $100,000 has been pledged. Previous announcements said that approximately $60,000 had been raised, but this amount was found to contain some duplications.

The political situation at Washington looks favorable to St. Louis as the convention city, James E. Smith, president of the Mississippi Valley Association, who is in Washington to ascertain conditions, wired yesterday. The telegram, read at the meeting, follows:

"Everything still looks favorable for St. Louis. Only unfavorable factor is that it is known here that we are still raising money, while Chicago and New York have theirs ready. Held important conferences here yesterday and believe St. Louis can get the plum. Chicago most dangerous and very active. Suggest raising $125,000 to be in safe position."

Not Partisan Affair.

"This campaign for the convention is in nowise a partisan affair," said Walter B. Weisenburger, assistant to the president of the National Bank of Commerce, who called the meeting to order and presided. "No one organization is behind the movement," he continued. "Many organization leaders and individuals believe the convention would be a big thing for St. Louis and are after it for the advertising it will give the city and for the money the delegates and visitors will spend here. I conservatively estimate that expenditure will be $1,500,000.

"We are not going out to strong-arm persons. We are merely going to crystallize sentiment for the convention so that we can go down to Washington with a certified check backing up our invitation."

Richard S. Hawes, vice president of the First National Bank, pointed out that the $100,000 which St. Louis gives for the convention would all be brought back here and expended for convention expenses and that in addition the city would benefit by the expenditures of the delegates and visitors as individuals.

Big Advertising Asset.

"Can anyone dispute that the convention will be the biggest asset the city could get?" Hawes asked. "The name of St. Louis will be on the tongues of millions of persons throughout the country. It will be the St. Louis platform and the St. Louis candidate. That is the kind of advertising which can't be bought."

W. Frank Carter, chairman of the Citizens' Committee supervising the $87,000,000 bond issue expenditures, began his talk by remarking that "I've been referred to as 'the hired man of the city.' I have been more or less on the firing line for the past seven years and all I've got out of it was to get up at midnight or go to my office in the morning and receive an anonymous letter asking what my motives were.

"I'm a Democrat," he continued, "but I would feel just as much interested in this convention for St. Louis if I were a Republican.

Carter's Plea for Action.

"You have started out to get the convention. In the seven years that St. Louis has been trying to get back to her rightful place among cities we have never failed in a civic enterprise. I believe the Democratic convention will be one of the most interesting such gatherings ever held. If you fail to raise the money for it you've 'black-eyed' every successful effort of the city in the past. It's our job to put this thing over, not as individuals, but as citizens. We must go out and get it. It's a street walking job and I for one will do my damnedest."

Mayor Kiel said the Democratic convention would be the biggest drawing card in the country, this year. The Republican convention will be uneventful without a contest for the presidential nomination, in his opinion. He believes the Democratic National Committee is as anxious to come to St. Louis as the city is to have it come. He cited the fact that the last Democratic President was nominated here in 1916.

H. W. Geller, president of the Conventions and Publicity Bureau; M. E. Holderness, vice president of the First National Bank; Robert E. Lee, secretary of the Automobile Dealers' and Manufacturers' Association; W. Palmer Clarkson, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Walter McNab Miller, Republican delegate to the Constitutional Convention; Carl F. G. Meyer, president of the Advertising Club, and Mrs. Alex J. Goodwin, president of the Women's Chamber of Commerce, each made brief talks predicting success for the campaign.

Women Taking Active Part.

Mrs. Fred A. Reid, secretary of the women's division, told that the women had organized earlier yesterday afternoon. Virtually all of nearly 100 women present took out pledge cards and the names of individuals to solicit. They started their work today and will report at the Monday luncheon.

Attention of solicitors was called to the fact that 5 per cent of the amount pledged must be paid immediately and will not be returned. The balance of the pledge will not be called for if the convention goes elsewhere. The 5 per cent is for administration expenses and should be paid not later than Jan. 12. The Finance Committee has opened offices in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 511 Locust street.

An Ex-Service Man's View.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I NOTE from your editorials that you are against the soldiers' bonus and say some of the ex-service men don't want a bonus. This may be true, but the writer is an ex-service man and does want the bonus and feels that every ex-service man is really entitled to it, and among all of my acquaintances and associates who are also ex-service men I have never met one who doesn't think we are entitled to the bonus.

Mr. Mellon claims that if the bonus bill passes there can be no tax reduction and will stagnate business and prosperity. Why?

The President claims the reason he is against the bonus is because it will require millions of dollars to finance it and that the country is now in a prosperous condition and every ex-service man can find remunerative employment. If so, the millions of dollars paid to the soldiers will be put back into circulation, which will literally flood the country with money; will this cause hard times? If so, why?

The writer spent 18 months overseas in hard service, gave up a good position here, where he was making good money, and has been unable to secure a position where he could do anything like as well since he came back to this great, prosperous country, and feels that he is entitled to some compensation for his losses; if not, why?

AN EX-SERVICE MAN.

Cruelty in Trapping.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

AGAIN I ask your indulgence in expressing my thanks for your article, "The Price of a Skin."

Since writing my last note to you we found on our plantation a most beautiful collie dog caught in a terrible trap. He had been missed from his home a week and had gnawed his foot and leg to get them out of the trap till there was hardly anything left but a stump. He was so exhausted, we picked him up and carried him in like a baby, and eventually he had to be shot and put out of his misery. I wish to remark here the trap was placed on our property without our knowledge. If only the public realized this terrible cruelty, it would legislate against it and humane methods could be substituted. I am always grateful for humane suggestions as to trapping, and again thank you for exposing cruelties of trapping.

Sanitarium Needs an Entertainment Hall

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE Ben Akiba Aid society is a charitable and philanthropic organization, dispersing funds and good cheer in many quarters. Among its philanthropies is a monthly entertainment to the inmates of the City Sanitarium. It seems that while there are several thousand inmates who could enjoy this entertainment, only a small number can attend because there is no adequate space where these entertainments may be held.

Some of our good ladies took up this matter with Mr. Nelson Cunliff and he said that the need of an auditorium at the sanitarium has long been known and he is heartily in favor of one. However, he said if this matter were to receive a great deal of publicity through the newspapers as a request from the people, in due time proper measures will probably be taken to supply this needed auditorium.

Therefore, we take the privilege of asking you through your newspaper, if possible, to bring this request to proper notice. Thanking you for this courtesy we are, respectfully, yours,

BEN AKIBA AID SOCIETY.

Where Were Gus Nations' Eyes?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

REFERRING to item in this morning's paper entitled "Dry Agent's Dream Realized in Sober New Year's Parties," I wonder if they have woke up yet. If Mr. Nations was at the Chase Hotel or any other hotel on New Year's eve and did not see the Volstead law violated, he must have been blind, or did not care to be put on the pan as he was last year. I visited the Chase about 12:30 New Year's eve and there were plenty of high-balls to be had. Apparently Mr. Nations advised the management that he was in the lobby and a recess was taken for five minutes until his departure.

Why pick on the two at Cafferata's? You used good judgment to lay off the Chase, but it seems like class enforcement when the poor birds at Cafferata's were made the goat just because they didn't belong to the high brows.

FACTS ABOUT TAXES.

Just what the tax-reduction plan proposed by Secretary Mellon of the Treasury Department will accomplish was presented at length in the Post-Dispatch Thursday. Some of the figures, of course, are estimates. That is necessarily the case in the matter of totals. But the individual citizen, particularly the man of fixed income such as the wage earner and salaried and professional man can tell exactly how he will be benefited. There will be a reduction of 25 per cent in earned incomes up to $6000. For illustration, the married man, with two children, who now pays $28 on an income of $4000, will have his tax bill cut to $15.75. There are 4,658,200 $4000 men in the country.

But the $4000 man is not the largest income tax-paying class. He is outnumbered almost two to one by the men who earn from $1000 to $2000. To be exact, there are 7,308,200 of the latter.

Just above the $4000 man is the class that earns from $4000 to $6000, of whom there are 1,158,200.

Those three classes, aggregating 13,124,600 persons, constitute the tax-paying public numerically. There are only 889,550 persons in the United States with incomes above $6000.

In the face of those facts it is easy to see why the Mellon tax reduction program has been so well received. It is easy to see why members of Congress have been deluged with letters urging them to pass this bill or prepare a measure equally good.

It is the 13,000,000 taxpayers that are talking. It is vox populi on the job.

The Democrats like Representative Garner of Texas and Senator Simmons of North Carolina and Mr. Bryan of perennial presidential hope, who charge Mr. Mellon with having proposed tax legislation for the rich are either unfamiliar with the facts or are trying to make partisan political capital out of a subject which is far above the level of partisan politics.

Tax reduction is not political. It is economic, obviously, but it is more than economic; in the widest and purest sense of the word it is social. The removal of the present burden of taxation in the amount proposed by the Mellon plan means that the people of the United States will have millions of dollars for food, clothes, education and recreation which are now being absorbed by taxes and spent with the proverbial extravagance of government.

As for the proposed reductions in the surtaxes on big incomes, Mr. Mellon points out that there is nothing political in that. The same recommendation was made by his two predecessors in office since the war, Mr. Houston and Mr. Glass, both of whom were Democrats. They made the recommendation for the same reason that Mr. Mellon makes it—because excessive taxes is driving those incomes out of industry into tax-exempt securities. Men will not undertake the hazard of large ventures unless there is a chance for proportionate returns. Where a tax rate precludes the possibility of such reward capital shakes its head and goes into the cloistered safety of nontaxable bonds. That is not a theory. It is a historical, universal fact.

So the Mellon tax or something just as good is the alternative submitted by a bloc of 13,000,000 voters.

FREE HEALTH LECTURES.

The staff of the Medical School of Washington University is to be commended for its decision to give another series of public lectures on medicine and public health. These lectures will be given on Thursday evenings, from Jan. 10 to March 6, inclusive, at the Medical School, Scott and Euclid avenue, and will cover especially advice on caring for the health of children; the problems of adolescence, and miscellaneous subjects regarding the more important ailments of adults.

Such free public lectures, given by well known specialists in the medical profession, are an evidence of the public-spirited desire of our leading doctors to improve the health of the people by making known to them the best conditions for health and the avoidance of errors that make disease more frequent and more deadly.

The lectures should be well attended, especially by parents. And the titles of the lectures for adults promise invaluable information, probably not to be obtained by the layman through any other channel. The Post-Dispatch will, as usual, publish and broadcast some of the outstanding lectures. But attendance on the entire course, in person where that is possible, is advised, if the full benefit of these lectures is expected.

THE U. R. AND THE FUTURE.

The effect of the decision of Judge Faris finally overruling the application of Receiver Wells of the United Railways for permission to issue receivers' certificates to take up underlying bonds and pay interest due on general bonds will be to hasten the reorganization of the company by forcing an early end to the receivership. Expert opinion on the decision is closely divided. Even among representatives of the bondholders judgment is at variance. A curious commentary on the prediction that the decision would be a loss to the public as well as to the property is the fact that bonds on the market responded favorably to the decision.

The public in general is not immediately affected. If the best possible service within the limitations of the company's income is provided it is little concerned. There is a direct concern, however, for that part of the public living on property not served by present lines. After a receivership of four years and a half, during which extensions were not permitted, there must be a considerable territory in need of new trackage.

There is no question but what street transportation in St. Louis should be put on a growing basis. The city has been fortunate during the receivership to have had at the head of the United Railways men of such integrity, competence and public spirit as Mr. Wells and Mr. Perkins. But as an abstract, as well as practical proposition, street transportation should be subject to the control of the public's agents rather than to that of a court whose first responsibility is to conserve the property and the interests of the investors.

St. Louis has far outgrown its transportation facilities and methods. Bus lines are beginning to divide the traffic at an increase of almost 50 per cent in fares. Still congestion is not appreciably relieved. We need subways right now, but we won't have them until some time, perhaps years, after we begin to build. Street transportation in St. Louis should be brought up to date and organized to strengthen, rather than weaken, every division of the service. The ending of the receivership will permit traction service once more to become a live issue within the control of the public.

Whatever is good for the public will be good for deflated street car capital. The transportation problem of St. Louis is not the redemption of inflated securities but the modernization and improvement of service for the relief of congestion and the comfort and convenience of the public.

ROAD BUILDING HAMPERED.

The refusal of Gov. Hyde to call a special session of the Legislature to provide ways and means of paying interest on road bonds needed for construction within the next two-year period has left the State Highway Commission in such desperate straits that Chairman Gary is planning a measure to be submitted to the people under the initiative at the next regular session.

Mr. Gary wisely refuses to issue new bonds unless provision is made to meet interest and maintenance charges, because, without a measure of this kind, it would be necessary to levy a property tax. The bonds were voted under a pledge not to impose a property tax to meet charges, and the anticipation of action by the Legislature might result in serious damage to the cause of road building in Missouri.

The failure to provide for new bonds will be costly to the State. The organization built up by the State Highway Commission will have to be trimmed, with the loss of men valuable to the work, and the overhead cost of operating the department and its construction projects greatly increased. Within the month of December the overhead cost increased to 4.2 per cent from 3.5 per cent for the previous months.

Contracts have been let for all but $1,000,000 of the $15,000,000 bonds which have been sold, and the remainder will be pledged within a month.

No across-the-State highway has yet been completed, nor can be completed within a reasonable time unless the money is provided by the Legislature or under the initiative. The road system is still a patchwork, and a patchwork it must continue to be under the method of road building in the present hampered state of the Highway Department. Instead of continuous, high-service, economical operation, the State will get low service, patchwork, costly operation.

The situation may be corrected in a measure if the people vote a good law under the initiative. It could be corrected completely if Gov. Hyde would use sound judgment and reverse his decision not to call a special session of the Legislature.

AGAIN THE CHILDREN'S CONCERTS.

Once again, the third successive year, "music's golden tongue" will delight the children of St. Louis in a series of free Symphony concerts, the first of which will be given Saturday morning at 10:30. These concerts, given under the auspices of the Post-Dispatch, have been well attended and highly appreciated in past years. With the generous co-operation of the Missouri Theater and the whole-hearted work of the Symphony Orchestra, this year's concerts promise priceless entertainment and education for our young people. Lovers of music, too, will find in the news columns dealing with these concerts much information regarding various classic pieces in the programs to be rendered.

The first concert will be devoted to an exposition of music by string instruments, which most nearly simulate the human voice. Director Ganz's explanation of these various instruments, and his comments upon the pieces played, should be listened to by the children, for such knowledge is an invaluable aid to culture. Afterwards, the other wonderful instruments, all necessary for the complete rendition of symphonic music, will be introduced, from the tiny flute, reminding one of the fabled pipes blown by the shepherds' god, Pan, to the huge brasses of "sonorous metal blowing martial sounds." Whatever charm, whatever delight, whatever inspiration is to be found in music, "the greatest good that mortals know, and all of heaven we have below," will be included in these free concerts, arranged so that the youngest child can glean something from their rendition.

Attendance at these concerts will also give the children the opportunity and the necessary knowledge to try for the prizes offered by the National Federation of Women's Clubs for the best essays on musical compositions heard at the concerts. This will insure closer attention by the children, thus greatly increasing the educational effect of the concerts.

A new generation of St. Louis citizens, aided by these free concerts, will surely make St. Louis a better city to live in, for themselves and all who come here.

THE MORALS OF PRICE FIXING.

Writing in the Globe-Democrat W. P. Gruner, a local lumber dealer, not only confesses but boasts that the retail trade in this city, deprived by State prosecution of its machinery of price-fixing, will resort to "substitution, short measure and other devices" to recover benefits wrested from it by the enforcement of the antitrust law.

Mr. Gruner admits that retail prices have been reduced as a consequence of the late prosecutions. Whereas average wholesale prices in St. Louis have fallen 5 per cent since Jan. 1, 1923, average retail prices have come down 8 per cent. This has been brought about, he says, by "the utter demoralization of the local industry due to the recent antitrust decision putting back into play the forces that gave such great satisfaction—on the surface—to the political mind, yet are really disastrous to the conduct of the industry on a moral plane, and which, in the case of lumber, are absolutely devoid of benefit to the public."

If the fixing of prices against the public is conducting business on a moral plane, then the public, we believe, would prefer some other plane. The buyer of lumber, as well as of other merchandise, must ultimately be his own judge as to quality and measure, and, if he finds himself short-measured or given inferior quality by one company, can try another. Under a mutual price-fixing arrangement the consumer has no appeal. Wherever he goes the cards are stacked against him.

Mr. Gruner's statement is a convincing testimonial of the efficacy of antimonopoly prosecutions by the State.

MR. ANTWINE'S OPINION.

"DR. ABRAHAM A. ROBACK, a Harvard psychologist, has been applying intelligence tests to flappers, and has come to the conclusion that they haven't any," Mr. Antwine said.

"I wish I could take this as seriously as Prof. Roback does, but I can't. What students of human beings in one way and another think of the new generation strikes me as having no more significance than what all of us have always thought of each other's children.

"The girls the Professor has been trying out constitute in his opinion a great problem for educators, but I wonder if he knows of a time when young girls or boys either did not constitute a great problem for educators.

"Or, on the other hand, does anybody recall a time when educators did not constitute a great problem for the rest of us?

"Flappers are a stupid lot, says the Professor. They have none of the qualities really desirable in human beings. They know nothing.

"Of course not. When did young girls know anything, and do you suppose they were ever a comfort to their elders? I don't think they ever were. I have read 50 articles in which old baldheaded men annoyed by the young people and old men-women peeved by the children of others have joined in the opinion that the next generation is a goner.

"My answer to them all is stuff and nonsense. There is nothing more troublesome than youth, nor does anything else look quite so hopeless. You simply have to do what the elders of young people always have done. You have to hope it will all come out right, and it generally does," Mr. Antwine said.

"SOME BEAUTIFUL SENTENCES."

In "I Can Remember Robert Louis Stevenson" the late Rev. Archibald Bisset writes: "Shortly after I was licensed, I had to preach for Dr. Wallace in Old Greyfriars' Church. Stevenson and his father were present. During sermon I saw Robert Louis scribbling in his note book, which he carried wherever he went. I knew very well that he was the last man in Scotland who would think of taking notes of a sermon; and when I met him at the close I said: 'Were you scribbling original nonsense in that note-book of yours instead of listening to the sermon?' And he replied: 'I was copying out some beautiful sentences from an Evening Prayer in a volume of Family Prayers that I found in the pew;' and he produced the notebook and read from the following words: 'O God, who has appointed unto man the night for rest, and the day for the works and labors of life, we beseech Thee to grant us quiet repose this night that our bodies being refreshed with sleep, our minds may be more wakeful and strong to serve Thee; that so we may abide all our nights and days in Thy love. Laying aside all cares and anxieties, may we sleep in the peace of a good conscience, in the faith of Thy presence and protection, and in the hope of Thine eternal glory. Let not sleep, or any bodily indulgence, degenerate into intemperance and sloth, but be in such measure as is needed to restore our wasted strength and to fit us again for our duties of our calling; that so even our sleep may be holy, and that whatever we do we may do all to thy glory.'

"Then he bade me good night, saying, 'Before I see you again, I shall have these words by heart.' And two days after he repeated them."

FREE SPEECH IN COLLEGE

From the Nation.

IT is a pleasure to turn from the phere of intellectual fear and rep in some of our universities to the free of the New Hampshire hills, where mouth College is giving a fine exam faith in an education which conce the student mind not as a container filled with a given product but as an ism which can grow and function only has the opportunity to range free theories side by side. We are reminded a communication from the Round Ta student organization, that "any group in the college has perfect freedom to anyone they wish to speak here, and administration gives the use of the buildings for the address." Scott N spoke last winter and William Z. F last month. Of the address by the latter read in the college daily: "The crowd was probably hostile before the speaker gan, was softened by Mr. Foster's first tence, in which he stated that it was a lege to speak at Dartmouth because one of the few prominent colleges tained the right of free speech."

GABRILOWITSCH STIRS BIG SYMPHONY CROWD

Detroit Orchestra Conductor Gives Superb Reading of Brahms' Pianoforte Concerto.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

THE two conductors of American orchestras who stepped from the pianist's bench to the conductor's dais were present on the same platform last night at the Odeon. Rudolph Ganz had his accustomed place as director of the Symphony Orchestra, and Ossip Gabrilowitsch, conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, appeared as piano soloist. Whatever the other results may be, it is at least certain that as pianists both have profited signally, though in opposite directions, from their apprenticeship to the baton. Mr. Ganz's playing has gained in temperature and tint; that of Mr. Gabrilowitsch has totally discarded a certain cloying sweetness and sentimentality.

Nothing could be farther from such demerits than the Russian's performance of the Concerto No. 2, in B-flat Major, by Johannes Brahms. Here were Slavic poetry, flame and passion; fairy delicacy and noble strength on fire; tenderness and tempest. The interpretation was entirely worthy of the work, and praise could go no further. The second concerto of Brahms is one of the lofty masterpieces of pianoforte literature—it is pure music, profoundly meditated, overwhelmingly beautiful. The name of Brahms is supposed to be forbiddingly classical; but the large audience could have been no more keenly stirred and enraptured had the work been signed with the manual of Tschaikowsky.

Ganz and Steindel Applauded.

The pianist, having insisted that Mr. Steindel share in the applause for his admirable playing of a solo violoncello passage in the third movement, drew Mr. Ganz forth by the hand from the wings to take an equal part in the ovation at the end of the concerto. The extra was a Gavotte by Gluck, in an arrangement by Brahms, which was played with the most exquisite daintiness.

Having returned only Wednesday from an absence of three weeks, during which he appeared as guest conductor and piano soloist with the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra, Mr. Ganz presented a program which, probably owing to lack of adequate rehearsal, appeared to want something of his customary detail and polish. It consisted of Weber's overture to "Der Freischuetz," Beethoven's Symphony No. 8, in F Major, and the Prelude and Liebestod music from Wagner's "Tristan und Isolde."

Wagner in Lethargy.

The symphony seemed a bit tedious, and in places painfully rough. Euphonious tone quality was not a constant virtue of the interpretation. As for the "Tristan und Isolde" music, it had a kind of uncertainty or even timidity; it was touched with only faint hints of either sensuality or catastrophe.

With the appearance of Mr. Gabrilowitsch on the platform, it was as if something clicked, and what a moment before had appeared an amateurish organization was suddenly transformed into one alertly professional. Through the intricate maze of cues director and orchestra passed with the most vigilant precision; the very timbre of the orchestra was abruptly transfigured. Such miracles do happen, and the pianist, with many gestures, expressed gratification with his orchestral support. The program was repeated this afternoon.

Miss Katherine McTague gave a luncheon for the visitor Wednesday.

Miss Sallie Hewes Phillips, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Z. B. T. Phillips of Philadelphia, will depart Sunday for her home after a holiday visit with Miss Dorothy Galloway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Galloway of 4171 Magnolia avenue.

Miss Eleanor Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Wood of 5535 Clemens avenue, has invited the members of the Home Service Section of the Red Cross, with which she formerly was affiliated, to her home for a tea tomorrow afternoon.

Randolph Compton will return early next week to his home in Montclair, N. J., after visiting Mrs. Compton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Danforth of 17 Kingsbury place. Mrs. Compton and their children are to remain a week or two longer.

Miss Adelaide Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto P. Meyer of 4396 Lindell boulevard, was hostess at a bridge party yesterday afternoon complimenting Miss Mabel Nichols, who, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Nichols of 7019 Washington boulevard, will depart Saturday to spend the remainder of the winter in California.

The committee work of the St. Louis Junior League was explained to the new members yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Clarence King at a tea at the home of Mrs. Walter Fischel, president of the league. It was announced that Mrs. Elias Michaels was an honorary member.

Mrs. Harry January told of the work of the league as a national organization. Mrs. King outlined how the work of the league is carried on in conducting the Work Shop for the Handicapped, the new sales place for articles made by the handicapped, and extension work with "shut-ins" or handicapped persons in the home, which consists of taking work to their homes.

The new sales shop will be opened about Feb. 1. It is planned to make it a center where saleable articles made by handicapped persons in St. Louis may be obtained. The shop, which will be in the Galleria Building, Maryland avenue and York street, will be conducted entirely by Junior League girls, and the articles for sale will come, to a large extent, from the Junior League Work Shop for the Handicapped, the city institutions, through the Missouri Association for Occupational Therapy, and from the Missouri Commission for the Blind.

Fifty members of the Junior League have signed for a series of five lectures to be given at the home of Mrs. Cecil Gregg in Brentmoor by Dr. Wilford Aikin of the John Burroughs Country Day School. The lectures will begin Jan. 14, and the subject will be "Contemporary Fiction, English and American."

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Ruth Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac W. Miller of 5553 Waterman avenue, and Joseph J. Marx of Cincinnati, took place Sunday at the home of Rabbi Samuel Thurman, who officiated. Guests were members of the two families. The bride is an artist, and at present has paintings on exhibition at the Artists' Guild. Mr. Marx is the son of Mrs. Edith Marx of Cincinnati. The couple will make their home in that city.

MRS. LEFTWICH DIES IN TEXAS

Funeral Will Be Held Sunday Afternoon in St. Louis.

Mrs. Charlotte Boeckeler Leftwich, who lived in St. Louis until about three years ago, died at El Paso, Tex., yesterday after a lengthy illness. She was born in St. Louis. She attended Miss Bennett's School at Millbrook, N. Y., graduating in 1916, her marriage to Burrell O. Leftwich following soon thereafter. She is survived by her husband, her father, Adolphus Boeckeler; and three daughters, Virginia, Barbara and Charlotte. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon from an undertaking establishment at 3621 Olive street to Belefontaine Cemetery.

BRITISH WOMEN DISGRUNTLED BY LACK OF RECOGNITION

Leader of Freedom League Assails Failure to Grant State Honors to Members of Sex.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—Feminist leaders in Great Britain are disgruntled by the fact that their sex received no recognition in the New Year's honors list, and Miss Florence Underwood, secretary of the Women's Freedom League, has written Premier Baldwin to give him a piece of the organization's mind on the subject.

The League, her letter says, was keenly disappointed because, although a large number of men were awarded peerages, baronetcies, knighthood and various decorations, not a single woman of Britain appeared on the list, while only two were awarded decorations for service in India.

"We think that many women of this country are as fully deserving of recognition of their services as some of the men in the recent list," Miss Underwod writes. "In our view the State should act impartially between men and women citizens and we urge you to consider the inclusion in the next list of some of the women who have rendered public and distinguished service to the State."

Rotarian Party to Be Annual Event

The success of the first Christmas party given by the Rotary Club for crippled children at the Orpheum Theater last week resulted in a decision to members of the cluub yesterday to make the party an annual holiday feature. In addition the Rotarians plan to extend their activity among all crippled children in St. Louis throughout the year.

EXHIBIT OF BEST MADE BOOKS

A special exhibit at the St. Louis Art Museum is a selection of 50 of the best-made books published in the United States in 1923. These include popular books, catalogues and year books, serious text-books and private editions.

They were selected from the viewpoint of the best presentation of type faces, page arrangement, paging, margining, chapter headings and line arrangements, the whole comprising an effort of the American Institute of Graphic Arts to improve standards of book production in America.

This is the first educational exhibibit of this kind ever presented in the United States. It will be here until Jan. 19. It already has been displayed in New York, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland and San Francisco, and will be taken to other cities.

DIVORCES DAUGHTER OF LATE J. P. MORGAN AND WEDS AGAIN

W. P. Hamilton, Former Partner of Financier, Makes Mrs. T. S. Carlin His Bride.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Jan. 4. —William Pierson Hamilton, former son-in-law and once the partner of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, and his bride, the former Mrs. Theodosia S. Carlin, who were married quietly here Wednesday night, are in San Francisco awaiting arrival of their marriage certificate in order to obtain passports for a wedding trip to the Orient.

The marriage surprised the social colony in the suburb of Montecico, where the former Mrs. Carlin owns a large place. It developed that Hamilton and his first wife, the former Miss Juliet P. Morgan, were divorced in December. Last year Hamilton maintained a home at Eli, Nev., in order to establish the residence.

The new Mrs. Hamilton has made her home here for several years, coming from Washington, D. C. She is 39.

Mrs. Coolidge's Alma Mater in Campaign.

By the Associated Press.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Jan. 4.—As a birthday message to Mrs. Coolidge, students of the University of Vermont notified her yesterday that they had organized a Coolidge-for-President Club among the undergraduates. It is believed to be the first organization of the kind among college students in the country. Mrs. Coolidge was graduated from the University in the class of 1902.

'BIG FAMILY' PLEA IN LIQUOR CASE REJECTED BY COURT

"Seems to Be an Affinity Between Bootleggers and Large Families," Says Faris.

Joseph Rayburn, pleading guilty to two counts charging possession of liquor, before Federal Judge Faris today, asked for leniency because of his five children.

"There sems to be an affinity between bootlegers and large families," the Judge replied. "I was reading of a case in California where a bootleger pleaded that he had 22 children. However, the law must be enforced. I fine you $190 on each count."

Then the defendant's attorney asked for a short stay of execution to give Rayburn time to raise the money.

"Glad to grant that," said the Judge. "He may have a stay of execution of one hour."

DENIALS FILED BY NEW YORK MEN IN TEMTOR SUIT

Bedford, Head of Corn Products Co., Asserts He Acted in Good Faith in Disposing of Plant.

'OBLIGED TO SELL BY GOVERNMENT ORDER'

Charges of Misrepresentation Also Denied in Behalf of Gen. Goethals and Investment Bankers.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Denials that there was any justification for naming them defendants in the $1,000,000 suit for recovery of money paid for stock in the Temtor Corn and Fruit Products Co., of St. Louis, brought by 198 stockholders of the latter company, have been issued on behalf of the three New York defendants.

Edward T. Bedford, president of the Corn Products Co., yesterday, asserted he had absolutely no connection with the Temtor company and that he acted in good faith in disposing of the Corn Products Company plant at Granite City for $4,500,000. He said that the only reason the plant was sold was that his company was obliged to do so by a Government order.

Bedford's Statement.

Bedford's statement, in part, follows:

"Our dissolution suit obliged us to dispose of this plant by Jan. 1, 1921. The Temtor Corn and Fruit Co. was organized, I believe, the latter part of 1919. They purchased this plant of us for $4,500,000 cash, with the agreement that we were to retain possession until Oct. 1, 1920, for which we were to pay a rental of $1,245,000. So important and valuable was this plant to us that we would not have sold it at any price unless we retained its use; and at the expiration of the lease we offered to renew on the same terms for a further period.

"Before the sale was consummated it was necessary to submit the terms and price to the Department of Justice and to have them approved by the United States District Court. All this was done.

"I never had anything, or did our company, to do directly or indirectly with the organization of the Temtor Corn and Fruit Products Co. Never was I either directly or indirectly interested in the sale of its shares, to which I have already testified in a previous suit."

Attorney Files Denial.

Frank P. Cotton, counsel for Major-General George W. Goethals and for Kissel, Kinnicut & Co., investment bankers, also named as defendants, denied on the part of his two clients that there was any ground for charging them with misrepresentation in the sale of the stock.

The suit charged that Gen. Goethals submitted two reports. Cotton, however, asserted that only one report was made. He said that the prospectus used in selling the stock contained only extracts from the engineering report, as the report itself covered 100 pages.

The Granite City plant was sold to the Temtor company in 1919 and paid dividends for the first year. Subsequently, Cotton said, the company became involved in the general business depression and failed.

Cotton said that the bankers who handled the stock sale could not have foreseen the general depression which followed the highly prosperous conditions of 1919 and that this depression alone was responsible for the losses of the Temtor stockholders.

FATHER OF 31 ACQUITTED

Kept Daughter From School to Help Care for 9 Small Children.

By the Associated Press.

YONKERS, N. Y., Jan. 4.—Because he has been the father of 31 children, Anthony Gagliardi, 58 years old, was acquitted in Children's Court yesterday of violating the compulsory education law. It was charged he kept his daughter, Isabel, 14, from school.

Gagliardi said that the girl was kept at home occasionally to help her mother care for the nine other small children. Only a few days ago a daughter, Gloria, was born. Twenty-two of the Gagliardi family have died.

RICH MAN'S FORMER WIFE DIES OF POISON

Mrs. June Diamond Brown, Daughter of St. Louis Woman, Once Noted Beauty.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—On Christmas Eve a woman giving the name of Mrs. June Diamond Brown, 35 years old, was admitted to Bellevue hospital suffering from veronal poisoning. She told doctors her "nearest friends" was Sally Waters of Louisville, Ky. Yesterday morning she died. The body is unclaimed at the morgue.

Inquiry disclosed Mrs. Brown was formerly the wife of Dudley P. Brown, a millionaire drug manufacturer, who retired from business some years ago. Up to that time he was president and treasurer of the Bemac Manufacturing Co.

Won Several Beauty Prizes.

In the summer of 1919 Mrs. Brown, who was reported to have won several prizes in beauty contests in Kentucky, made application for alimony and counsel fees pending the trial of the action for absolute divorce brought against her by her husband, who at the time was living at Forest Hills, L. I., but the suit was dropped. However, since that time the couple has lived apart. A year following the airing of the domestic troubles of the Browns, their daughter, Dudley, then eight years old, died from pneumonia.

In March, 1922, Mrs. Brown was committed to Central Islip hospital suffering from acute mania. After several months she was paroled but returned to the institution a short time later. After another stay of three monhs she was discharged as "cured" and turned over to the care of her mother, Mrs. George W. Waters of St. Louis. But instead of goinging to her mother's home, Mrs. Brown took a furnished room at 200 West 81st street. She was compelled to leave that address when she continually got into trouble for refusing to pay taxi bills. Time and again she was in court on the complaints of taxi chauffeurs.

Tried Scenario Writing.

Just a few days before she was taken to the hospital she was staying at 208 West 78th street, where she had a small room. She told some of the other roomers that she was writing a scenario dealing with the "ups and downs" of life. According to her confidants, she seemed to be discouraged because she couldn't find a market for her writing.

Last night the undertaker who buried little Dudley offered to take care of the remains of the mother if no relative claims the body.

Mother of Mrs. Brown Lives in St. Louis With Son.

June Diamond Brown was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Waters of St. Louis. Two years ago her parents celebrated their golden wedding. Her father died a year ago, and her mother lives with a son, Ike Waters, a plasterer and tuckpointer, at 4901 Easton avenue.

Waters last night said his sister left St. Louis about 10 years ago and was married to Dudley P. Brown, a New York millionaire, and they later separated and lived apart.

Waters said the family had not heard from her in more than a year and that the body should be buried in New York "by friends with whom June had cast her life."

"We must keep this from our mother woh has not recovered the shock of uor father's death, and we do not want the body brought back here," said Waters.

Waters does not know a Miss Sally Waters in Louisville, but said he had three brothers in that city.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflamation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Limited Again Hits Auto.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BUFFALO, Jan. 4.—For the second time within a month, a stalled automobile brought the Twentieth Century Limited to grief today when the second section of the New York Central's crack flyer struck an automobile at a road crossing near here, hurling the giant locomotive from the rails. A substitute locomotive was provided and the train went on after a delay of 40 minutes. Passengers were awakened but none was hurt. The persons who had been in the automobile leaped out of the machine before the accident.

NIGHT CLERK HELD UP IN HOTEL

Cash Register at Metropole Rifled by Two Young Men.

Two young men entered the Metropole Hotel, High and Morgan streets, early today, and, after some preliminary parleying about rooms and cigars, drew revolvers on the night clerk, William Malloy, and robbed the cash register of $112 and two letters. Joseph Bailey, elevator operator, emerged from an elevator about this time and was robbed of $27.

The robbers forced the two men into a vault and closed the door, not locking it, however. "Stay in there half an hour," the robbers ordered. Their victims came out in a few minutes and found the robbers gone.

Said to Admit Mysterious Killing.

By the Associated Press.

CENTRAL CITY, Ky., Jan. 4.—Winnie Nelson, 31 years old, one of four men arrested in connection with the mysterious slaying of Luther Brown in a hotel room here, confessed last night to County Attorney Smith that he accidentally fired the shot which caused Brown's death, according to a statement by the official. Brown was killed by a bullet fired from an adjoining room, which pierced a wall and struck the victim in the head. Nelson said he picked up an automatic pistol and the weapon was discharged accidentally.

Captured German Guns Problem.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Housing of captured German artillery and other war weapons is becoming a difficult question for the Government. The materials occupy several warehouses and acres of ground at the Newark, N. J., army base, and that is to be sold to private purchasers by the War Department as soon as satisfactory offers are received. Other parking ground for the materials is unavailable. Numerous requests for German artillery pieces being made of the War Department by American Legion posts, patriotic societies and other organizations are being held up due to lack of authority for distribution.

FILIPINO'S PLEA IN HOUSE FOR FREEDOM

Resident Commissioner Says Independent Philippines Will Be Aid to America.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Delivering his first speech in the House, Pedro Guevara, new resident commissioner from the Philippines, advocated independence for the islands yesterday with the statement that "an independent Philippines will be stronger for Americanism that a subjugated Philippines possibly can be."

"No matter how altruistic your designs," he said, "a dependent Philippines must behold Americanism with less affection than would a free Philippines. This is but human. You have won the sincere friendship and admiration of China, though you have done less for that country than you have for the Philippines. I am certain you will realize that the Filipino people are fighting the battle of American principles. Our victory will be your victory; our deafeat, your defeat. The Filipino people do not ignore the geographical situation of their country. Nor do they ignore the interest of this nation. Our dream is to be useful to your nation, to show her and the world our gratitude for the unselfish leadership of the American people during our association.

"Our coasts and mountains, our lakes and bays, our rivers and seas will be yours in time of need. Our fortunes or lives will be at the disposition of this nation should destiny call you again to the fields of battle in defense of the safety of the world, justice and liberty."

Commissioner Guevara declared that Filipinos "aspire to be placed on the same plane as those who have enjoyed the benevolent and humanitarian influence of the American flag."

"Cuba," he continued, "has been freed. Czecho-Slovakia, Lithuania and Poland are now free, thanks to the moral intervention of the United States. Egypt has recovered her independence through recognition by the British empire of American doctrines. Ireland has secured from England a free state political status. But the Philippines, under the American flag, cannot secure freedom, that priceless treasure of a people which America herself has helped other small countries to acquire."

AARON FULLER TELLS OF $2-A-WEEK START

Department Store Head Arrived in U. S. 50 Years Ago With $20 Sewed in Underwear.

Aaron Fuller talked to his buyers last night—the people who buy goods for Stix, Baer & Fuller. After he had expressed opinion as to what should be bought and what should not be bought and commented generally on business conditions, he said:

"I feel happier this year than ever before, due to the fact that I am celebrating my fiftieth anniversary in the wonderful United States. I landed in New York and the extent of my wealth was a $20 gold piece sewed in my underwear I had no trunk to take when I went to Chicago, where I obtained a job at a salary of $2 a week. Through hard work and a determined effort to deal honestly at all times I feel I have accomplished something to be proud of.

"The same opportunities present themselves to anyone who wishes to take advantage of them. There is nothing that gives my partners and myself greater pleasure than to make every advancement possible from our own ranks."

Today, Fuller, who is president of the store, enlarged upon this description of his career.

The $2-a-week job was with the Boston Store as a cash boy. He worked at this store for seven years and when he had $500 capital he moved to Fort Smith, Ark. There he opened a small general store. He met Julius and Sigmond Baer at Fort Smith and the three formed a partnership.

The firm of Baer Bros. & Fuller moved to St. Louis in 1892 and an alliance with the Stix family was made. Stix, Baer & Fuller opened the Grand-Leader at Broadway and Franklin avenue. In 1900 the store moved to the northwest corner of Broadway and Washington avenue, and five years later to its present location.

Fuller was the first in St. Louis to inaugurate the basement department, in which goods were sold at cut prices. Now all department stores of size use this method for handling of the cheaper lines as well as for location of various regular departments.

BASKET OF DISHES STOLEN

With a basket of dishes in one hand and, in the other, a basket containing several checks and books on his grocery business at 1114 North Vandeventer avenue, William Schroeder, 50 years old, was on his way to his home at 3816A Cook avenue last night when three men ordered him to hold up his hands. Schroeder feared compliance with the order would result in breaking of the dishes, so he hesitated. The robbers struck him on the head and escaped with his baskets, $250 and pair of spectacles.

City News in Brief

ISRAEL J. WEINER, 5618 GARFIELD avenue, parked his automobile at Twentieth street and Franklin avenue last night. During his absence, sample lingerie valued at $400 was stolen from the car, he reported. Edgar Wilhite, 765 Bayard avenue, told police he missed a purse containing $35 from a pocket shortly after three youths had indulged in a "kidding" bee at his lunch wagon at Arlington and Natural Bridge avenues yesterday. Mrs. Edward Carroll, 5696 Westminster avenue, reported the theft of furs and other articles to the value of $400 from her apartment yesterday.

BEACH R. LEWIS, 3909 WESTMINSTER avenue, had just driven into his garage last night when an armed man walked in and ordered him to "put 'em up." Lewis had a heavy flashlight in his hand and he struck the robber over the head twice, causing him to turn and run. Lewis obtained a revolver and pursued, firing three shots, but the man escaped.

When you open a can of Country Club Peaches and taste the fine, big, juicy California fruit in rich, thick syrup you will think the price must have been a mistake, as 40c or 50c a can is the usual price charged for this quantity of fruit. Such values as these at 25c a can have been the reason for the tremendous success of the Kroger Stores.

THE ORIGINAL WORCESTERSHIRE

When you open a can of Country Club Peaches and taste the fine, big, juicy California fruit in rich, thick syrup you will think the price must have been a mistake, as 40c or 50c a can is the usual price charged for this quantity of fruit. Such values as these at 25c a can have been the reason for the tremendous success of the Kroger Stores.

2 CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH IN HOUSEBOAT

Mother Was Visiting Neighbor —Coroner's Verdict of Accident Returned.

A coroner's verdict of accidental death was returned last night in the case of Roy Bozzoni, 2 years old, and Ruth Slyter, 4 months old, children of Mrs. J. W. Slyter, who were burned to death yesterday in a houseboat on Carr Island, near the east approach of the McKinley Bridge, in Venice. Roy was a son of Mrs. Slyter by a former marriage.

Mrs. Slyter testified at the inquest that she left the houseboat, in which the family lived, about 9 a. m. yesterday to visit a neighbor. Roy was playing in the kitchen and Ruth was asleep when she left.

When at the neighbor's residence she noticed a number of persons running in the direction of her houseboat and saw the flames through a window. Efforts of firemen and citizens to get into the houseboat to rescue the children were prevented by the intensity of the fire, which appeared to have started in the kitchen. The front entrance to the house was boarded up and entrance could not be gained there.

Slyter, employed in a manufacturing plant, left home early yesterday and was unaware of the tragedy for several hours after it occurred. The charred bodies of the children were found after the fire. The houseboat was destroyed.

Layton Accepts Cue Challenge of Cuban Champion

Match for International Title Will Take Place Late This Month.

HOPPE SEEKS NEW FIELD

News That He Will Go After Three-Cushion Honors Interests Local Players.

By Dent McSkimming.

Johnny Layton, former world's three-cushion billiard champion and St. Louis' representative in the National Three-Cushion League, will probably engage in an international match late this month. Layton has been invited to journey to Havana, Cuba, there to oppose Senor Mundito, Cuban national champion.

Layton notified the officials in charge that he is willing to make the trip and negotiations are now in progress to so alter the National Three-Cushion League schedule that Layton may have the necessary two or three weeks' leave.

Champion Tiff Denton, of Kansas City, was at first invited to play Mundito, who had hurled a challenge at the so-called world's titleholder. Denton has but recently recovered from an illness and has not regained his championship form. He declined to make the trip. Layton, as the former champion, was sought next and he expressed himself as anxious to meet the challenger. Definite word from the league executives is expected today.

Three-Cushion Men After Hoppe.

The reported intention of Willie Hoppe, world's 18.2 balkline champion, to challenge the three-cushion champion for the world's title at the angle game, brings to light the fact that Layton, through his associate, Charles McEniry, invited Hoppe to challenge for the crown last spring when Layton was champion.

"We would be delighted to have Hoppe challenge in the event that Layton regains his title," McEniry said yesterday. "Last spring I wrote to Hoppe, telling him that we would be glad to entertain a challenge but nothing materialized. It is possible that Hoppe did not feel prepared at that time to look for more worlds to conquer. He is playing at top form now and should make a good bid for the title."

Champion and Party en Route to Miami, Fla., to Rest

JACK DEMPSEY.

The champion is expected to arrive in Florida tomorrow and will do light training after reaching Miami. Dempsey has no match for the current year, but it is understood he is to meet Firpo. Dempsey seldom abandons gymnasium work completely and limbers up whenever he remains in a city as long as three or four consecutive days. Since winning the title in 1919 he has never weighed over 205 pounds, although his fighting weight is about 192.

Stribling Lands Knockout Punch

Georgia Schoolboy Puts Away "Kid" Numbers in Fourth Round.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Jan. 4.—"Young" Stribling partially removed doubt as to whether he can "sock" when he felled the tough "Kid" Numbers of the Seventeenth Field Artillery in the fourth round of their 15-round bout at Fort Bragg last night.

Stribling was the aggressor from the start and soon had his opponent "punch drunk." Although Numbers had not met any topnotch men, he had gained more than local attention by winning 12 consecutive bouts, eight of them by knockouts. He had lost but one fight in 13.

Stribling sidestepped, ducked and boxed so cleverly that Numbers could not reach him effectively. The first round found Stribling an immediate aggressor. He brought blood to Numbers' mouth with a hard right and in the second round he attacked furiously, getting home telling blows both to the jaw and stomach. Stribling hit equally hard with either hand, driving the soldier around the ring.

Both "Ma" and "Pa" Stribling witnessed the bout from their son's corner.

WRAY'S COLUMN

The Case of Young Stribling.

THE latest ring "sensation" appears to be Young Stribling the youthful Georgia boxer. As nearly as can be gathered from accounts of his battles, the new marvel's principal claim to fame is that he is "only 19 years old."

Abe Attell, Terry McGovern, Georges Carpentier and other ringsters were champions before they had attained that age; but Stribling is far from being a champion.

Critics and accounts of Stribling's fights seem to agree that the young man is inclined to be a "safety-first" scrapper, that he leads and clinches and that he has no real knockout wallop. True, he flattened Soldier Numbers, Thursday; but the Soldier was just one of those barnstorming setups of no apparent merit.

Having started young, it may be predicted from previous instances that his maturity and his finish will both arrive early. Stribling has been an athlete since early years and precocity in physical endeavor carries its inevitable penalty with it.

They're After Bill.

ONCE more the United States Lawn Tennis Association appears to be trying to make Bill Tilden let loose of that formidable weapon, newspaper propaganda, which his connection with a news syndicate for some time has assured him.

With half a hundred papers subscribing to his articles Bill can blanket the country with his personal views on any subject, which is more than the United States Lawn Tennis Association can do.

The U. S. L. T. A. delegates for the third time it appears, will be asked to vote on whether writing tennis articles for newspapers makes Tilden a professional.

Only a majority vote will be needed to pass the resolution in the form submitted by the Executive Comittee, where formerly a two-thirds vote saved Tilden's bacon.

Undoubtedly Bill is capitalizing his championship in a big sense. But undoubtedly also the tennis public wants to know the views of the greatest tennis player of all time. Adverse action against "Big Bill," despite his temperamental peculiarities, would not be well received by the public, therefore.

Refused to Turn "Pro."

TILDEN declares that he was a newspaper writer before he became champion; that his articles would be accepted without the qualifying phrase setting forth his titles. He is quoted as saying:

"I am heart and soul an amateur and have refused five offers to turn pro. If the Executive Committee thinks the player-writers are getting by on their tennis reputations let the committee pass a rule forbidding players to use their titles in signing articles. My name is my own, however, given to me by my father and not by the United States Lawn Tennis Association."

Forcing Lewis' Hand.

ROBERT FREDERICKS, champion kale harvester, who as "Strangler Ed Lewis," holds the heavyweight wrestling championship of the world, seems to be nearing the end of his tether. The hue-and-cry of disappointed and avoided challnegers appears to be catching up with him and there seems no escape for fox.

In fact, it is on the cards for Lewis to defend his title this year. With New York definitely closed against him (when Rickard's application for permission to hold wrestling shows was refused), Lewis finds it harder and harder to attract crowds to his shows. Soon there will be no demand to witness his exhibitions—for his matches have been little more than that for two years.

In one place, recently, he was even jeered—he, the champion of the world. That his temper is not sweet was shown when he struck a bystander because of the taunts hurled at him.

Lewis now will set about getting the biggest pot he can out of a title contest. Promoters appear to have picked on St. Louis as the "goat." It is probable that Joe Stecher will meet Stanislaus Zbyszko in this city this winter, and then, having thrown the aged Zibby, will take on Lewis.

One way or another Lewis will have to get about $25,000 out of this fight, and thus far Stecher is willing to give only $15,000. But the handwriting seems to be on the wall and the champion and former champion will get together. Stecher is very eager to regain the laurels he once lost and feels sure he can win. Wrestlers familiar with the merits of the rivals agree that he will defeat Lewis when they meet.

Girls' Municipal Basketball.

Only one of three games in the Thursday Division of the Girls' Municipal Basketball League was a one-sided affair. The Immaculate Conception Church team won hands down from the St. Michaels, 28 to 0. The other contests were hard fought, the Wabash winning from DeAndreis, 9 to 0, and the Baehrs defeating the Wild Cats, 10 to 4.

Eggman Ranked Ahead of Local Junior Players

Unofficial Tennis List Places Mac Smith Second—Joe Smith Tops Boys.

By Davison Obear.

Teddy Eggman, the East St. Louis star, is placed first in the unofficial ranking of junior tennis players in the St. Louis district on the basis of their record during the 1923 season. For the second successive year Eggman won the St. Louis junior championship in singles and was a member of the winning doubles team. Paired with Mac Smith, another East St. Louis junior, Eggman won the 1923 doubles title.

There will be a new junior champion this year, as Eggman has entered Cornell University and will be over the age limit. Joe Smith, local interscholastic titleholder, will be one of the active candidates for the junior title. Several others will furnish strong competition during the coming season.

Prospects are bright for an excellent program of junior tennis activities in 1924. In addition to the usual tournaments several features will be added. A national junior tournament may be held in connection with the clay court event for men if it is awarded to St. Louis.

New Plan Proved Success.

During the past season interest in the development of the younger players showed a great increase. The district committee tried out, with good success, a plan to hold preliminary tournaments prior to the regular district championship at the Triple A Club. Eight qualifying events were held in St. Louis and St. Clair and St. Louis counties. A total of 118 players took part in these tournaments. The finalists entered the championship which was held a week after the other tournaments were completed.

The ranking list follows:

JUNIOR SINGLES.

First Ten.

1. Teddy Eggman.
2. Mac Smith.
3. H. Weinstock.
4. Jack Smith.
5. T. Minnegerode.
6. J. Gustafson.
7. Joe Smith.
8. Carl Stanford.
9. William Bell.
10. Lambert Lynn.

JUNIOR DOUBLES.

1. J. Eggman and Smith.
2. Joe Smith and Jack Smith.
3. Weinstock and Gustafson.
4. Minnegerode and Sigiloff.
5. Lantz and Kennell.

Joe Smith at Top.

Joe Smith retains the No. 1 in the boys' singles ranking and with Arthur Rosenfeld heads the doubles list. In addition to winning the boys' title, Smith captured the high School singles and made a good showing in the National Clay court and the Indiana State tourney. William T. Tilden, national tennis champion of the United States, named Smith in a tentative national ranking of juniors and boys.

As in the case of the juniors nearly all of the boys placed in the first 10 this year are different than those in the 1922 list. David Stephen fought his way to the district final and with a little more experience will no doubt become one of the leading junior players. William Bascom is another promising payer.

The ranking list follows:

BOYS' SINGLES.

First Ten.

1. Joe Smith.
2. David Stephen.
3. J. Stanford.
4. Richard Smith.
5. N. Breer.
6. A. McChesney.
7. R. Steinkamp.
8. R. Perry.
9. William Bascom.
10. C. Harris.

BOYS' DOUBLES.

1. Smith and Rosenfeld.
2. Weber and Cuquet.
3. Bascom and Perry.
4. Harris and Grimm.
5. Smith and Burton.

The Passing Show

NEW YORK—Ninety-four English and French thoroughbreds, valued at half a million dollars, are en route here for shipment to the Kentucky Blue Grass region.

CHICAGO — Johnny Myers, world's middleweight wrestling champion, retained his title by downing Joe Parelli, Italian middleweight champion, in two out of three falls.

COLUMBUS, O.—Harry Kipke, Michigan's football and basketball star, will join the coaching staff of Miami University at Oxford, O., next year, it was announced.

CINCINNATI—Pitchers Luque and Benton, catchers Hargrave and Wingo and infielders Daubert, Caveney and Pinelli of the Cincinnati Nationals have signed contracts for the coming season, President August Herrmann announced.

PHILADELPHIA — Cambridge University of England will compete at the annual relay carnival of the University of Pennsylvania to be held on Franklin Field, April 25 and 26. In 1920 a combined Oxford-Cambridge team won the two-mile relay championship and in so doing established a new world's record of 7m. 50 2-5s for the distance.

Landis to Hear Shocker Case in St. Louis, Jan. 11

Whether Rule Barring Players' Wives Was on Books Is Point at Issue.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Whether the St. Louis American League baseball team actually had in its book of rules a stipulation that wives of players be prohibited from traveling with the team is to be determined by Commissioner K. M. Landis as the next step in the controvery between Pitcher Urban Shocker and the team.

The star hurler and the club split last September when Shocker desired to have his wife accompany him when the team took its last Eastern trip and the club informed him to do so would be a violation of the rules. Shocker was fined and suspended when he left the team as it started East. His appeal to the commissioner for an unconditional release is now pending.

Attorneys for the club contend that the rule is one of long standing and that it was within its rights when Mrs. Shocker was barred, while counsel for the pitcher insist the rule was never heard of until the dispute arose.

Commissioner Landis has informed attorneys a hearing will be held in St. Louis on Jan. 11.

Ruth Charged With Speeding.

NEWTON, Mass., Jan. 4.—"Babe" Ruth's automobile has him in trouble again. A complaint was sworn out in the District Court here yesterday by a motor cycle officer, charging the home run king, who is spending the winter at his farm in Sudbury, with overspeeding and with driving an automobile without a Massachusetts registration. A hearing was set for Jan. 12.

12 BOUTS ON PROGRAM

Action Taken to Protect Public, Official Says—Three Champions Were to Compete.

William F. Yorger, Superintendent of Public Recreation, today announced that the program of municipal boxing bouts scheduled tonight at th Battery A Armory, had been called off, owing to withdrawals of boxers scheduled to appear in feature contests.

In all a dozen contests had been scheduled, but in three of the feature events substitutions would have been necessary had the program been carried through. Rather than disapoint the public with inferior contests, Yorger stated that he had decided to call off the entire card.

"The program had been arranged by Charles Demko, who said all the men were duly signed. I learned last night, however, that this might not be true and began to investigate. I completed by investigation this morning and found that several boxers whose names had been placed on the program without sanction. They declined to appear and so I called off the events," Yorger explained.

"Opponents for Micky Mazer, Charley Wurtz and Eddie Reith weer not available. These boxers are among the best on the card.

"I determined not to inaugurate the boxing game here by giving fans a program filled with substitutes. Too much of that has been done in the past. The remaining boxin gbouts in this city held under municipal auspices will be conducted right with every man's name signed to a contract long before the date of the contest.

"St. Louis, I hope, will see some real boxing before many months. The plan is to organize a municipal boxing league with divisions in various sections of the city. Sectional championships followed by a municipal title tournament would be promoted under the auspices of Municipal Boxing League.

"The next municipal event will be held Jan. 11 at Indianapolis. A St. Louis municipal team will compete there against a team representing the Hoosier city and a return match will then be held in St. Louis. The date for this has not yet been determined."

ABANDON PLANS FOR INTERNATIONAL RACE AT LONGCHAMPS

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 4.—The idea of a meeting of Epinard, Zev and Papyrus to bring these stars of the British, American and French turfs together in an international cup race at Longchamps on May 3, has been definitely abandoned owing to the red tape entanglements and difficulties encountered in the effort to obtain that date for the event in the official racing calendar, it became known today.

Pierre Wertheimer, owner of Epinard, has decided that the French champion's racing campaign in 1924 shall comprise two races in France, one an overnight handicap and the other the Prix Des Sabloms; then two races in England; whence the horse will be shipped to America to take part in the races being arranged for September at Belmont and Aqueduct. Epinard will then be taken to Kentucky for a single race. Whatever the outcome of these races, Epinard, it is announced, will be retired to the stud at the end of the season.

High School Basketball League To Open Season Tomorrow Night

Central's Championship Quint et Will Oppose Yeatman in First Game of Doubleheader, With Soldan and McKinley Meeting in Other Contest at Cleveland Gymnasium.

The 1924 Interscholastic League basketball season will open tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock when the 1923 champions, Central, meet the Yeatman quintet in the opening game and Soldan battles McKinley in the night cap, on the floor at the Cleveland High School. Cleveland will be the idle member of the league this week.

The league officials have returned to the program which was in vogue in all seasons prior to the last one and will hold both contests in the evening. The system of playing an afternoon and an evening game which was tried last year did not prove satisfactory. Another departure from the 1923 program is the change of officials. Charley Reber and Toddy Kamp who handled the games for several years did not apply for the positions this season and the officiating has been turned over to Richard von Dach, the former McKinley and "Muny" player and John McCaleb, a former Kentucky University cage star. Ben Hebberger will again be the timekeeper this season.

The quintet representing the various institutions have been undergoing a refining process during the past 30 days and the coaches have weeded out the deadwood. Team play has been drilled into the fives until now the teams are in fine fettle for the opener. The champion Central aggregation will this year include two men who were all star selections of last year, Dave Cristal at forward and Bill Thomas at running guard. They form the nucleus of the Callan machine and the Red and Black adherents are pulling for another title. The remaining regulars on the Grand boulevard five—Browne at forward, Cameron at center and Hunt at guard, and one alternate guard, Goldberg—were members of the Central second team of 1923. Connors, an alternate forward and Lux, a reserve guard are new men in the high school cage game, although both have had some experience in church and muny circles.

Yeatman Has One Veteran.

Yeatman, which will oppose the title holders tomorrow, is not so fortunate in the possession of returned stars. Engler at the right forward will be sole veteran to represent the Blue. Charley Hannegan, the scoring ace of the North Enders last term and one of the leading players in the league, was injured in the final football game of the year and was on the hospital list until last night, when he put in his initial appearance at a practice session. Coach Lewis expects his star to be in shape for the contest following the Central fray. Winkleman, a recruit who has been showing well in practice, will cavort at forward with Engler. Muchow, another new man will work on the pivot. Hannibal, last year's football captain, is placed at the stationary guard and Ens will act as the roving defense man. Bell and Randall will be used as reserve formards and Soraghan and Moslank as the substitute guards.

Coach Harry White has his team running in high gear for the battle against McKinley. The Soldanites recently trimmed the Kingshighway Sunday School team, champions of the Sunday School League in 1923, by the one-sided count of 32 to 10. The West Enders are depending on a speedy attack to carry the Brown and Gold to many victories this year. In Washburn and Shaw at the forwards and Layman at center with Ritter as alternate for the trio, White does possess some whirlwind floor fen who are capable of exhibiting a very shifty attack. The lone weakness of the Soldan quintet is inaccuracy in field basket shooting, but the mentor expects his charges to overcome this defect in short time.

McKinley Team Rebuilt.

McKinley, without the service of a regular of last year has been forced to rebuild from the bottom. Several men who looked promising at the start of the conditioning period have been compelled to abandon athletics because of studies. Coach Lee Carlson has been training his men on the large Armory floor and, through persistent work, has drilled a rather effective team game into his recruit material. The Crimson will send Ittner and Bickle to forwards, Antrobius to center, Wise or Thomas to running guard and Heil to the standing guard, in the Soldan mixup. Hubeli will be the alternate man for the attack.

FIGHT PROMOTER PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE OF TAX LAW VIOLATION

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 4.—Floyd Fitzsimmons, prize fight promoter, of Benton Harbor, Mich., pleaded guilty in Federal Court here today to a technical violation of the internal revenue law in connection with payment of taxes on gate receipts on the proposed Jack Dempsey-Bill Brennan fight at the Michigan City (Ind.) arena Labor day, 1922, which was prevented by order of Gov. Warren T. McCray. Judge A. B. Anderson fined Fitzsimmons $250 and costs.

The promoter said he "went broke" in his attempt to stage the Dempsey-Brennan fight. He asserted the Governor had given him assurance the fight could be staged in Indiana and later stopped it. The show which was substituted was poorly attended, the promoter said. Fitzsimmons appeared at the Federal Building last month in connection with the indictment and it was erroneously reported then that the charge would not be pressed.

Dusky Heavies to Battle for Belt Given by Rickard

Godfrey to Meet Wills in First Negro Title Fight, Dougherty Says.

By Fair Play.

(Copyright, 1924.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Jimmy Dougherty, the Philadelphia manager, writes that he has steamed up Tex Rickard along lines of holding a real test for the negro heavyweight championship. Money, diamond belts and other things dear to the dusky battler's heart will figure in the plan.

The first meeting will be a go between Dougherty's black giant, George Godfrey, and Harry Wills. The winner will receive the title as champion of a new class, the colored heavyweight class. This will put the successful fighter in line as target for challenges by Jack Taylor, Joe Woodman's husky mulatto of Omaha, who recently gave Battling Siki the worst beating the Senegalese has received.

With all colored contenders out of the way, Rickard will endeavor to stage a meeting between the white and black champion heavyweights of the world.

2500 TEAM EXPECTED TO BOWL IN A. B C.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Entries for the twenty-fourth annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress, to be held here Feb. 23 to March 25, is expected to reach the record-breaking total of 2500 teams, officials said last night. The record mark of 1956 teams was set in the Milwaukee tournament last year. Entries for the pin classic will close on Jan. 21, and the entries to date have exceeded 1900 teams, representing the pick of the bowlers throughout the nation.

CONCORDIA TO MEET HANOVER COLLEGE TEAM HERE TOMORROW

Concordia Seminary's basketball team will oppose the Hanover College team of Hanover, Ind., at Francis Gymnasium, at Washington University, tomorrow evening.

Hanover has defeated Wabash College and one other opponent in the only two games played this season. In Cezar, a guard, Hanover has an All-State selectinn of last season.

No definite lineup has been decided upon as yet by Capt. Schmidt of Concordia. Buchheimer and Heins will probably be at forward, Kollmann at center and Schmidt and Mencke at guard.

Billy Miske's Funeral.

By the Associated Press.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 4.—Followers of the fistic game joined with the general public here today in paying final tribute to the memory of Billy Miske, St. Paul heavyweight boxer, whose body was borne to its grave at Calvary Cemetery by a group of lifelong friends. Miske died on New Year's day after a long illness with Bright's disease.

Jiu Jitsu Artist To Meet Mazzan

Londos and Hills Will Meet in Other Feature of Program at the Odeon.

George Hills, a young heavyweight wrestler who hails from Wisconsin, will make his first bid for local favor tonight at the Odeon. Hills will wrestle Jim Londos, another heavyweight.

The other feature attraction brings Mayake, Japanese jiu jitsu champion, against Jim Mazzan, an Italian heavyweight. Frank Nelson and Jimmy Logas, middleweights, are billed for a prelim engagement.

Mayake and Mazzan are scheduled to compete under jiu jitsu regulations. They will wear the garb of Oriental grapplers, consisting of short-sleeved, loose-fitting blouses and close-fitting trunks. This match will be conducted in four periods of 20 minutes each. A rest interval of three minutes will be permitted between periods.

ZEV, PAPYRUS, EPINARD AND GREY LAG ARE IN ASCOT GOLD CUP RACE

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—The Jockey Club has issued the official entry list for the spring handicap race and the Ascot gold cup event next June, giving evidence that these meetings will be of exceptional interest because of the appearance on English tracks of an unusually large number of celebrated foreign horses.

Entries for the Ascot cup are hailed by the racing experts with special enthusiasm, for this race furnishes the prospect of seeing Zev, Papyrus, Epinard and Grey Lag, in addition to several others of the world's best known horses, in a mighty struggle. Sporting writers here are doubtful whether such a remarkable field has ever been provided for the running of the cup.

BUYING OF BONDS BROADENS; STOCK MARKET HIGHER

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today, says.

"Steadiness in moderate trading characterized the market today. Stocks were firm from the start, good gains in industrial specialties being the feature of the morning trading. Strength in rails developed in the afternoon, a number of these issues advancing about one point. Fractional gains predominated at the close with total sales amounting to about 850,000 shares. The market seemed to have adopted a waiting attitude and to be in a trading position. Buying of bonds broadened out and prices made a further advance, thus reflecting reinvestment of Jan. 1 disbursements. Call money eased further, opening at 4¾ per cent and being lowered to 4½ per cent at 1 o'clock.

Low on Franc Before Rally.

"In its essential aspects the foreign exchange market was similar to that of yesterday. Some further buying of dollars in foreign markets testified to continued anxiety over British politics and French finances and brought a moderate reaction at the opening on this side of the water. On this movement French francs touched a new low of 4.36 cents and sterling sold off 1½ cents to $4.28⅝. Good buying of sterling quickly developed at these levels and the price ran up to $4.31, which is 1½ cents above the previous close. Francs rebounded seven points but did not hold all the recovery and were unchanged in the afternoon at 4.90 cents. The other continentals were irregular but the tone was good in sympathy with sterling. Japanese yen, however, continued to sag and lost ¼ of a cent in selling at 45 1-5 cents, a new low for over a year. Business was rather quiet.

Easing in Money Market.

"One of the more interesting developments of the day was a perceptible easing in the money market. Time money has appeared in large volume and is being offered too freely at 5 per cent to make that rate firm. The market feels that 4¾ per cent is likely to become the ruling rate. An easier feeling also pervades the commercial paper market.

"Such a tendency is a natural result of the passing of year-end demands and of the trend of things before the holidays intervened. Meanwhile the Federal reserve statements show that discounts have fallen off by $59,200,000, while circulation is $85,100,000 smaller and reserves have risen by $34,400,000. Were it not for an increase of $112,-900,000 in deposit liabilities the system's reserve ratio would have risen considerably more than the gain of half a per cent which actually is disclosed.

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Jan. 4.—Strength of corn featured the local grain market and wheat after early decline recovered and advanced. Local corn receipts were largely under week ago. Liverpool wheat closed ⅜d off on March wheat and ⅝d lower on more distant deliveries. The weather was influence in corn market.

Wheat closed 2 cents and wheat also better.

In the cash grain market here red wheat was 1c higher and hard wheat was 1c higher. Receipts were light and demand good and there was a strong tone to market. Mills bought. Corn was 1½c to 2½c higher. Demand was good. Oats were steady to ½c higher. Demand was good.

Wheat sold off fractionally in the opening period while corn was a little better. Liverpool wheat in afternoon cable was ⅛d to ½d lower.

May wheat opened at $1.08⅝. July wheat $1.05, May corn 74¾c and July corn 75¾c.

The three Northwestern markets combined had 297 cars of wheat, compared with 983 a week ago and 1126 last year, Minneapolis receiving 75 cars, Duluth 23 and Winnipeg 199.

Local wheat receipts, which were 48,100 bushels, compared with 44,200 a week ago and 112,800 last year, included 30 cars local and 7 through. Corn receipts, which were 112,000 bushels, compared with 261,000 a week ago and 62,400 last year, included 48 cars local and 32 through. Oats receipts, which were 52,000 bushels, compared with 60,000 a week ago and 86,000 last year, included 16 cars local and 10 through. Hay receipts were 15 cars local and 4 through.

CORN LEADS IN STRENGTH ON THE CHICAGO MARKET

Special to the Post-Dispatch

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Locals sold wheat lower at the start today because of the lack of outside trade and indications that there was continued spread selling here against purchases at Minneapolis and Winnipeg. The marked strength that developed in corn, however, started wheat shorts covering and a bulge followed. When shorts were satisfied wheat sagged again and was moving irregularly a few minutes before the close. News was without much change. Liverpool closed ⅝d to ¾d lower. The weakness there was due to the increased offering of Argentine and Australian surplus wheat and also to the weakness in foreign exchange. Export demand in this country was slack. The Department of Commerce now claims there has been exported up to Nov. 30 74,000,000 bushels of United States grain, compared with 121,000,000 bushels for the same time last year. Reports had it that winter wheat is now entering the dormant stage, and that damage from recent unfavorable weather is not to be ascertained at this time. However, fairly good snow prices has prevailed over the greater part of the belt.

Local cash sales were 15,000 bushels of wheat, 60,000 bushels of corn, 65,000 bushels oats. Seaboard reported export sales of 200,000 bushels of wheat.

Leading houses absorbed the offerings of corn early, and with offerings light prices advanced sharply, best levels being reached when stop-loss orders were encountered. The movement of corn to primary markets is light, and cash prices here were 1c to 1½c advanced. The demand for the yellow cereal, it was said, has improved beyond expectations at this time. The Rumanian corn crop is now placed at 168,300,000 bushels, compared with previous estimates of 200,000,000 bushels.

Corn closed 1⅝c to 2c higher; May 76⅝c to 76¼c; July 77¾c to 77⅛c; September 77⅞c.

Oats followed other grains to higher levels, and held them well. Commission houses bought at the start, while locals sold. Covering by early buyers occurred as the market hardened. Cash oats were in good demand and strong.

Oats closed ¼c to ⅛c higher; May 45⅞c; July 44c; September 42½c.

Provisions were easy in a slow trade. There were no features.

Lard closed unchanged and ribs 2½c to 5c higher.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Raw sugar was dull and easy without sales early today. Cubas were offered at 4⅛c cost and freight, equal to 6.65 duty paid for prompt shipment and at 4¾c cost and freight, equal to 6.53 duty paid for late January shipment.

Raw sugar futures opened unchanged to 2 points lower in sympathy with the easier spot market, but improved later on covering and commission house buying. At midday prices were net unchanged.

Refined was quiet and unchanged at 8.70 to 8.90 for fine granulated.

Refined futures nominal.

Sugar futures closed steady; approximate sales 20,000 tons; January, 4.90; March, 4.53; May, 4.61; July, 4.69.

HOG RECEIPTS HEAVY AND PRICES DECLINE

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Jan. 4.—Receipts today estimated: Cattle and calves, 2500; hogs, 25,000; sheep, 600; horses and mules, 300.

CATTLE—The market for beef steers, butcher cows and canner and cutter cows reflected a lower trend, while other classes including yearlings, stockers and feeders and veal calves continued steady. The few beef steers available cashed at $7.50 to $8.25 per cwt. Veal calves made $12.50 to $12.75.

Strong, active market characterized trading here during the first three days of the current week, although the market developed weakness in some quarters the following two days. The average gain in prices for the week amounts to about 25c in the various classes.

Quotations—Beef steers, practical range, $5.50 to $12.50; light yearlings, range, $3 to $12.50; butcher cows, range, $3.50 to $7; cutter cows, range, $2.75 to $3.25; canner cows, range, $2.25 to $2.50; stocker and feeder steers, bulk, $4 to $6.

HOGS—Friday ushered in the heaviest hog run of the week, receipts today being estimated at 25,000 head. This is one of, if not the heaviest Friday run on record at this market. Prices dropped, showing a decline of 15c to 25c from Thursday's best time, top on the opening rounds stopping at $7.30. Best 190 to 230 lb. offerings sold on the early rounds in a spread of $7.15 to $7.30, the light hogs and shipping grades averaging from 160 to 180 lbs. at $7 to $7.15 largely. Pigs were steady to strong, demand for this class of swine ruling active. Better-weight kinds from 130 to 150 lbs. sold from $6.50 to $6.85, medium-weight offerings from 110 to 130 lbs. selling from $6 to $6.50, according to weight and quality. Light pigs and peewees also were steady, with sales from $5 to $6 largely. Packer sows were generally 15c lower, with sales at $6.15 to $6.25, few at the latter figure. Stags showed little change, at $4 to $4.50.

SHEEP—Receipts were light, the estimate calling for 600 head. Trading opened about steady, one deck of lambs going to the city butchers at $13.25. Good to choice lambs quotable at $12.75 to $13.25; medium to good at $12.25 to $12.75, and plain to medium grades at $11.75 to $12.25. Sheep steady, with very few on sale. Good to choice mutton ewes quotable at $6.50 to $7.50; medium to good at $5.50 to $6.50, and plain to medium at $4.50 to $5.50. Choppers and canners at $2.50 to $3.50 and canners at $1 to $2.

HORSES AND MULES—This branch of the market closes about steady for the week, although mules, due to some late arrivals, have not all been cleared. Receipts of horses were light and practically all have been cleared.

Dry Goods Market Review.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Trading in the cotton goods market was light today. Prices were steady, with print cloth quoted at 11c for 64 by 60 and 12⅛c for 68 by 72.

The raw silk markets also reported a quiet day, with a few slight price concessions being offered buyers.

COTTON MARKET NERVOUS AND PRICES IRREGU

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—The cotton market was nervous and irregular during today's early trading. The opening was 9 to 32 points lower on all months except December, which was five points higher, and there was selling on relatively weak cables. The latter was accompanied by rumors of bearish private ginning returns, but according to reports circulating here these returns indicated a ginning of 9,712,000 bales to Jan. 1, which was considered about in line with the recent Government estimate of the crop. March contracts sold off to 34.80c on the call, but almost immediately rallied to 35c while there were also rallies in Liverpool and a sharp recovery from an opening decline in New Orleans.

The early rally extended to 35.13 for March, or four points above yesterday's closing. The demand tapered off at this figure and there were reactions under renewed realizing or liquidation, with March selling off to 34.90 around midday, or 18 points net lower. About 25 January notices were reported this morning. This caused some scattering liquidation, and was absorbed during the early trading and January later was relatively quiet and steady.

There was a flurry of selling during the early afternoon on the weekly figures showing a sharp falling-off in spinners' takings. March broke to 34.70c, or 38 points net lower after which there were rallies of 20 to 25 points on covering and reports of a more active spot demand in the south.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Cotton spot quiet; middling, 35.25.

Serving a Nation

"Serving a Nation" describes the achievements of Cities Service Company and its more than 100 subsidiaries which stretch across the Continent from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast and from lower Canada into Mexico, comprising a large and successful public utility system which includes gas, electric light and power, heat, ice, water, and street railway companies, combined with extensive natural gas and oil producing, transporting, storing, refining and marketing properties.

The Public Utility Division of Cities Service Company operates over 60 properties in 20 states, serving a population of 2,750,000 in 600 communities, with 38,500,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas and 6,000,000,000 cubic feet of artificial gas yearly, and furnishing more than 850,000,000 kilowatt-hours of electric energy (light and power) yearly to a population of 1,450,000 in 225 cities and towns. The street railways of the Company carry over 90,000,000 passengers yearly.

The Oil Division of Cities Service Company is active in 21 states, producing 30,000 barrels of crude oil daily; operating over 900 miles of oil pipe lines, 5,500 miles of gas pipe lines, and eight refineries in Pennsylvania, Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas; maintaining more than 800 service, tank and barrel stations, through which over 1,700 cities, towns and villages in the United States are supplied with oil products. This division of Cities Service Company has foreign branches in Canada, Mexico and Europe, and marketing agencies in Australia, South America and the Far East.

An interesting, illustrated booklet entitled "Serving a Nation", describing the diversified activities of the properties of Cities Service Company, has been prepared by Henry L. Doherty & Co.

The National Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers and the Better Business Bureau and the Advertising Club of St. Louis, in all of which the Post-Dispatch holds membership, aim to eliminate fraudulent and misleading advertising. This newspaper will appreciate having its attention called to any advertisement which does not conform to the highest standards of honesty.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls, or answers by mail, cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity, when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

F. K.—There was no precipitation or snow of any kind Christmas day.

M.—Apply to some veterinarian for information regarding a glass eye for the horse.

CADET. — The only way we know of to protect the material would be to have it copyrighted.

A. M. C.—Iodoform deodorizer is as follows: Rub the parts with about a teaspoon of wine vinegar, after a previous thorough washing with soap.

HONESTY.—Consult the Department of Streets and Sewers, City Hall, in order to ascertain the cost of the glass globe which covers the street lamps.

C. E. D.—Write to the Geological Survey, Interior Dept., Washington, D. C., for information concerning the manufacture of fire clay brick and tiles.

C. B. — Washington University has a dental clinic located at Twenty-ninth and Locust streets, and the St. Louis University dental clinic is located at Grand avenue and Caroline street. (2) Consult the music shops here for the information regarding the song in question.

BLUE BIRD.—The affairs of the Blue Bird Manufacturing Co. are in such state that the receivers merely have to wait for realization of certain assets. A report filed with the court gave the assets as $841,989.36, of which $769,000 represents the par value of 7696 shares of preferred stock in the Davis Sewing Machine Co. of Dayton, O., which took over the Blue Bird Co. after it failed in May, 1920.

NUT.—Julius Caesar in B. C. 45 reformed the Roman calendar so that thereafter every fourth year should contain 366 days, and all other years 365 days. The intercalary day was introduced by counting the sixth day before the Kalends of March twice, hence the name bissextile, from bis twice, and sex, six. He also changed the beginning of the year from the first of March to the first of January, and also changed the name of the fifth month (Quintilis) to July after himself. The average length of the Julian year is therefore 365¼ days, which, however, is too long by 11 minutes and 14 seconds, and this would accumulate in 400 years to about three days. The Julian calendar continued in use until A. D. 1582, when the Gregorian calendar was introduced by Pope Gregory III with the view of keeping the Equinox to the same day of the year. Of the centurial years only those which are exactly divisable by 400 thence forward contained 366 days. The length of the mean Gregorian year may therefore be set down at 365 days, 5 hours, 49 minutes, 12 seconds and the error will amount to one day in 3000 years. The Gregorian calendar was introduced into England and her colonies in 1752, at which time the Equinox had retrograded 11 days since the Council of Nice in A. D. 325 when the rule for Easter day was established and the Equinox occurred on March 21; hence Sept. 3, 1752, was called September 14, and at the same time the commencement of the legal year was changed from March 25 to January 1, so that the year 1751 lost the months of January and February and the first 24 days of March. The difference between the Julian and Gregorian calendars is now 13 days. The Julian calendar was dropped by the Eastern Orthodox Christians on Oct. 13, 1923.

LEGAL INFORMATION.

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

READER. — Consult the Legal Aid Bureau in the Municipal Courts Bldg., Fourteenth and Market streets.

ALBERT. — If a party permanently removes from the state he is still compelled by law to pay alimony to a divorced wife.

YOURS TRULY. — We do not know in what states, if any, punch boards and other games of chance may legally be operated.

A 20-YEAR READER.—If you have given him a legal notice to vacate, you can sue him out in a reasonably short time, even though he does take an appeal. Consult a lawyer.

A READER.—He can sue you and recover whatever would be a reasonable charge for repairing the machine. He cannot recover more than a reasonable charge. You might offer him the amount which you think is reasonable, and if he refuses to give you the machine then, file a replevin suit for the machine.

STELLA.—(1) If the mortgage was signed by you when it was made, then the foreclosure was legal as against you. (2) If you can prove that the lawyer was negligent, you can sue him. We suggest that you consult some lawyer in whom you have confidence, and follow his advice.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnoses or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

ROSE.—The condition as stated, as a rule, has no relation to a venereal infection.

ANXIOUS. — The small bump mentioned is perhaps the result of an obstructed duct.

WORRIED—We think the wearing of high shoes or an elastic device continuously worn on the ankles may tend to reduce their size. We know of no exercise that is practical in such reduction.

MR. W.—No one can offer you intelligent advice without an examination. The pain may be in connection with the heart or vessels or it may be from disturbance of digestion.

ANXIETY. — Talking in one's sleep occurs by reason of some impairment of the general health, often a functional disturbance in the stomach or bowel. Correct indigestion and constipation, if present. If the condition persists, a careful examination should be made to ascertain the cause.

MOTHER.—Necessarily no remedy can remove financial and family cares and worries. Some relief of the resulting nervousness may perhaps be obtained by taking (in solution) 15 grain doses of bromide of potassium. A very hot bath just before retiring, remaining for some time in the bath, may assist in obtaining sleep.

ANXIOUS.—Nits are the eggs of the head louse. Be sure first that no lice remain. As it is difficult, if possible, to find them when only a few are present, it is well to treat the hair first to kill any possibly remaining. Soak the hair every night in coal oil, covering with a towel or cap (being careful of fire). Wash thoroughly with soap and water and rinse well. When nearly dry wet the hair with vinegar, which will loosen the attachment of the egg; wash again and dry and comb carefully with a fine-toothed comb. Be sure the other children's heads are not afflicted.

SALESMEN

We need two more men to complete our sales force. If you are selling direct to consumers and not averaging better than $35 per week, investigate our new proposition, experience not as essential as a willingness to work. We provide for inexperience by sending you out with an instructor the first week. We have no competition in our original line. You are placed on our payroll, right from the start. This is not a once over proposition. Repeat business every month. If you are interested, come in and learn further particulars. 411 Pontiac Bldg., between 4 and 6 P. M. (c5)

$50.00 TO START

We want one or two more good specialty salesmen to sell to prominent St. Louisans. New, wonderful idea. Selling fast. Without training you can make $50 to $65 first week. Income will increase rapidly—double by second year. Phone Lindell 3684 for appointment. (c)

WHY work at desk, counter or in a shop, at a meager salary, when others are making big money? You can do the same if you have the backbone to break away from that rut. Call and let me explain our proposition and show you how to make $500 per month or better; 9 to 12 only. Olive Street Terrace Realty Co., 1608 Boatmen's Bank Bldg. Ask for Mr. Philbrook; confidential. (c5)

Ever have the "wishes"

'Course you have, everybody's had 'em since Adam's time.

Some wishes fade quickly, others leave rosy dreams to memory, while others according to their possibilities become resolutions upon which we act.

How often have you wished for an automobile! A good one like some acquaintance drives, but the same thought brought vision of a thousand dollars or more. Then enters the little gloom!

Yahlem makes it possible for anyone to own a car. Yahlem has unlimited bank credit available to very few. Yahlem's banker believes in him because Yahlem has demonstrated that 99% of the people are honest and will pay a just debt.

You can buy a car from Yahlem for $50.00 to $75.00 down, balance $5.00 to $6.00 weekly, not one cent interest and you save $50.00 to $100.00 on this item alone. You can have your wish, we've made it possible.

You should act quickly. Free storage till Spring. Pay $10.00 down and a little every week until you are ready to take your car out.

Yahlem has over 3200 satisfied customers. Ask any Yahlem customer.

SLAIN IN GUARDING FIANCEE

By the Associated Press.

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 4.—William Jacobson, 28 years old, was shot and killed by a robber here early today when he tried to protect his fiancee, Miss Ethel Todd, 18, from the man's advances, after the latter had held them up and robbed them. They were sitting in an automobile, planning their wedding next week when the robber appeared, the girl told police.

MARKET STREET AT ELEVENTH

While Merchants Were Crying We Were Buying!

Important! Read Our Story

Clothing merchants everywhere were crying—"Backward Season"—"No Business." Woolens mills in turn received cancellations! Our business, on the other hand, was the biggest in our history. Our values brought us volume—we had plenty of cash on hand—it was our cue to buy— and we did buy—thousands and thousands of yards of high-grade woolens at radical reductions. It was a master stroke on the part of our woolen buyers.

We made these high-grade woolens into the est Suits and Overcoats—garments that would ordinary conditions sell for $40 to $50. It's the bi thing of its kind that ever happened. Each and e
"odds and ends." Bond's method precludes any p bility of anything but the newest. At Bond's low
it's an opportunity for saving which any sensible cannot afford to overlook.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS

Helen, with her husband, Cyril (Lord Horsham), has just arrived at the Horsham country home, one of England's famous country houses. Cyril is passionately in love with his wife, but she is unaware of it. When he married her he wanted her to throw herself into his arms, and instead she had walked up his marble staircase. Cyril was over 40 when he married Helen. He found her living with her father, who was a gambler, in a pension in Italy.

Helen has called on her new neighbors, the Baldwins, for the first time. She has presided at a charity bazar given on their estate. John Baldwin had acquired an immense fortune during the war. They have a young son still in school. Their nephew, Toby Ross, lives in a small house on the Baldwin estate. He rides over to the Horshams, meets Cyril and stays for tea.

A few days later Cyril's mother comes to Helen's court for a visit. Helen, at Cyril's suggestion, invites Toby Ross to dinner to meet her. Helen finds herself intensely interested in Toby. She goes to his cottage, where she has dinner alone with him. Christopher Tyldesley, a lifelong friend of Cyril's comes to visit. He is in love with Helen.

INSTALLMENT XII.

CHRISTOPHER DISCOVERS HELEN'S SECRET.

"BUT I don't like people who know their place. Servants who never comment, duchesses who hardly sniff, women who mind where they go in to dinner. And I hate the intellectually pretentious who, talking about furniture, call panels 'panneaux' and refer to 'that little bit in F sharp' because they don't know how to hum."

Cyril smiled. "You know Helen's immortal category? 'Femmes intelligentes pour hommes betes'."

"Well." Helen explained, "we have the most perfect instance coming this afternoon—Mrs. Blaine. She rides quite well and reads lots of reviews and remembers what some people say. So her sporting friends think her a blue stocking and her intellectual friends admire her physical prowess, and—as if that weren't enough—she is also a perfect lady. Such a perfect lady! She never raises her voice, she never fidgets, she never contradicts, she never gets untidy. She is always decorative, really decorative—lovely lines of neck and shoulder and arm and instep. And she invariably sits by a lamp. That, to me, is her great redeeming point. Asking her to one's house is like ordering flowers. I am told she has a heart of gold, but how am I ever to find out?"

"You might try getting ill or running away."

"Yes," she agreed, "but there is something too unsatisfactory about life as a laboratory. There are so many experiments one can't make."

"That is chemically true, too. Even science has its explosions."

"I used to want to know." Helen was talking as if they weren't there. "I trained my mind to be dispassionate and inquiring. Now that this is the last thing in the world I want, my brain goes on behaving as I taught it to do."

They were surprised at a sort of desperateness in her voice.

"Never mind, Helen." Cyril's tone was light. "I promise that with you two and two will never make four."

Helen felt a little frightened, as if Cyril had pursued her distant thoughts along the lonely road down which they were fleeing and violating the isolation which was to be her sanctuary, he had suddenly caught up with her and broken into the cold peace she thought that she had found.

"Do show me the garden before the others come," Christopher begged. "By the way, who are the others?"

"O, the Austrian ambassador and Lord William Cathcart, and delightful Selina and Mathew and Virginia, and beloved Lydia Hathaway and Cyril's old aunt, Lady Raeburn, and various other people. I don't want to think about them. It will be bad enough when they come."

"Then, let us go out."

The heat seemed to be rolling up with the hours. There was a burning stillness everywhere. Not a bird sang. Not a flower nodded.

Helen and Christopher left the garden where the blazing colors turned the day into a furnace.

"Sunflowers and red hot pokers and gladioli—it is too much," he had said, and they retreated to the beech wood, lying on the golden moss, looking up at the sky through patterns of leaves. And Helen wished that Christopher were not there. Wished it because his understanding was an edge on her unrest, wished it because with his intuition, her every word, her every silence became a betrayal.

"He loves me," she thought, and with a stab she realized that this long known and long accepted fact had never been real to her until she had met Toby. "I won't think of Cyril," she thought, panic stricken at the vista her admission opened, and by this very banging of the door admitted her husband to a new place in her consciousness.

"Sympathy is always an indiscretion, isn't it?"

She jumped. Was Christopher thought reading or did the significance of his words come from her own fears?

"In what way?" she was giving herself time.

"Well," he mused, "perhaps I should have said understanding. It is a sort of skeleton key, and one goes about like a thief, unlocking drawers and stealing secret thoughts and hopes and fears. The worst of it is that one doesn't even mean to. It is involuntary."

"Yes," she said in a low voice.

"Helen," his whimsical smiling eyes sought to reassure her, "you who never lock doors—if some day by accident I should find a little cabinet hidden somewhere, and inevitably, against my will, I should open the drawers, would you forgive me?"

She was looking down.

"Look at me Helen."

She raised her eyes.

"Yes," she said, "I will forgive you. I will even be glad—only you must promise never to be sorry for me. You may blame me, but you must never pity me. You may curse me, but you must not exonerate me. For that, you see, would be to tinker with something that was mine. Then, later perhaps you shall ask me, 'Was it worth it?'—and I will tell you the truth."

He lifted her hand to his lips.

"Thank you, Helen," he said.

Suddenly she felt lighthearted and unself-conscious again. "Thank you," she said, and then, "The explicit is much more restful than the implicit; don't you think?"

But as he lifted her from the ground, his heart ached unselfishly at the brightness in her eyes.

"What a noise they all make," Helen thought, looking round the dining room table, and she noticed now for the first time the penetrating carrying quality of whispers, whereas shrill, strident attempts to be heard get lost in the general clamor.

"Is it really exciting?" she wondered as she examined the cumulative effects of flowers and jewels and wine and noise, watched the perfunctory turn into the provocative, civil banalities take on an edge of challenge, while here and there a little pause filled by some glance or smile would give to a budding attraction a deepening touch of intimacy.

Next to her was the Austrian Ambassador, gray, faded, distinguished, monotonous, with a breeding so perfect that the very fact of life seemed dimmed by contact with it, his presence acting as a soft lamp shade to the garish light of reality. His long and brilliant career had been due, rumor asserted, to a half shut eye which had kept the foreign offices of the world—including his own—guessing. Was it an inspiration or a limitation? Many admired it as a delicate alibi for a super-penetrating vision. Every one loves a mystery—Count Schroding's lid became legendary, a very symbol of slight.

He was talking gently to Helen, praising England, with the frankness of a lover sheathed in the courtesy of a guest. The food, he admitted, was atrocious, but then the police——

Helen's attention wandered. It came back at the name of Bismarck. Count Schroding had met him in 1877—in November—no, in December. The great man had talked very little, very little indeed, though he had, he remembered, expressed a liking for retrievers. Perhaps, however, it had not been on that occasion but later.

When Helen refixed her thoughts on her neighbor, Bismarck had still not spoken and the Ambassador was turning to the other great men of his day, all of whom he had known, and telling her at length some of the things that he had said to them. World figures are apt to be silent in the accounts of their intimates. Which of us, in describing our conversations, does not lay stress on our own (sometimes posthumous) remarks?

Helen turned to her other neighbor, Lord William Cathcart, in whose wit she had often delighted. She remembered he had once said, "I gave up sentimental adventures when I found I was becoming sentimental." Why, she wondered, had it stuck in her mind; he had said thousands of better things than that. At the time it had seemed rather funny, but now remembering it, she thought it very serious. Every one seemed to manage their lives so well, treating love as if it were a train to catch or a meal to eat. She felt a new interest in Lord William. He appeared to her suddenly as a symbol of self-control rather than of excess.

"Selina is looking lovely," she said smiling, though it was not what she wanted to talk about.

"Selina is very intelligent," her father explained with guarded pride. "I wonder, Lady Helen, if she has been well or badly brought up."

"She has had no mother." It slipped out inadvertently, as unconsciously Helen thought of Lady Horsham and Cyril.

"No," Lord William agreed, "otherwise I should not have been allowed to bring her up so aware and cool and untouched. She is inquiring, you see, not inquisitive. I answer her questions so there is no suppurating curiosity. There have been no prurient inhibitions to spoil her innocence by showing it to her."

"It is wonderful," Helen looked at him a little wistfully, "to see her so pure and fresh and yet so sophisticated, with all her penetration and her wit like polished steel. What will happen when she falls in love?"

"I wonder. That is what I wonder. It is, of course, a disintegrating process."

"Yes."

Suddenly Helen knew that she was talking about herself. "But that doesn't matter. One has to break up every now and again. It is the reforming that is important."

"But does every one reshape? Come together again, so to speak? Are there no hurried messes of broken bits by the roadside?"

The old man looked at her. Loving Cyril, he had regarded his marriage with the gravest apprehension; meeting Helen he had fallen a victim to her charms, allowing his personal delight to lull his doubts to rest. He knew, of course, that her husband had never broken her up, how he had waked on tiptoe for fear of disturbing that radiant, untroubled youth—but how could she go on sleeping, vibrant with life as she was, with those shining eyes lighting passions all around her? Surely Cyril, tortured and disciplined by his love, was preparing a worse tragedy for himself than if he had given way to that primitive passion which with prayers and fastings he had trodden under foot? And wasn't she even now asking him the price you paid for love, not in fear of the consequences but in a proud, flaming welcome of its utmost penalty?

MME

IN THE MOSLEM OUTFIT WHICH SHE WILL NEVER WEAR AGAIN

HOW I would like to express my gratitude for the gentle kindness shown me by every official with whom I came in contact!

Some were, or had to appear, more strict in carrying out their duties than others, but I found the discipline was not unkind—and I always felt that sense of fair play which is so characteristic of the Briton (this also applies to the Breton, and which gave me courage and confidence.

One little story I must tell you—how in the early hours of July 10, after that awful night of terror and horror, the policemen and Sergeant at the police station shared their food with me, which deprived them, I fear, of enough for themselves. That reminded me of the thousand and one stories I had heard of the British Tommy sharing it with the poilu.

You must think of the situation in which I was put on that terrible evening of storm. They came to help me get out of my evening dress and to get into the traveling clothes which I had already arranged to use on my journey to Paris.

Not Taken to a Cell.

Close on 3 o'clock came the police, and after that of course the journey in a taxi with my doctor, Dr. Gordon, and the detectives to Bow street. While we went the storm was still going on and there were violent thunderclaps and flashes of lightning.

When I got to Bow street I found two elderly women—wardresses, I suppose—on night duty. I could scarcely stand, and they looked at me with a certain wonder when I came near them, took me by the arm, and made me sit upon a chair, both sitting by me to try to cheer me as far as they could.

This was a long, open place in Bow Street Police Station, and I was there from the time when I was taken from the hotel, which was during the storm, as I have said, between 2 and 3 in the morning, until late the next afternoon. Anybody passing could see me, and as I was not taken away to any cell or private place.

The hours, as you will understand, passed slowly. At about 9 o'clock in the morning after my arrest a man came and talked to me and asked me in French if I wanted anything and if he could help me. I tried to answer him, but my emotion was still too violent, and after a few minutes he left without possibly having heard more than the sound of my voice.

At about 8 o'clock the charwomen began to arrive. I had, therefore, to change my seat, and naturally took occasion to ask certain questions of the wardress who was looking after me.

Hours of Weariness.

It was hot enough in these days in London, but I was shivering and my teeth were chattering. After a few minutes the wardress who was looking after me brought me some hot tea, and I felt a little better.

Plain clothes men, as you call them, arrived one after the other, coming according to their orders for the day. They passed in numbers, and as I could hardly open my eyes and as there were so many people going backward and forward in this large room I hardly noticed them.

At last the chief detective came and saw at once how I was suffering and what my distress was to be seated there in front of everybody as they passed. He sent me up to the first floor, but before he did so he asked me certain questions—my name, my age, where I intended to go, and so on.

Then two women took me, each by an arm, and I went up the staircase, my heart beating as if it was going to burst. I was taken into a little room. By this time it was about midday, and one of the women police shared her office with me while I stretched myself out on two chairs for an hour's rest.

Taking My Finger Prints.

Then there came a man with a piece of paper and a little box of what looked like black paste. He took my hand. I did not quite know what he was doing. And then he put some black paste over each of my fingers and placed them on the paper. I understood. A formality, no doubt, but horrible, don't you think?

I should have fallen down if the wardress had not held me.

The Scotland Yard man who had taken my finger prints seemed astonished at the smallness of my hand and the fragility of my fingers. He went on to make a close examination of my features, turned me toward the light, and then said that my eyes were greenish-gray, and that my eyelashes were black, that my hair was blond, that I had two beauty spots, one on the right cheek and the other on the left, and he asked me if I had any special mark on my body, to which I replied that I had not. And then he gently washed my fingers.

You can better imagine my distress during all this day than I can describe it. Here was I, a woman who the night before had believed herself, and been believed by all the world, to be a rich Princess. Ah, my grief and my despair! Even the washing of my fingers gave me some relief.

Before the Magistrate.

They asked me whom I should like to defend me. I knew nobody in London, and I said, "Whom you like." They asked me if I had money to pay for my defense, and I said, "I shall pay whatever you want. It is all the same to me."

Then they let me lie down, and I stayed for two hours quietly with no one near me but a young policeman, and then I saw arriving Mr. Freke Palmer, with his faithful managing clerk, Mr. Collins. We did not talk much, but Mr. Palmer told me to cheer up and that he would come the next day to see me at the prison.

About 3 o'clock, and remember that I had been there more than 12 hours in Bow Street Police Station—they came to take me before the Magistrate. I waited there for an hour or more without understanding a word that was said by the witnesses, who were explaining what had happened at 2 o'clock the morning before when the thunderstorm was raging over the Savoy Hotel. I have no reason to be dissatisfied with English justice, but, really, you know, the interpreter at Bow street knows more English than French.

And then came my second emotion. To be arrested—that was one thing. To go to prison was another. I was taken in a car to Holloway by a detective and one of the women police.

I Reach Hollaway Goal.

I can still see outside in Bow street the insistent photographers and the crowd standing silently gazing at the car. I had never been through the part of London that you pass to go to Hollaway. And then we arrived and I saw this somber and royal prison, which appeared at the first glance to be like an old castle with its imposing frontage and its dark and heavy doors.

The car took me right in the prison to the hospital. And then the formalities began. They undressed me. They examined my neck, which still bore traces of the murderous assault made upon me.

The doctor spoke to me, they weighed me, and then, dressed again and supported by two nurses, I was taken across a pleasant garden to the hospital ward.

In all this I was received with every kind of sympathy, and I knew that these people knew my distress and my despair. Above all, they were human, and I shall always remember them for that.

I went along a corridor with little rooms on each side closed by heavy iron gates, and then into a dormitory, large, light and airy. In less than three minutes I was in bed, drank some medicine, and then forgetfulness came until 8 next morning.

Prison Companions.

Timidly I realized my surroundings, and, looking up, I saw a nurse sitting at the end of my bed. She looked young and pretty under her white cap. She came beside me and said: "Better this morning, Fahmy?" And then she took my hand, for I was a little upset, for I saw five other people in the room looking curiously toward me.

I stayed in the hospital all the time I was in prison. The other women there were mostly there either for drunkenness or for having tried to commit suicide, which seemed strange to me, because, you know, that is not, I think, a crime in France.

In the next bed to me was a girl of 18 who had killed her child. She knew a few words of French, and did what she could to help me. The sorrow and the suffering of all the poor people who surrounded me—of all these victims of the wreckage of their lives—plunged me into an atmosphere that I will never forget.

And then there were the visits of my solicitor and the careful attentions, the best possible, of the doctor. I found myself surrounded by a flood of sympathy and pity which helped my poor brain to get its balance again. I began to understand that there were still good people in the world. . . .

But, indeed, I had suffered so much during the 48 hours before that I sometimes could not believe that I was alive. I kept thinking unceasingly, "What a nightmare! I must wake up. I must. I must." . . .

And then the reality.

White Heather for Luck.

August seemed interminable. There were two horrible days at Bow street when I went practically unconscious. But the care of the doctors told, and as I got better in health I had only one thing in my mind—the opening of the High Court.

In the hospital at Hallaway they grow white heather in little pots.

Children's Bedtime Story

By Thornton W. Burgess

THE new home under a stump on the edge of the garden really did seem like a very safe place, and Nanny Meadow Mouse began to feel better right away. Nanny is a great home lover and was anxious to get this new home completed at once. So presently they started out to look for something to make their bed of. There was plenty of good material. They found all the dry grass they wanted. It wasn't so soft as the grass they had been used to, but it did very well. Then Danny discovered some white, soft stuff in a field which joined that garden. It was cotton, though of course Danny didn't know this.

But he did know that this would make the loveliest kind of bed, and he carried as much of it back to the new home as he could. Nanny was just as tickled with it as Danny had been and she went with him to get more. It was quite a journey for two such small folks, but they felt that it was worth it. So at last the new home was completed and Danny and Nanny felt quite settled.

With the new home finished, there was no work to be done and nothing in particular to do but to hunt for food and to get acquainted with their new surroundings. As is their way, they cut little private paths for themselves in many directions, and soon they felt quite as much at home as if they had always lived in the Sunny South.

"He must be a cousin of ours," whispered Danny excitedly

For a while they thought they had no neighbors. Then one moonlight night they ventured over to the field where they had found the cotton. That field was all group up to weeds. Presently Danny discovered a little path through these weeds. It was very like the little paths that he and Nanny cut in the grass, only it was somewhat bigger.

"Somebody lives around here," whispered Danny to Nanny. "Who do you suppose it can be?"

"Don't ask me," replied Nanny. "I think we'd better get away from here. Whoever made this path may not like to have us using it."

But Danny wouldn't listen. His curiosity was too much for him. He insisted on going on. Nanny was afraid to be left behind, so she followed.

Pretty soon the path branched. Danny stopped. He was trying to decide whether to keep on or to try this branch. Before he could make up his mind they heard approaching footsteps. Danny and Nanny crawled into the grass at the side of the little path and waited. Presently down the little branch path came running a stranger. At the point where the two paths joined he stopped for a moment, so they had a good look at him.

He was a little bit bigger than Danny and his coat was coarse and brownish. His head was not quite so blunt as Danny's, but he had the same kind of thick body, and his legs were short, just as were those of Danny and Nanny. In fact, he looked very much like a big Meadow Mouse.

"He must be a cousin of ours," whispered Danny excitedly as the stranger disappeared. "Yes, sir, he must be a member of the Meadow Mouse family. Let's follow him and get acquainted."

Eyes Front for a New Vision

By Wm. A. McKeever

NOW that the holiday season is over, it is a good time for you to glance back briefly and look ahead. There is no special virtue in New Year's resolutions except that some worthy ideal may be put into action with a 12-months pull ahead of it.

First of all, check up on your errors of 1923 and decide precisely where you will make improvement for the year just starting. Do not permit yourself to regret deeply any past mistakes. Merely view them in the light of poor lessons to be corrected, and then turn to your forward vision. Some of the imagined blunders of last year may turn out to be blessings in disguise, so do not decry them over much.

Look forward with hope and determination. Sketch clearly in your mind a plan for definite and detailed action. How about the care of your body and your health? These are parts of your working capital.

It is not a difficult matter for you to arrange an ideal plan of exercise, diet, rest and sleep. Of course, you will not carry out perfectly any of your ideals. That is not exactly their purpose. But the very fact that you have an ideal of physical care for yourself means that this vision will exert a subtle influence on your conduct and constantly pull you toward that high standard.

Look forward with hope and courage as to your work, whether manual or mental. Fix your mind as clearly as you can on a vision of definite performance. See yourself as in the act of studying hard, as working faithfully, as dealing honestly, as behaving manfully. Do not be satisfied with a cheap and flimsy purpose.

It is easy to think nobly as it is to think meanly. You are more than an animal. You are mental, spiritual, a living soul. A clear, definite vision of where you ought to go and of what you ought to do will pull you in that direction almost as if a powerful magnet were drawing you.

Look forward with hope and cheer to some peculiar accomplishment for the coming year—some one little thing which you are most fond of doing. This act of making yourself different from the throng, this finding of the point of emotional interest in some peculiar act or purpose—it is precisely this sort of accomplishment which will give you secret pleasure and make you aspire for still higher attainments.

No two youths are alike. No two opportunities are the same. No two secret purposes are necessarily identical. No one can get in your way but you. No one can hold you back but yourself.

No one can think your thoughts for you or formulate that vision for you. It is up to you to take up the planning and the management of your own life. Outline a definite step in improvement for each formerly wasted opportunity or talent. Get up, look clearly forward and go. Make this the banner year of your life. You can. You will. Start now.

After all, I was seven hours in witness-box, and I never once nd it necessary to search my nd for an answer, for, as I have ld, I had nothing but the truth, d the replies came to my lips im- diately.

Mr. Clarke suddenly ended his s-examination. I heard the mpathetic voice of Sir Edward rshall-Hall, but I could not un- rstand. Only always I saw be- e me the fingers of the ward- clenching and unclenching. knew that she was going ough emotions perhaps even re intense than mine, because knew what was being said.

Long, oh, so long, was the ech of Mr. Percival Clarke on fifth day. It seemed to me in- inable. I did not understand, my instinct told me that he grimly pressing the facts mar- lled by the prosecution.

How I suffered during these rs! I thought of all those who ed me and of their anguish.

My mind turned to my little ghter, who was waiting for the lt of this ordeal to her unhap- mother. Poor child, I had felt ged to refuse her the consola- of coming to kiss me. Had come near me in tears I should e lost all my strength before grief.

was exhausted. I was in de- r. I felt, indeed, that it was much to suffer; but once n, as I left Old Bailey in a tax- there was a sympathetic d who called after me, "Good , Fahmy."

That night they gave me the kind of restorative which makes you forget. . . . .

In the morning hope returned. After all, I thought to myself, I have never had any evil wish toward my husband. I have loved him with all my heart. Did I not go to him with such gentleness and tenderness and set so much hope of happiness in him that I thought always some day would come when he would be better?

Alas, on the day which now dawned I was more to be pitied than he! The 15th of September! I awoke early and lay tossing restlessly from 2 till 6 in the morning. Everybody came into my room before I left at 9 and bade me be brave, and they gave me one of those sprigs of white heather that I told you of, which brings luck to those who wear it.

When we arrived at the Old Bailey I was taken at once to a little reserved apartment, and when the hands of the clock, as it seemed instantaneously, reached 10:30, for the last time I went up the steps of the little staircase which I would descend either with hope in my soul or bruised and broken.

I fixed my eyes on the Judge. He spoke long and gently, and from the dates, the names of the country and the people I was trying to gather what he was saying.

"No, no," my heart cried out, "these men and women on the jury, these people who have heard my distress, whose feelings seem to have gone out in sympathy toward me, they must have known that they were in the presence of the truth."

For more than an hour they deliberated on their verdict. Then the signal was given. I returned to my seat in the dock, and stood up, such a mass of emotions that I seemed incapable of using any of my senses.

Then le voix:

"Marie Marguerite Fahmy, guilty or not guilty?"

I did not hear the reply. The outburst of applause by those in court made me understand. I was free.

There followed the tumult, the removal of the public from the court. I remained motionless, scarcely breathing. This was the end.

When I returned to the hotel my friends flung themselves upon me. Happy, but overcome, I sank into a chair and allowed myself to be soothed and nursed by their mingled tenderness and joy.

I am asked: "What of the future?"

I have observed, during my great ordeal, that when one invokes courage it comes to one's aid, and that in avowing one's self disarmed one is all the more defenseless.

Perhaps I will seek some assuagement in devoting myself to music.

But today I can only say with that distracted woman whose grief was portrayed by Beldam, "Mon coeur souffre tant que j'espere qu'il severa." (My heart is so full of sorrow that I hope it will break.)

The End.

HEROINES OF HISTORY

Significant Incidents in the Lives of Famous Women

By MARK STUYVESANT

ONE of the most remarkable women to be registered among the heroines of history is known among us chiefly through her effort toward establishing in the Occident the philosophy of the Orient—theosophy.

But Helen P. Blavatsky, accomplished many things, both for herself and for humanity, during her 71 years on earth.

One of the most astonishing was her mastery of 40 languages and dialects, all of which she wrote, read and spoke.

Madame Blavatsky, as the world of today calls her, was born in Russia, the daughter of a Colonel and granddaughter of a General in the Russian army, and descendant of the Muscovite nobility.

When she was about 30 years old Madame Blavatsky left her native land for India and there she took up her abode and made her home for more than 40 years. Her naturally spiritual nature turned to the religions of the "cradle of mysticism" and she became wholly interested in Buddhism.

After a long course of investigation during which Madame Blavatsky traveled from one end of India to the other and interviewed hundreds of the high priests of the faith, she adopted Buddhism as her own religion. Such was her interest in the ancient teachings that she climbed from rank to rank and eventually achieved the honor of becoming known as an "adept."

In 1877 she published her remarkable work, "Isis Unveiled." The volume contains a complete history of ancient and modern mysticism.

The next year the remarkable theologian came to America and founded in the United States the Theosophical Society of America.

The object of the society was to form a universal brotherhood of humanity, to study Aryan literature, religion and science and to explain the hidden mysteries of nature and the latent power of man.

The truest view of life has always seemed to be that which shows that we are here not alone to enjoy, but also to learn.

Famous Women.

MRS. RADCLIFFE.

MRS. ANNE RADCLIFFE, who was among the first of the feminine novelists of England to attain great popular recognition and liberal financial recompense by her labors, published her first romance, "The Castles of Athlin and Dunbayne," 136 years ago. This was followed in 1790 by "The Sicilian Romance." Her third book, "The Romance o. the Forest," placed her on a pinnacle of success, and when she wrote her "mysteries of Udolpho" she was able to command the then amazing sum of $2500. So greatly did this increase her popularity that she was offered $4000 for her next work, "The Italian." Our ancestors used to sit up all night reading by candlelight the thrilling tales of Mrs. Radcliffe, but she has few readers now.

For the first time in the history of the organization, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, at its convention in Washington, elected a Boston woman one of their general officers, Mrs. R. H. Chesley being chosen as corresponding secretary general.

Miss Julie R. Jennq, Deputy Attorney-General of New York State, recently won a suit claim of $55,000 against the Empire State.

A PUZZLE BEYOND SOLVING.

A GENTLEMAN who had been imbibing heavily of the forbidden stuff bumped into another gentleman who also, it was plain, had had recent dealings with a bootlegger. Each felt congenially inclined toward the other. They fell into a somewhat hiccoughy conversation.

"Seems like, to me, I've seen you somewhere before," said number one, between puffs, as he vainly endeavored to light the sodden stump of a cigar with a dead match.

"I wouldn't be surprised," said number two, lurching slightly.

"Didn't I see you one time in Chicago?"

"Not me. I never was in Chicago."

"Neither was I. Well, then, the question is, who the hell was them two guys that met out in Chicago?"

COOLIDGE AGAINST MATERIAL CHANGE IN PRINCIPLES OF MELLON TAX PLAN

President Lets It Be Known That He Is Standing Squarely Behind Measure Proposed by Secretary and Is Confident That It Represents Will of the People.

BONUS SENTIMENT APPARENTLY WANING

Efforts to Get Affirmative Action on Revenue Program Prior to Showdown on Soldiers' Bill Making Some Progress.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20-22 Wyatt Bldg.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The controversy over the Mellon tax reduction is waxing warm at the capital. These significant steps were taken yesterday.

President Coolidge let it be known that he was opposed to any material change in the principles underlying the pending measure, and that he is standing squarely behind Secretary Mellon.

The President's attitude was made known at the White House but it was said he did not plan to bring pressure in support of his views upon individual representatives, and was confident that Congress, in acting on the bill, would translate into law the will of the people.

Efforts for Action in Advance.

Efforts to get some affirmative action on the whole revenue law revision program prior to a showdown on the bonus appears to have made some progress in conferences between Steering Committee leaders and Republican members of the House who have been demanding a party conference to instruct the Ways and Means Committee on the question. Several of the Representatives who have been circulating petitions for the conference are said to be willing to withhold them for a time to give the committee a "reasonable" opportunity to report a bonus bill.

Representative Longworth, majority leader in the House, announced that he is opposed to the proposed conference of Republican members scheduled for Jan. 10, to instruct the Ways and Means Committee to bring out the bonus bill. Members of the bonus group then indicated they would not press for the meeting. This is considered a setback for the advocates of this legislation and an intimation that its friends are weakening.

Democrats Want Inquiry.

Democratic Congressmen, led by Senators Overman and Simmons and others from the South, will demand an investigation of the so-called conspiracy to influence action on the tax bill by a nation-wide propaganda campaign. It was asserted that big business cooperating with Secretary Mellon is aiding the drive on members of the House and Senate.

Democratic leaders of the House are preparing to launch a fight against a number of the important provisions of the Mellon tax bill, among them the proposal to reduce surtax rates to a maximum of 25 per cent on net incomes exceeding $100,000.

A. W. Gregg, tax expert of the Treasury, made public a 15,000-word explanation of the bill now before the Ways and Means Committee. The Ways and Means Committee considered provisions to prevent rich men from evading the income tax levies by taking out large insurance policies and setting aside money to pay the premiums.

It is evident from outcroppings at the White House that President Coolidge is going to make a great effort to put through the proposed tax reduction recommendations. It was explained that although Mr. Coolidge realizes that some amendments to the bill under consideration may be necessary, he will frown upon any plan to tinker with the rates suggested in the Mellon schedules. Once the tinkering is started, he fears, the result will be to compromise the bill to death.

The President is giving enthusiastic support to the 25 per cent surtax provision of the revenue bill.
